Chinese Retreat to North; Mac Arthur Is 'Headache'

School 6 Crowding Claimed by Parents

Education Board President Has Belief Washington School Will Relieve Condition; Proposes Another

The crowded condition in certain class rooms in School No. 6 was brought to the attention of the board of education Thursday evening by a delegation of parents headed by Mrs. H. Harrison, president of the No. 6 parents group. Particular stress was made on the large classes in the second and third grades where over 70 pupils are under the direction of two teachers. Accompanying Mrs. Harrison were Mrs. Sherwood Davis and Mrs. Hoenig.

It was pointed out that the classes at No. 6 were the largest in any city school, and the board was asked to give the matter consideration. Mrs. Harrison said the board undoubtedly was aware of the problem and had given it consideration but the parents of the school desired to have it known to the board that they were interested in the problem and had consequently appeared before the board.

Relief Is Ahead

President Herzog explained the problem of breaking down classes and securing additional teachers and made several suggestions for relief of the condition which he said the board was fully aware. Completion of the Washington school on Wall street may bring some relief since some students from the border areas could be sent to the new school. The complete solution of the crowded condition at No. 6, Mr. Herzog said, was erection of a new school on the Loughran Park property which the board acquired some time ago. The rapid growth of the Second Ward area, Mr. Herzog said, presented difficult problems for the school officials and the situation was being studied and would be relieved as quickly as possible.

Cafeteria Discussed

The condition of the cafeteria at No. 6 was also discussed by the delegation. It has been suggested that the cafeteria be moved from the basement to the first floor where at present there are two rooms available. The representatives of the parents present at the meeting however, expressed an opinion that the rooms should be used to relieve congestion rather than move the cafeteria.

A communication from the parents' group of No. 5 school was read in which it was asked that the cafeteria of that school be moved to the first floor from the basement. This matter was referred to the building committee.

The board adopted a resolution calling for payment of the $100 cost of living bonus recently authorized by the State Legislature to all members of the teaching and non-teaching staff who hold regular positions under the jurisdiction of the board on April 1, 1951. The bonus will be paid in April.

Salary Resolution Adopted

A resolution was also adopted approving a revised teachers' salary schedule as provided by the recent act of the Legislature and setting forth minimum and maximum salaries, steps on the schedule, and yearly increments. The schedule approved exceeds the minimums and maximums as set forth in the revised state schedule in the amount of $300. The resolution also provides that the schedule for special teachers, supervisors and principals maintain the same differential as existed in the 1947 schedule, and, that all non-teaching employes also receive the $300 increase.

The State Commission of Pensions granted an extension to Catherine M. Brown, cook, until June 30, 1951. This is a final extension.

Permission was granted the Mendelssohn Club to use the high school auditorium for a concert. The Footlighters were granted use of the auditorium for June 26, 27 and 28. The Coach House Players

Metropolitan Has Purchased Plant

Life Insurance Company Buys Pilgrim; Deed Is Recorded

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on Wednesday took title to the property on South Prospect street which is now occupied by the Pilgrim Furniture Company. That deed has been recorded in the office of the county clerk.

A deed from the South Prospect Street Realty Corporation, owners of the property, transferring the property to Julius Tarr, Morris Chorost, Benjamin Miller and Barney R. King, had previously been recorded. Title of the property to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was granted by Morris Chorost and others.

A report, which has not been confirmed, is to the effect that the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company plans to use the property for records of the corporation and that when the premises are taken over there may be upwards of 300 employed.

Efforts to ascertain the plans of the Pilgrim Furniture Company were unsuccessful.

The Pilgrim Furniture Company plant which occupies the site of the former Barmann Park has occupied the building since it was completed. At the time of the construction of the building it was designed and erected for the manufacture of furniture and contains a very large floor space.

House Votes Cut In Truman Fund

Forty-Three Per Cent Slash Approves $382,267,368 of Request

Washington, April 6 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee voted a 43 per cent cut today in a $843,463,569 emergency fund asked by President Truman.

It approved only $382,267,368 of the total sought by Mr. Truman to finance a number of emergency government activities for the remaining months of this fiscal year which ends June 30.

One of the larger cuts was in the Voice of America overseas broadcast program. Despite a plea yesterday by the President for the full amount, the committee recommended that only $9,533,939 of the $97,500,000 be granted.

Another cut was in the $545,000,000 budget of non-military defense agencies. The committee voted to hold the agencies to $224,750,000.

The committee's recommendations were embodied in a supplemental appropriation bill sent to the House floor for debate next week.

The House, the Senate Appropriations Committee and the Senate itself have yet to pass on the amounts.

Army Buys Meat From Iron Curtain And Pays Dollars

Beef Has Been Purchased From Hungary, to Get Polish Pork as Assistance

Frankfurt, Germany, April 6 (AP) — The American army has been buying meat from behind the Iron Curtain and paying dollars for it, German wholesalers disclosed today.

They said they have imported beef from Hungary for U. S. occupation personnel in Germany and have been promised help by American officials in obtaining pigs from Poland.

A shipment of 30,000 pounds of prime Hungarian beef was delivered by one German slaughterhouse to U. S. Army commissaries last month.

The Hungarian cattle arrived in west Germany by freight train and were inspected by army veterinarians before they were butchered.

The German wholesalers received an average price of 40 cents a pound from the army for the beef and paid Hungary in dollars.

There is no embargo on nonstrategic trade with Russian-dominated eastern Europe. The U. S. State Department, however, tries to discourage the flow of dollars to Iron Curtain countries, which use them to obtain scarce war materials on the world market.

'Test' Is Begun

In a recent announcement that it was launching a "test program" for buying meat in Europe, the army quartermaster headquarters at Heidelberg admitted that it "does not specify any sources of supply to (German) contractors. (It) is only interested in the quality of the meat, slaughterhouse conditions and compliance with delivery specifications."

The quartermaster plan calls for eventual purchase of 75 per cent of commissary meat requirements from European producers.

Asked to comment on the shipment of livestock from Hungary, American officers at Heidelberg said:

Labor Has Place in U.S.Defense

Union Chiefs Agree on Bid by Truman to Take Seats on 17-Man Advisory Board

Will Meet Monday

Hope Arrangement Will Solve Boycott of Mobilization Plan

Washington, April 6 (AP)—President Truman has wooed organized labor back into the defense planning fold with membership on a 17-man advisory mobilization board.

Union leaders agreed to the proposal late yesterday after a lengthy White House conference with Mr. Truman.

The President was reported "very happy" they'd decided to take a hand. The labor chiefs said they hoped the move would lead to a complete solution of the problems which started their boycott of the mobilization program five weeks ago.

Teh board will hold its first meeting Monday. Mr. Truman is expected to sit in on it.

The board, made up of four representatives each from labor, industry, agriculture and the public, and headed by Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, will help Mr. Truman determine defense policy.

AFL President William Green, CIO President Philip Murray, AFL Secretary-treasurer George Meany, and Walter P. Reuther, head of the CIO United Auto Workers probably will represent labor.

Other Selections

Presidential Press Secretary Joseph H. Short told reporters the other selections for the board had not yet been indicated.

The union leaders who met with Mr. Truman represented the United Labor Policy Committee (ULPC) which speaks for the major segment of union membership. Only John L. Lewis was missing from labor's top brass lineup. His United Mine Workers do not belong to the ULPC.

A major factor in labor's boycott of the defense agencies was their contention that Defense Mobilizer Wilson, a former president of the General Electric Company, allowed "big business" to dominate the defense program.

Mr. Truman apparently stilled their concern on that score by taking a tighter hold of the reins himself.

Issue Remains

Rutledge Is Suicide by Gas; Figured in Sensational Case

Houston, Tex., April 6 (AP)—Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., who killed his wife's seducer, chose death to a prison cell.

His 70-year sentence confirmed by the Iowa Supreme Court and, his freedom on $40,000 bail near an end, the handsome 30-year-old children's doctor wrote a last love letter to his beautiful wife. Then he executed a carefully planned suicide.

The weapon was carbon monoxide and the time indefinite. But the setting was the couple's favorite spot in the countryside.

"Love is fleeting," he wrote the blonde, statuesque Sydney. "Forget about this. . . . Time will cure a lot of grief."

Rutledge's body was found in his automobile late yesterday. There was proof it had been there all day, probably all Wednesday night.

His suicide was the last act in a case that included murder—of Byron Hattman—and one of the most torrid and sensational trials in the history of American law.

The lives and loves of Rutledge, his wife, and Hattman were unfolded in a Cedar Rapids, Ia., courtroom in 1949.

There Sydney testified she was forced to submit to Hattman after a boat ride, and drinking party in July, 1948.

The defense argued Rutledge was defending the sanctity of his home; the state that Rutledge lay in wait in a hotel room, knocked Hattman out with a blow on the head and stabbed him "with surgical precision and skill."

Warren Cites Need Of Clearing Water Blocks in Esopus

Hurley Resident Declares Creek Channel Has Narrowed With Obstructions

Agitation by area residents in the early 1930's for a cleaning out of the Esopus Creek channel was recalled this week.

William A. Warren of Hurley; the late Matthew T. E. DeWitt, who lived at Hurley on the property now occupied by Henry Paul; Albert Kurdt, who was then county agricultural agent, and others in those days were warning of just such a costly flood of the lower Esopus as that which occurred last Saturday morning.

They suggested removing saplings that were encroaching upon the formerly wide bed of the stream, and dredging the channel where necessary.

Among those joining in the movement at the time were John Walker and other vegetable growers of the Plank Road section; and Ray Elmendorf, Hurley avenue fruit grower.

(Another John Walker—grandson of the man mentioned above—has called a meeting of all flood victims for 8 o'clock tonight (Friday) at the Town of Ulster garage on Albany avenue extension "to see what can be done about flood control.")

Changes Are Cited

Organic changes in the lower Esopus Creek that helped make the flood of last Saturday a costly one were outlined for The Freeman by William A. Warren Thursday afternoon at his home in Hurley, where he has lived since the turn of the century.

Before the Ashokan Dam was completed in 1915, the lower sections of the creek had a gravel bed in some places as wide as 200 or 300 feet.

Annual spring freshets, often carrying ice out to the mouth of the creek, kept the bed clear of vegetation and debris.

After the dam was built, there were no more spring freshets up to the present time. As a result, Warren explained, the creek confined itself to a narrower channel, in some places about 20 feet wide, and dug itself to a depth of eight or 10 feet. The rest of the old channel began to grow up with trees, brush and other vegetation. Residents began making

Senators Endorse Proposal For Stiffer Spying Penalties

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Senators today warmly endorsed a federal judge's appeal for stiffer espionage penalties in peacetime and under cold war conditions.

They called for the death penalty in certain cases, but some said there is no need to revise the punishment provisions of the law which deals specifically with atomic-secrets spies.

That law, they noted, already provides for the death sentence or life imprisonment—in war or peace—when a jury recommends it in cases where espionage is committed with the intention of aiding a foreign nation.

But there was general agreement that penalties covering non-atomic spying should be more drastic.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he and Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) were named by the Senate Judiciary Committee some time ago to study the general espionage laws.

Although the study is not completed, Ferguson said, it indicates the penalty provisions for non-wartime spying should be tightened. The death penalty should be imposed in some cases, Ferguson added.

The matter was pointed up yesterday by New York Judge Irving R. Kaufman when he sentenced two atomic spies to death and a third to 30 years in jail. They

Letter to Martin Has Three Phases

Officials Confer At Albany About Area Flood Control

Loughran and Green Meet With State DPW; Seeking Alleviation

Ulster county officials are continuing their study of what can be done to control floods along the Esopus Creek.

James F. Loughran, county superintendent of highways, and Roland Green, deputy superintendent, were in Albany on Thursday, conferring with officials of the State Department of Public Works. The conference was a preliminary discussion of plans, and at the present time there is nothing definite to report, Loughran said.

The officials are in the early stages of developing a plan of action in seeking some means of alleviating the conditions along the creek.

The flood of the Esopus last Saturday morning actually only intensified local determination to carry on the inquiry that was begun shortly after the flood and storm of November 25, 1950.

On December 19, army engineers, state public works and county highway officials met at the Governor Clinton Hotel at the request of State Senator Arthur H. Wicks to explore various possibilities for flood control. Following the meeting, the group toured flood damaged areas. At that time, it was estimated damage to highways and bridges in the town of Shandaken alone totaled $1,407,000.

Damaged Is Surveyed

Although damage from the flood of last Saturday is still being surveyed and no estimates have been made, Loughran said today that it appears as if the damage in the town of Denning to county highways may exceed the damage in that township from the November flood. The same may prove to be true in the town of Hardenburgh, he said.

The problem has been complicated by the fact that all of the damage done by the November storm had not been overcome when the March flood hit the area.

The magnitude of the flood early last Saturday morning can be illustrated by verified figures which were compiled by the New York City Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

Peak Flow

The peak flow at Cold Brook, above the Ashokan dam, was reached at 10:30 p. m. on March 30, when the gauge height was 20.70 feet and the flow calculated at 38½ billion gallons per day.

The peak of flow over the spillway—which indicates conditions on the lower Esopus — was reached at 4:45 a. m. on March 31. The water at that time was 4.20 feet above the flashboards of the spillway and was flowing over at the rate of 17,600,000,000 gallons a day.

At both Cold Brook and the spillway, the figures are the highest ever recorded since the Ashokan Dam was completed in 1915, according to department records. It is the highest flow of water ever measured on the Esopus

Republican Leader Says It's Time Officials Came Clean

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has proved again he is one of the Truman administration's hottest potatoes.

His latest challenge of administration policy and Washington authority was burning fingers today at the White House, the State Department and the Pentagon.

MacArthur's letter to a Republican leader, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, warmly endorsing Martin's demand that the thousands of Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa under command of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek be used in action against the Chinese and Korean Communists, had potentialities in at least three fields:

1. Domestic politics.
2. International politics, including the United Nations program in the Far East.
3. Military strategy.

While MacArthur's letter promptly raised speculation about possible disciplinary action against the five-star general there was serious question whether the White House would risk a bitter fight in Congress by removing him from command or promoting him out of it.

Material for Issue

After reading MacArthur's letter to the House yesterday, Martin made it evident that here was the material for an issue. He said:

"I think it is high time that the administration and the Pentagon came clean with the Congress and the American people."

The State Department, which has been openly unhappy on previous occasions over MacArthur's frank and free discussions of diplomatic affairs, obviously was chagrined again. The general's latest writings had come to light at a time when American diplomats were trying to quiet the worry of Allies over Chinese reaction to a new push into North Korea. Nor could they fail to note MacArthur's comment that "here we fight Europe's war with arms, while the diplomats there still fight it with words."

Winced at Pronouncement

The Pentagon high command winced at this new pronouncement from the Tokyo command.

It was evident that the military leaders in Washington, on purely strategic grounds, disagreed with MacArthur on two major points made in his letter:

1. That "utilization of the Chinese forces on Formosa is in conflict with neither logic nor (the)

Tension Runs High On Israeli Border

Syrian Troops Bombed as Reprisal in Deaths of 7 Policemen

Tiberias, Israel, April 6 (AP)—Tension ran high along the Israeli-Syrian border near here today as the belief spread the Syrians might retaliate at any time for last night's bombing of their troops by Israel's air force.

The Jews bombed troop concentrations just over the Syrian border and in the demilitarized zone near the Sea of Galilee, they said, in reprisal for the killing by Syrian shots of seven Israeli policemen Wednesday.

The whole border area here along the Galilee Sea appeared to be in a state of preparedness. United Nations observers here to supervise observance of the 1948 Arab-Jew armistice took a most serious view of the situation and expressed fear their staff was not sufficient to insure preservation of peace.

Border Center Damaged

The Israeli bombing, it was reported here, caused major damage to the border center of El Hamma, the village of Babel Hadid and Syrian positions in those areas.

It was also reported, however, that Syrian reinforcements were being sent to the El Hamma area.

In Tel Aviv an official Israeli spokesman said the bombing had

Americans Push Ahead Cautiously

Two South Korean Units Range 15 Miles Above Parallel on East Coast

Attacks Launched

Chinese Open Assaults on Central Front, but Are Repulsed

Tokyo, April 6 (AP)—A surprise Chinese withdrawal on the central front last night left a "no-man's-land" in front of United Nations forces today north of Parallel 38.

AP Correspondent John Randolph said Chinese who had been fighting stubbornly for two days suddenly broke contact Thursday night and retreated.

American thrusting forward Friday reported only patrol contact.

All along a 40-mile stretch of the front, U.N. units forged slow gains.

The Allied advance had thrust as much as eight miles inside the Communist northland.

Elements of four divisions pressed the slow, cautious United Nations advance on the central and western fronts. American, British, Greek, South Korean and Thai (Siamese) troops fought ahead from hill to hill.

South Koreans Push Ahead

On the east coast, two South Korean divisions ranged 15 miles north of the border.

All but a few Chinese and Red Korean stragglers had been driven from battered South Korea.

The die-hards blocked the Haggye-Inje road east of Chunchon on the mountainous central front.

Americans battered up that road behind heavy artillery fire, but they still were south of Parallel 38. The Reds controlled ridges on both sides of the road.

Once the road is opened to Allied traffic, the front will extend from the Imjin river in the west to the Japan Sea on the east—all of it in North Korea.

Solid Fortifications

Allied forces on the western front have bumped up against solid concrete fortifications. Red defenders were guarding the flank of massive Communists buildup, for an expected spring offensive.

On the central front, Chinese forces launched several minor counter-attacks Thursday night against U.N. troops north of the border. The allies hurled back the attacks and drove slowly ahead.

A U. S. tank force that lumbered almost eight miles into North Korea on the west-central front Thursday fought off a Red mortar artillery attack, smashed a bridge and killed at least 24 Chinese before it returned to its main line.

North of the central front hub of Chunchon, American, Greek and Thai doughboys battled forward for small gains against Chinese fighting from bunkers. The bunkers were built along the border by the North Koreans before they invaded South Korea last June 25.

Mountain Crest Won

Allied troops in hand-to-hand combat won a 3,500-foot mountain crest from Chinese on the central front.

Twelve swift U. S. Sabre jets drove off 30 Russian-type MIG-15 jets which ventured over northwest Korea from their Manchurian sanctuary. Five of the Red planes were damaged.

U. S. B-26 light bombers scored more than 60 bomb hits on the Communist airfield at Anak, in western Korea. Rain and overcast skies cut down allied aerial operations Friday morning. Fighters and light bombers mounted only 150 sorties by noon.

Pilots reported they damaged 24 Communist vehicles.

Vehicle sightings behind Red lines fell off sharply Thursday night. Slightly more than 1,000 were spotted, compared with the week's average fo 1,700 a night. Pilots estimated they damaged 174 vehicles Thursday.

"Love is fleeting," he wrote the blonde, statuesque Sydney. "Forget about this. . . . Time will cure a lot of grief."

Rutledge's body was found in his automobile late yesterday. There was proof it had been there all day, probably all Wednesday night.

His suicide was the last act in a case that included murder—of Byron Hattman—and one of the most torrid and sensational trials in the history of American law.

The lives and loves of Rutledge, his wife, and Hattman were unfolded in a Cedar Rapids, Ia., courtroom in 1949.

There Sydney testified she was forced to submit to Hattman after a boat ride, and drinking party in July, 1948.

Hurley Resident Declares Creek Channel Has Narrowed With Obstructions

Agitation by area residents in the early 1930's for a cleaning out of the Esopus Creek channel was recalled this week.

William A. Warren of Hurley; the late Matthew T. E. DeWitt, who lived at Hurley on the property now occupied by Henry Paul; Albert Kurdt, who was then county agricultural agent, and others in those days were warning of just such a costly flood of the lower Esopus as that which occurred last Saturday morning.

They suggested removing saplings that were encroaching upon the formerly wide bed of the stream, and dredging the channel where necessary.

Among those joining in the movement at the time were John Walker and other vegetable growers of the Plank Road section; and Ray Elmendorf, Hurley avenue fruit grower.

(Another John Walker—grandson of the man mentioned above—has called a meeting of all flood victims for 8 o'clock tonight (Friday) at the Town of Ulster garage on Albany avenue extension "to see what can be done about flood control.")

Changes Are Cited

Organic changes in the lower Esopus Creek that helped make the flood of last Saturday a costly one were outlined for The Freeman by William A. Warren Thursday afternoon at his home in Hurley, where he has lived since the turn of the century.

Before the Ashokan Dam was completed in 1915, the lower sections of the creek had a gravel bed in some places as wide as 200 or 300 feet.

Annual spring freshets, often carrying ice out to the mouth of the creek, kept the bed clear of vegetation and debris.

After the dam was built, there were no more spring freshets up to the present time. As a result, Warren explained, the creek confined itself to a narrower channel, in some places about 20 feet wide, and dug itself to a depth of eight or 10 feet. The rest of the old channel began to grow up with trees, brush and other vegetation. Residents began making

Officials Confer At Albany About Area Flood Control

Loughran and Green Meet With State DPW; Seeking Alleviation

Ulster county officials are continuing their study of what can be done to control floods along the Esopus Creek.

James F. Loughran, county superintendent of highways, and Roland Green, deputy superintendent, were in Albany on Thursday, conferring with officials of the State Department of Public Works. The conference was a preliminary discussion of plans, and at the present time there is nothing definite to report, Loughran said.

The officials are in the early stages of developing a plan of action in seeking some means of alleviating the conditions along the creek.

The flood of the Esopus last Saturday morning actually only intensified local determination to carry on the inquiry that was begun shortly after the flood and storm of November 25, 1950.

On December 19, army engineers, state public works and county highway officials met at the Governor Clinton Hotel at the request of State Senator Arthur H. Wicks to explore various possibilities for flood control. Following the meeting, the group toured flood damaged areas. At that time, it was estimated damage to highways and bridges in the town of Shandaken alone totaled $1,407,000.

Damaged Is Surveyed

Although damage from the flood of last Saturday is still being surveyed and no estimates have been made, Loughran said today that it appears as if the damage in the town of Denning to county highways may exceed the damage in that township from the November flood. The same may prove to be true in the town of Hardenburgh, he said.

The problem has been complicated by the fact that all of the damage done by the November storm had not been overcome when the March flood hit the area.

The magnitude of the flood early last Saturday morning can be illustrated by verified figures which were compiled by the New York City Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

Peak Flow

The peak flow at Cold Brook, above the Ashokan dam, was reached at 10:30 p. m. on March 30, when the gauge height was 20.70 feet and the flow calculated at 38½ billion gallons per day.

The peak of flow over the spillway—which indicates conditions on the lower Esopus — was reached at 4:45 a. m. on March 31. The water at that time was 4.20 feet above the flashboards of the spillway and was flowing over at the rate of 17,600,000,000 gallons a day.

At both Cold Brook and the spillway, the figures are the highest ever recorded since the Ashokan Dam was completed in 1915, according to department records. It is the highest flow of water ever measured on the Esopus

Senators Endorse Proposal For Stiffer Spying Penalties

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Senators today warmly endorsed a federal judge's appeal for stiffer espionage penalties in peacetime and under cold war conditions.

They called for the death penalty in certain cases, but some said there is no need to revise the punishment provisions of the law which deals specifically with atomic-secrets spies.

That law, they noted, already provides for the death sentence or life imprisonment—in war or peace—when a jury recommends it in cases where espionage is committed with the intention of aiding a foreign nation.

But there was general agreement that penalties covering non-atomic spying should be more drastic.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he and Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) were named by the Senate Judiciary Committee some time ago to study the general espionage laws.

Although the study is not completed, Ferguson said, it indicates the penalty provisions for non-wartime spying should be tightened. The death penalty should be imposed in some cases, Ferguson added.

The matter was pointed up yesterday by New York Judge Irving R. Kaufman when he sentenced two atomic spies to death and a third to 30 years in jail. They

Republican Leader Says It's Time Officials Came Clean

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has proved again he is one of the Truman administration's hottest potatoes.

His latest challenge of administration policy and Washington authority was burning fingers today at the White House, the State Department and the Pentagon.

MacArthur's letter to a Republican leader, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, warmly endorsing Martin's demand that the thousands of Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa under command of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek be used in action against the Chinese and Korean Communists, had potentialities in at least three fields:

1. Domestic politics.
2. International politics, including the United Nations program in the Far East.
3. Military strategy.

While MacArthur's letter promptly raised speculation about possible disciplinary action against the five-star general there was serious question whether the White House would risk a bitter fight in Congress by removing him from command or promoting him out of it.

Material for Issue

After reading MacArthur's letter to the House yesterday, Martin made it evident that here was the material for an issue. He said:

"I think it is high time that the administration and the Pentagon came clean with the Congress and the American people."

The State Department, which has been openly unhappy on previous occasions over MacArthur's frank and free discussions of diplomatic affairs, obviously was chagrined again. The general's latest writings had come to light at a time when American diplomats were trying to quiet the worry of Allies over Chinese reaction to a new push into North Korea. Nor could they fail to note MacArthur's comment that "here we fight Europe's war with arms, while the diplomats there still fight it with words."

Winced at Pronouncement

The Pentagon high command winced at this new pronouncement from the Tokyo command.

It was evident that the military leaders in Washington, on purely strategic grounds, disagreed with MacArthur on two major points made in his letter:

1. That "utilization of the Chinese forces on Formosa is in conflict with neither logic nor (the)

Syrian Troops Bombed as Reprisal in Deaths of 7 Policemen

Tiberias, Israel, April 6 (AP)—Tension ran high along the Israeli-Syrian border near here today as the belief spread the Syrians might retaliate at any time for last night's bombing of their troops by Israel's air force.

The Jews bombed troop concentrations just over the Syrian border and in the demilitarized zone near the Sea of Galilee, they said, in reprisal for the killing by Syrian shots of seven Israeli policemen Wednesday.

The whole border area here along the Galilee Sea appeared to be in a state of preparedness. United Nations observers here to supervise observance of the 1948 Arab-Jew armistice took a most serious view of the situation and expressed fear their staff was not sufficient to insure preservation of peace.

Border Center Damaged

The Israeli bombing, it was reported here, caused major damage to the border center of El Hamma, the village of Babel Hadid and Syrian positions in those areas.

It was also reported, however, that Syrian reinforcements were being sent to the El Hamma area.

In Tel Aviv an official Israeli spokesman said the bombing had

Americans Push Ahead Cautiously

Chinese Open Assaults on Central Front, but Are Repulsed

Tokyo, April 6 (AP)—A surprise Chinese withdrawal on the central front last night left a "no-man's-land" in front of United Nations forces today north of Parallel 38.

AP Correspondent John Randolph said Chinese who had been fighting stubbornly for two days suddenly broke contact Thursday night and retreated.

American thrusting forward Friday reported only patrol contact.

All along a 40-mile stretch of the front, U.N. units forged slow gains.

The Allied advance had thrust as much as eight miles inside the Communist northland.

South Koreans Push Ahead

On the east coast, two South Korean divisions ranged 15 miles north of the border.

All but a few Chinese and Red Korean stragglers had been driven from battered South Korea.

The die-hards blocked the Haggye-Inje road east of Chunchon on the mountainous central front.

Americans battered up that road behind heavy artillery fire, but they still were south of Parallel 38. The Reds controlled ridges on both sides of the road.

Once the road is opened to Allied traffic, the front will extend from the Imjin river in the west to the Japan Sea on the east—all of it in North Korea.

Solid Fortifications

Allied forces on the western front have bumped up against solid concrete fortifications. Red defenders were guarding the flank of massive Communists buildup, for an expected spring offensive.

On the central front, Chinese forces launched several minor counter-attacks Thursday night against U.N. troops north of the border. The allies hurled back the attacks and drove slowly ahead.

A U. S. tank force that lumbered almost eight miles into North Korea on the west-central front Thursday fought off a Red mortar artillery attack, smashed a bridge and killed at least 24 Chinese before it returned to its main line.

North of the central front hub of Chunchon, American, Greek and Thai doughboys battled forward for small gains against Chinese fighting from bunkers. The bunkers were built along the border by the North Koreans before they invaded South Korea last June 25.

Mountain Crest Won

Allied troops in hand-to-hand combat won a 3,500-foot mountain crest from Chinese on the central front.

Twelve swift U. S. Sabre jets drove off 30 Russian-type MIG-15 jets which ventured over northwest Korea from their Manchurian sanctuary. Five of the Red planes were damaged.

U. S. B-26 light bombers scored more than 60 bomb hits on the Communist airfield at Anak, in western Korea. Rain and overcast skies cut down allied aerial operations Friday morning. Fighters and light bombers mounted only 150 sorties by noon.

Pilots reported they damaged 24 Communist vehicles.

Vehicle sightings behind Red lines fell off sharply Thursday night. Slightly more than 1,000 were spotted, compared with the week's average fo 1,700 a night. Pilots estimated they damaged 174 vehicles Thursday.

School 6 Crowding Claimed by Parents

Education Board President Has Belief Washington School Will Relieve Condition; Proposes Another

The crowded condition in certain class rooms in School No. 6 was brought to the attention of the board of education Thursday evening by a delegation of parents headed by Mrs. H. Harrison, president of the No. 6 parents group. Particular stress was made on the large classes in the second and third grades where over 70 pupils are under the direction of two teachers. Accompanying Mrs. Harrison were Mrs. Sherwood Davis and Mrs. Hoenig.

It was pointed out that the classes at No. 6 were the largest in any city school, and the board was asked to give the matter consideration. Mrs. Harrison said the board undoubtedly was aware of the problem and had given it consideration but the parents of the school desired to have it known to the board that they were interested in the problem and had consequently appeared before the board.

Relief Is Ahead

President Herzog explained the problem of breaking down classes and securing additional teachers and made several suggestions for relief of the condition which he said the board was fully aware. Completion of the Washington school on Wall street may bring some relief since some students from the border areas could be sent to the new school. The complete solution of the crowded condition at No. 6, Mr. Herzog said, was erection of a new school on the Loughran Park property which the board acquired some time ago. The rapid growth of the Second Ward area, Mr. Herzog said, presented difficult problems for the school officials and the situation was being studied and would be relieved as quickly as possible.

Cafeteria Discussed

The condition of the cafeteria at No. 6 was also discussed by the delegation. It has been suggested that the cafeteria be moved from the basement to the first floor where at present there are two rooms available. The representatives of the parents present at the meeting however, expressed an opinion that the rooms should be used to relieve congestion rather than move the cafeteria.

A communication from the parents' group of No. 5 school was read in which it was asked that the cafeteria of that school be moved to the first floor from the basement. This matter was referred to the building committee.

The board adopted a resolution calling for payment of the $100 cost of living bonus recently authorized by the State Legislature to all members of the teaching and non-teaching staff who hold regular positions under the jurisdiction of the board on April 1, 1951. The bonus will be paid in April.

Salary Resolution Adopted

A resolution was also adopted approving a revised teachers' salary schedule as provided by the recent act of the Legislature and setting forth minimum and maximum salaries, steps on the schedule, and yearly increments. The schedule approved exceeds the minimums and maximums as set forth in the revised state schedule in the amount of $300. The resolution also provides that the schedule for special teachers, supervisors and principals maintain the same differential as existed in the 1947 schedule, and, that all non-teaching employes also receive the $300 increase.

The State Commission of Pensions granted an extension to Catherine M. Brown, cook, until June 30, 1951. This is a final extension.

Permission was granted the Mendelssohn Club to use the high school auditorium for a concert. The Footlighters were granted use of the auditorium for June 26, 27 and 28. The Coach House Players

Metropolitan Has Purchased Plant

Life Insurance Company Buys Pilgrim; Deed Is Recorded

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on Wednesday took title to the property on South Prospect street which is now occupied by the Pilgrim Furniture Company. That deed has been recorded in the office of the county clerk.

A deed from the South Prospect Street Realty Corporation, owners of the property, transferring the property to Julius Tarr, Morris Chorost, Benjamin Miller and Barney R. King, had previously been recorded. Title of the property to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was granted by Morris Chorost and others.

A report, which has not been confirmed, is to the effect that the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company plans to use the property for records of the corporation and that when the premises are taken over there may be upwards of 300 employed.

Efforts to ascertain the plans of the Pilgrim Furniture Company were unsuccessful.

The Pilgrim Furniture Company plant which occupies the site of the former Barmann Park has occupied the building since it was completed. At the time of the construction of the building it was designed and erected for the manufacture of furniture and contains a very large floor space.

House Votes Cut In Truman Fund

Forty-Three Per Cent Slash Approves $382,267,368 of Request

Washington, April 6 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee voted a 43 per cent cut today in a $843,463,569 emergency fund asked by President Truman.

It approved only $382,267,368 of the total sought by Mr. Truman to finance a number of emergency government activities for the remaining months of this fiscal year which ends June 30.

One of the larger cuts was in the Voice of America overseas broadcast program. Despite a plea yesterday by the President for the full amount, the committee recommended that only $9,533,939 of the $97,500,000 be granted.

Another cut was in the $545,000,000 budget of non-military defense agencies. The committee voted to hold the agencies to $224,750,000.

The committee's recommendations were embodied in a supplemental appropriation bill sent to the House floor for debate next week.

The House, the Senate Appropriations Committee and the Senate itself have yet to pass on the amounts.

Army Buys Meat From Iron Curtain And Pays Dollars

Beef Has Been Purchased From Hungary, to Get Polish Pork as Assistance

Frankfurt, Germany, April 6 (AP) — The American army has been buying meat from behind the Iron Curtain and paying dollars for it, German wholesalers disclosed today.

They said they have imported beef from Hungary for U. S. occupation personnel in Germany and have been promised help by American officials in obtaining pigs from Poland.

A shipment of 30,000 pounds of prime Hungarian beef was delivered by one German slaughterhouse to U. S. Army commissaries last month.

The Hungarian cattle arrived in west Germany by freight train and were inspected by army veterinarians before they were butchered.

The German wholesalers received an average price of 40 cents a pound from the army for the beef and paid Hungary in dollars.

There is no embargo on nonstrategic trade with Russian-dominated eastern Europe. The U. S. State Department, however, tries to discourage the flow of dollars to Iron Curtain countries, which use them to obtain scarce war materials on the world market.

'Test' Is Begun

In a recent announcement that it was launching a "test program" for buying meat in Europe, the army quartermaster headquarters at Heidelberg admitted that it "does not specify any sources of supply to (German) contractors. (It) is only interested in the quality of the meat, slaughterhouse conditions and compliance with delivery specifications."

The quartermaster plan calls for eventual purchase of 75 per cent of commissary meat requirements from European producers.

Asked to comment on the shipment of livestock from Hungary, American officers at Heidelberg said:

Labor Has Place in U.S.Defense

Union Chiefs Agree on Bid by Truman to Take Seats on 17-Man Advisory Board

Will Meet Monday

Hope Arrangement Will Solve Boycott of Mobilization Plan

Washington, April 6 (AP)—President Truman has wooed organized labor back into the defense planning fold with membership on a 17-man advisory mobilization board.

Union leaders agreed to the proposal late yesterday after a lengthy White House conference with Mr. Truman.

The President was reported "very happy" they'd decided to take a hand. The labor chiefs said they hoped the move would lead to a complete solution of the problems which started their boycott of the mobilization program five weeks ago.

Teh board will hold its first meeting Monday. Mr. Truman is expected to sit in on it.

The board, made up of four representatives each from labor, industry, agriculture and the public, and headed by Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, will help Mr. Truman determine defense policy.

AFL President William Green, CIO President Philip Murray, AFL Secretary-treasurer George Meany, and Walter P. Reuther, head of the CIO United Auto Workers probably will represent labor.

Other Selections

Presidential Press Secretary Joseph H. Short told reporters the other selections for the board had not yet been indicated.

The union leaders who met with Mr. Truman represented the United Labor Policy Committee (ULPC) which speaks for the major segment of union membership. Only John L. Lewis was missing from labor's top brass lineup. His United Mine Workers do not belong to the ULPC.

A major factor in labor's boycott of the defense agencies was their contention that Defense Mobilizer Wilson, a former president of the General Electric Company, allowed "big business" to dominate the defense program.

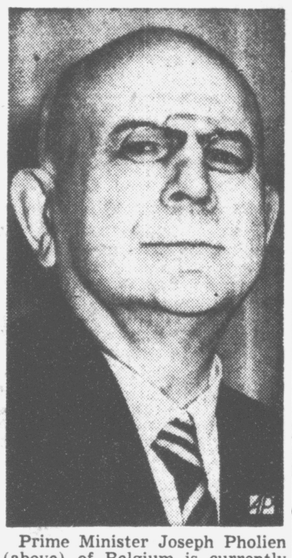

Mr. Truman apparently stilled their concern on that score by taking a tighter hold of the reins himself.

Issue Remains

Although this decision represented a notable improvement in labor's relations with the big mo-

Rutledge Is Suicide by Gas; Figured in Sensational Case

Houston, Tex., April 6 (AP)—Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., who killed his wife's seducer, chose death to a prison cell.

His 70-year sentence confirmed by the Iowa Supreme Court and, his freedom on $40,000 bail near an end, the handsome 30-year-old children's doctor wrote a last love letter to his beautiful wife. Then he executed a carefully planned suicide.

The weapon was carbon monoxide and the time indefinite. But the setting was the couple's favorite spot in the countryside.

"Love is fleeting," he wrote the blonde, statuesque Sydney. "Forget about this. . . . Time will cure a lot of grief."

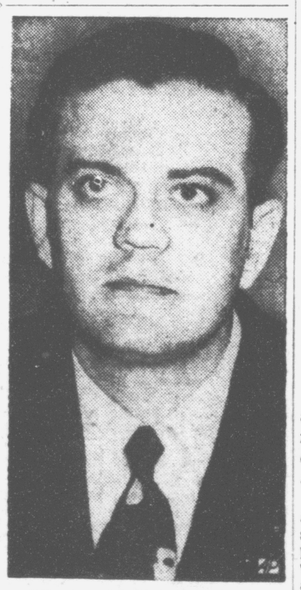

Rutledge's body was found in his automobile late yesterday. There was proof it had been there all day, probably all Wednesday night.

His suicide was the last act in a case that included murder—of Byron Hattman—and one of the most torrid and sensational trials in the history of American law.

The lives and loves of Rutledge, his wife, and Hattman were unfolded in a Cedar Rapids, Ia., courtroom in 1949.

There Sydney testified she was forced to submit to Hattman after a boat ride, and drinking party in July, 1948.

The defense argued Rutledge was defending the sanctity of his home; the state that Rutledge lay in wait in a hotel room, knocked Hattman out with a blow on the head and stabbed him "with surgical precision and skill."

Rutledge bought a hose, ran it from his car's exhaust pipe,

Senators Endorse Proposal For Stiffer Spying Penalties

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Senators today warmly endorsed a federal judge's appeal for stiffer espionage penalties in peacetime and under cold war conditions.

They called for the death penalty in certain cases, but some said there is no need to revise the punishment provisions of the law which deals specifically with atomic-secrets spies.

That law, they noted, already provides for the death sentence or life imprisonment—in war or peace—when a jury recommends it in cases where espionage is committed with the intention of aiding a foreign nation.

But there was general agreement that penalties covering non-atomic spying should be more drastic.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he and Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) were named by the Senate Judiciary Committee some time ago to study the general espionage laws.

Although the study is not completed, Ferguson said, it indicates the penalty provisions for non-wartime spying should be tightened. The death penalty should be imposed in some cases, Ferguson added.

The matter was pointed up yesterday by New York Judge Irving R. Kaufman when he sentenced two atomic spies to death and a third to 30 years in jail. They

Chauncey DeWitt Is Heart Victim

Chauncey DeWitt, 61, died of a heart attack while at work on the Edward Davenport farm at Marbletown early today, the sheriff's office reported.

Two other workmen saw DeWitt drop to the ground at 7:10 a. m. today as he was spreading shale on a farm road. They summoned Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, who said death was due to coronary occlusion. County Investigator Leonard Belmore investigated for the sheriff's office.

DeWitt began his employment on the Davenport farm on Monday, Belmore said. The farm is the former Ira Oliver farm on Route 209. Prior to that, DeWitt worked as a farm laborer and general handyman in the Stone Ridge area.

One brother, Morris, lives in Rosendale. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the George J. Moylan Funeral Home of Rosendale.

Loughran Returns

James F. Loughran, county superintendent of highways, returned to his office this week following a month's absence due to illness.

The funeral of Catherine Margaret Sickler, infant daughter of William E. and Marie Crontz Sickler of 111½ Spring street, Wednesday at 11:30 a. m. from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue. Burial took place in the Mt. Calvary Cemetery. The Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, said prayers for the child. Besides her parents, she is survived by a brother, William E. Sickler 3rd and a sister, Donna Marie Sickler.

Josephine Presenzano

The funeral of Josephine Presenzano of Brooklyn was held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, Thursday at 9 a. m., thence to the Church of the Presentation in Port Ewen where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Joseph Comyns, C.Ss.R. Responses to the Mass were sung by Edward Cherny assisted by James Sweeney at the organ. At the offertory, Mrs. Cherny sang Pie Jesu and in conclusion In Paradisum. Wednesday night Father Comyns called at the funeral home and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary. Burial took place in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Comyns conducted the final blessing at the grave. Bearers were Bernard, Rosario, Anthony and Selvano Ferraro, Ralph Booth and Rosario Zoda.

Mrs Rose Price

Mrs. Rose Price of 157 Washington avenue, died at the Kingston Hospital, Thursday evening. She had been a patient since Easter Sunday, March 25, following an accident. Mrs. Price was a member of the Old First Reformed Church this city; Clinton chapter, No. 445, O.E.S. of Kingston; Daughters of Nile of Albany; Katonah Lodge, No. 108, Ladies Society of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers of Union City, N. J. Surviving is her husband, John W. Price of Kingston; one brother, Abram Hayman; two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Richter and Mrs. Theresa P. Simons all of New York. Several nieces and nephews also survive. Funeral services will be held at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street, Monday at 2 p. m.

Christopher J. Flanagan

The funeral of Christopher J. Flanagan was held from his late residence, 17 East Chestnut street, Thursday at 9:30 a. m. and at St. Mary's Church 10 a. m. where a solemn high Mass was offered by the Right Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, P.R., V.F., with the Rev. John A. Flaherty deacon and the Rev. Thomas Gaffney as subdeacon. Responses to the Mass were by the children's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono, organist. The entire membership of the Ulster County Bar Association and many friends of the deceased filled the church. While the body reposed in the home more than a thousand people called to pay respects. The clergy calling and reciting the prayers for the dead were the Right Rev. Monsignor Stephen P. Connelly, P.R., the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen and Father Flaherty. Wednesday night Monsignor Drury visited the home and assisted by those present recited the Rosary. The Grand Jurors' Association, with President Thomas J. Murphy, called to pay its respects. Bearers were Clarence Mains, Charles Roosa, Arthur Carroll, George Gotelli, Michael Lucchese and Edward Noble. Burial was in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery where the final absolution and blessing was given by Father Flaherty.

Fannie B. Hard

Fannie B. Hard, widow of Sherwood M. Hard, and daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Hills, died Thursday night at the home of her son, George M. Hard at Woodstock, following a long illness. Mrs. Hard was born in New York and came from a family of well known musicians. Prior to her marriage she had appeared on Broadway and gave promise of a successful career as a singer. After her marriage she gave up a theatrical career but for many years appeared on the concert stage. A graduate of Velten School in New York, she studied abroad both in England and France and during the early years of her life spent a considerable portion of each year abroad studying music. Her mother was a concert singer and it was under her instruction that Mrs. Hard began her early career as a singer. Dr. Hills was also a prominent musician and her uncle by marriage was Charles B. Hawley, well-known composer. Prior to taking up her residence in Woodstock with her son, Mrs. Hard resided in Nyack, where she was very active in music circles and in all civic affairs for nearly a half century. While in Nyack she was active in the Nyack Music Club and was president for many years. She was also a member and a past president of the Nyack Reading Club. Her civic activities included work with the Red Cross and she was very active in the Women's Republican Club of Nyack and prominent in church work during her residence there. She was well known in Woodstock where she made many friends since taking up her residence in that village. Beside her son, George M. Hard of Woodstock, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Adrian Skinner of Danbury, Conn.; Mrs. A. Donald Bowman of Middlebury, Conn; also six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from Grace Episcopal Church, Nyack, Sunday at 1:30 p. m. Friends may view the body at the White Funeral Home, Nyack, Sunday. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

Albert N. Wells

Albert N. Wells of Port Ewen died early today at the Van Horn Nursing Home in Sleightsburg following a brief illness. He was a retired leather manufacturer of leather pocket books and bags. He retired about 22 years ago. Mr. Wells was a former member of the Washington Lodge, F. & A.M., 21, of New York. He was born in Union Center and was in his 82nd year. Mr. Wells resided in Port Ewen 22 years. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Margaret J. Ellsworth, Port Ewen, and Mrs. Rachel Stokes, Kingston; two brothers, Elishia and Rodney, Newburgh; two nieces and six nephews. The funeral will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home, 111 West Chester street. Burial will be in Montrepose Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday and Sunday night.

Collazo Is Given Death Sentence

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Oscar Collazo, 37, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair Oct. 26 for the attempted assassination of President Truman last fall and the slaying of a presidential guard.

In an impassioned outburst, Collazo said he did not want to plead for his life but for Puerto Rico's independence. Turning to the court room audience, the little Puerto Rican shouted:

"Whatever I did, I did it for a just cause. I did it for my country."

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough explained that he set the execution date for next fall because Collazo's court-appointed attorneys already have given notice of an appeal.

Goldsborough said that if appeals action were not completed by Oct. 26 he would grant a stay of execution at that time.

House Votes Cut

final form of a bill finds early cuts restored, at least.

The House committee approved funds for the employment of 1,260 additional FBI agents, for the repair and reactivation of 100 merchant ships in the laid-up fleet and for veterans benefits including the purchase of 500 specially equipped automobiles for disabled veterans.

It rejected a $20,000,000 request to move 19,000 federal employes out of crowded Washington, saying there were no firm plans for the transfers.

Civil Defense Cut

The biggest single cut was in the budget of the Civil Defense Administration. Mr. Truman asked $403,00,000 for this purpose and the committee recommended $186,750,000.

For operation of programs growing out of the 1950 Defense Production Act, the committee recommended $38,000,000, a cut of $13,000,000.

In explanation of its larger reductions, the committee said it is time for the executive agencies to make sacrifices in the interest of strengthening the nation. All these agencies, it said, seem willing to assist in the defense effort "provided they get additional funds and staff therefor and provided they can continue to carry on their regular activities."

Transfer Suggested

The committee said that if additional employes are needed for defense activities, they should be transferred from other agencies, along with the payrolls already appropriated for them.

The committee said plans for civil defense still are in the "nebulous" stage and apparently have not been properly coordinated with those of the military forces. It said the most urgent need is to educate the general public in matters of self-protection and to coordinate efforts now being made by states and municipalities.

As an example of some of the money requests it received, the committee said the Civilian Defense Administration wants to buy 2,000 sirens and two-way radios for wardens and other personnel, while it would be desirable to have the sirens, it said, alert signals already are available in key centers.

Two Injured

Two persons were injured at noon Thursday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a driverless truck that they said rolled down a hill on Route 9W in the village of Marlborough, according to a state police report. Josephine Marsiglio, 28, and Rosalie Dragota, 23, both of Marlborough were treated by a Newburgh physician following the accident for contusions and bruises, troopers said. They were riding in an automobile driven by Peter Conte, 21, of Marlborough, state police reported. The truck was owned by Fred Fowler of Marlborough, according to the report.

Railroad Advice

A representative of the Railroad retirement Board will be at the examiner's room, second floor, New York Central Railroad Station in Kingston, Wednesday, April 11, from 1 to 4 p. m. for the purpose of rendering assistance and advice to railroad workers. Assistance will be available in connection with matters concerning applications for retirement, death benefits and answering any inquiries in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Railroad Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Mrs. Joyce Injured

Mrs. Agnes Joyce, of 65 Third avenue, reported to the police at 5:09 p. m., yesterday, that she suffered a leg injury when she fell into a coal chute at 142 Broadway after stepping on its loose cover. The cover tipped and struck her as she fell, the report said. She was treated by a doctor.

Warren Cites Need

use of the new land, and fences, chicken coops and other marks of civilization appeared on what was once the channel.

Advanced as Project

In the early 1930's, Warren, Kurdt, DeWitt and others began working toward having the channel cleaned up, on the theory that if the reservoir was full to capacity during the spring freshet period, the result would be the same as before the dam was built, only damage would be greater because of the impediments to the flow of water. At the time, during depression years, the federal government was spending money to make employment, and this channel clearing was advanced as a possible project.

Nothing much came of the plan, Kurdt recalled today. Army engineers meeting here last December at the call of Senator Arthur H. Wicks after the flood of November 25 recalled that a flood control survey was made in 1936 and approval was not granted at that time for a federal flood control project.

Bushes Now Are Trees

Since that time, Warren noted, the small trees and other brush along the stream bed have continued to grow, and at present many trees 10 inches in diameter stand where the water once flowed. These trees snag debris coming down the creek in floods, forming little dams which send the water in various directions and in some cases forming new channels.

The end result, according to Warren, is that now a much smaller amount of water will cause a flood than in the days when the bed was wide and clear. He noted that the flood of early last Saturday morning followed approximately four inches of rain within two days—described as a "good steady rain," but nothing unusual. Warren recalled that the area has experienced as much as 10 inches in a single storm.

'Just Luck,' He Says

The fact that there had been no bad floods in the lower Esopus since the dam was built was "just luck," he said. When the reservoir is not at capacity, the dam helps in flood control. But a full reservoir, such as existed last Saturday, is of no use as a flood control measure.

Showing how the creek bed changes have affected conditions, Warren pointed out how a small brook near his home flooded out of all proportion, as it had never done before even during the spring freshets before the dam was built.

This was the brook, known to some by its Dutch name of Kopjeslope, or sometimes as Englishman's Creek, was the one that damaged the small bridge on the Hurley-Lomontville road.

Will Be More Costly

Because of the growth of trees, the work of cleaning the channel will be more costly and difficult now than it would have been in the 1930's. To be effective, Warren explained, the job of cleaning the lower Esopus should be done as one project, working from the first falls upstream. Trees, brush and other things that impede the flow should be removed, and then the channel maintained in good condition for future years. In a few places the channel could be straightened.

Nature being somewhat unpredictable, Warren warned that just because this was the first bad flood since the reservoir was built does not mean that there will not be another flood for another 35 years. Sometimes an area can go 50 or more years without a flood, then it may get two or three within 10 years, he pointed out.

Acquainted With Measures

Warren, an electrical engineer, has done various types of engineering and is acquainted with flood control measures in various sections of the country, as well as being a resident of Hurley and observing the Esopus creek over a period of 50 years. He began spending summers in Hurley in 1901, and has lived there the year around since 1907. His home is the former James D. Wynkoop house, the original part of which was built in the last half of the 17th century.

On the property is a centrifugal pump which before the construction of the Ashokan dam was used for pumping water from the creek to irrigate the fields. Capable of pumping 500 gallons per minute, the pump was loaned to the Hurley Fire Department Sunday morning and did an extremely efficient job in pumping water from cellars of flooded homes along the Hurley-Lomontville road.

Letter to Martin

tradition of meeting force with maximum counter-force."

2. That "in Asia is where the Communist conspirators have elected to make their play for global conquest."

MacArthur has declared the Chinese Communists can be defeated by expanding the war to include allied air attacks and Chinese Nationalist assaults on the mainland.

A dispatch from Tokyo by AP Correspondent Russell Brines recalled that MacArthur made that position clear in his March 24 statement on the Korean war. He has also said neither side can win if the combat is restricted to the Korean peninsula.

Based on Objections

The Pentagon's opposition to using Chiang's Nationalist troops remains based on substantially the objections raised when MacArthur first came up with the idea last summer:

1. The troops on Formosa must be regarded as a strategic reserve, a force which may be needed critically later if Russia chooses all-out world war.

2. They should be kept on Formosa to defend that island against Chinese Communist invasion attempt because Formosa is a vital outlying bastion for defense of Japan.

3. If the Nationalist troops were committed to action in the vast area of the Chinese mainland against the millions of men available to Communist China they might be cut up and become militarily valueless.

4. The supply problem in taking care of the large force of Nationalists in actual warfare would be acute, especially when pyramided on the already difficult Korean war logistics program.

Do Not Hold Belief

The Pentagon chiefs also do not subscribe to MacArthur's belief that the Communists have picked Asia as the major arena. Secretary of Defense Marshall last week told a news conference he believed the "world" situation was more serious than last fall. In doing that, it was evident he meant new dangers lay outside Korea and the Communist war in Asia.

There was nothing to indicate that MacArthur had "cleared" his letter to Martin with Washington before sending it, despite the urgings, indeed directives, that all theatre commanders get such approval on matters involving high policy.

Washington has been sending directives to MacArthur for a long time. They originate in the joint chiefs of staff. Then the army transmits them.

Complications Arise

But there are complications, arising out of the fact that MacArthur, aside from being disposed to a degree of independence, also is not just another army general. He is, in fact, four generals.

He is: Commander of United Nations forces fighting in Korea; the supreme commander of allied powers in the Far West; commander of the Far Eastern Theatre of United States forces; commander of United States Army in the Far East.

Some congressmen have recently renewed suggestions he be recalled to give his views. Would MacArthur come to Washington for conferences if asked?

One official who has had some experience in asking MacArthur to do things thought "it would take a lot of orders."

Granted Divorce

The Supreme Court of the State of Florida has granted a divorce in the case of Dolores C. Robinson against Leo A. Robinson. William H. Grogan of this city was attorney for Leo Robinson.

Labor Has . . .

bilization planning agencies, the unions' complaint about wage controls and the extent of labor's voice in manpower policy remained to be settled.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, who had been trying to settle the big dispute, said last night "labor and management are just as far apart" as they ever were in their differences over how the mobilization program should be run, particularly on how to settle labor disputes.

"Unless their attitude is changed and a spirit of cooperation in this national emergency takes place, our whole rearmament program could be endangered," Johnston said in a radio speech (CBS). The speech was broadcast after labor leaders had agreed to membership on the advisory board.

Court Battle Threat

Meanwhile, the threat of a court battle plagued the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS). A formal protest received from the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers said present price controls are discriminatory and prevent dealers from selling meat at a reasonable profit.

The protest is a preliminary step before the expected filing of a suit for an injunction against the Defense Production Act, under which OPS was set up.

In other commodity fields, OPS:

1. Issued a new price regulation for wool yarns and fabrics. It predicts this will mean higher prices for clothing next year, but that it will assure an adequate supply of coats and suits.

2. Said retail coal dealers may add to their prices for coke and briquettes made from hard or soft coal any price increases in solid fuel prices and freight charges. Heretofore, they have had to absorb them.

Senators Endorse

were accused of helping pass atomic secrets to Russia during World War 2.

Kaufman pointed out that if the espionage had been committed when the nation was not at war, the maximum punishment would have been 20 years imprisonment.

That section of the general espionage law was enacted in 1917 when, Kaufman said, "the Russian international spy ring did not present the threat to all of us which it does now."

Kaufman added that on the basis of existing law, "it most likely means that even if spies are successful in the year 1951 in delivering to Russia or any foreign power our secrets concerning the newer type atom bombs or even the H-bomb, the maximum punishment that any court could impose in that situation would be 20 years."

Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he agrees the punishment provisions of the general espionage laws should be reviewed.

But he called attention to the provision of the atomic energy law which provides for the death penalty or life imprisonment under certain circumstances at any time.

McMahon said the three spies sentenced by Kaufman were tried under the general espionage laws, rather than the atomic act, because the measure was not put on the books until 1946.

May Obtain Renewals

Holders of chauffeur's licenses which expire May 30, 1951, may now obtain renewals at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau, 34 Main street, Edgar J. Dempsey, deputy county clerk, advised today. All chauffeurs were requested by Dempsey to check their licenses for the expiration date.

were granted use of the auditorium for April 25 and 26.

Offer Accepted

The Board accepted the offer of a $300 scholarship to be given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster to a girl in Ulster county who will pursue a course in nursing in either the Kingston Hospital or the Benedictine Hospital.

Approval was given the payroll and vouchers in the sum of $162,482.77 for March; also issuance of warrants in payment of the Veterans Institutional on-the-farm training program and vouchers for March amounting to $839.25; and warrants in payment of the F.D.A. School Lunch Program payroll and vouchers for February amounting to $8,130.17.

The resignation of Margaret Ambrose, who is leaving town, was accepted, effective April 25. She is a first grade teacher at No. 2 school.

Action of the Teachers Committee was approved, employing Robert DeFeis as a physical education department teacher at a salary of $2,600 plus $800 for coaching. He will substitute for Russell F. Cunningham who has been recalled to military service. Mr. DeFeis has a B. S. degree in physical education from Ithaca College in 1949 and will complete requirements in 1951 at New Paltz State Teachers College for a Master's Degree in Education. He has two years experience in teaching physical education in the schools of the First Supervisory District in Ulster county.

Progress Report

Trustee Baltz gave a progress report on the Washington school. He stated that the school would not be ready for the opening of school in September due to delay in getting materials. However it was expected the school, would be ready by the opening of the mid-year term. The contract is now so far behind schedule, Mr. Baltz said, that all hope of opening in September has been abandoned.

The board approved certain changes in work at the Washington school as recommended by Architect Halverson. These changes were due in some respects to inability to get materials specified. A $50 credit was given the contractors for substitution of an aluminum tablet in place of bronze which is unobtainable. The board was granted a $175 credit for substitution of zinc alloy for terrazo strips in lieu of brass. A credit of $416 was granted the board for elimination of window shade frames and boxes in the auditorium and a credit of $250 to the board to omit parapet walls between auditorium, gymnasium roofs and fan room roofs.

Grading Discussed

A question of grading the Washington school lot was discussed. The contractor who is required to grade fifteen feet from the building, offered to complete grading for $1,910. The board voted to do this work later. A question was raised as to control of the brook which runs over the school property and the board voted to have a study made of this problem before the property is graded. The city engineer will be asked to look into the condition.

The supplies committee was authorized to seek bids for coal and fuel oil. Approximately 700 tons of pea coal, 460 tons of rice or No. 2 buckwheat and 140,000 gallons of No. 5 fuel oil for the high school and 75,000 gallons of No. 5 fuel oil will be required for the Washington school.

The board approved purchase of a cello from Francis Forde, 12 Alcazar avenue, for $75 for use in the instrumental department.

The board authorized entrance into a contract with Architect Gerard W. Betz for preparation of plans and specifications for a field house to be erected on the high school grounds just south of the school and adjacent to Andrew street. Preliminary plans have already been prepared and submitted to the State Education Department at Albany for approval.

An advanced course in Institutional-On-Farm Training will be offered next fall in the city. The board voted to put this training program into effect since there has been considerable demand for it. This course will follow the present two year preliminary course. Funds are available through the Veterans Administration to pay tuition charges of veterans enrolled.

Committee Reports

A preliminary report was given by Trustee Morgan for the insurance committee on the state of the coverage now in existence on schools and school property. The report was confined to liability insurance and a report of fire and other coverage will be made later. The report in general stated the schools were pretty well covered except for minor adjustments. Additional liability will be taken at a cost of approximately $300.

During the discussion on insurance it was brought out that there is an unusually large number of claims being filed for injuries to students. These claims are being filed almost daily, most of them being of a minor nature and for which no liability on the part of the board exists. However the large number of claims is being reflected in the higher premium rate which the board must pay.

Equipment bids for the Washington school have been received and are being tabulated. Action on this will be taken later.

Superintendent Laidlaw submitted the attendance report showing a total registration of 6,284, 4,995 being in public schools and 1,285 in private schools. There are 3,003 in elementary schools and 1,992 in high school.

A report on Distributive Education was made for the period from July 1, 1950 to January 1, 1951. Total hours worked was 56,676 and the total wages earned by the students $34,228.77. In the Cooperative Office Training program the total hours worked was 3,857 and the total wage earned $2,809.97.

Work Summary

A summary of the Work Experience program of the Business Department of the school was submitted as follows:

Sixty-three business firms of the City of Kingston are cooperating with the business department in providing part-time employment for work-experience credit in the field of retail distribution and office clerical work.

Sixty students were employed in positions granting work-experience credit during the summer vacation period.

At the present time, ninety-three pupils are employed in part-time positions in connection with the work-experience program in the distribution education course.

Fourteen pupils are doing part-time clerical work for work-experience credit in connection with the office training program.

During the summer vacation period, pupils in the work-experience program worked 21,846 hours.

During the period from July 1, 1950 to February 1, 1951, pupils in the work experience program worked 60,533 hours.

A sum of $37,038.74 was earned by pupils engaged in part-time employment for which work-experience credit was granted.

The average hourly wage is 61.18c per hour.

During the Christmas period 105 students were placed in retail establishments in the City of Kingston to assist in handling the Christmas retail trade. This group represented an addition to those pupils regularly employed for work-experience credit.

Since the beginning of the work-experience program in the Business Department in September 1943, students have been employed 471,161 hours for which work-experience credit was granted. These pupils have earned $267,807.69.

At present there are one hundred twenty pupils enrolled in the distributive education program.

In order that we may keep more closely in touch with the graduates of the business department, a follow-up program was introduced in June 1946. By means of this program we are better able to evaluate the business training of our graduates and also we are in a position to assist these students in making the successful adjustment from school to business.

been "completely successful." He listed as targets the El Hamma police station and "a number of fortified positions a few meters inside Syrian territory proper, from where the Israel policemen were fired on and killed."

(A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus said the Arab forces did fire on the eight Israeli planes in the raid and possibly damaged two of them. He said there were no Syrian casualties from the bombing).

Letters to Council

At United Nations headquarters, in New York Abba S. Eban, permanent Israeli representative to the U.N., handed a letter to the Security Council drawing its attention to the border clashes as a matter of urgency.

He described the Syrian actions as "deliberate and flagrant violations of the armistice agreement" of 1948 which followed the Arab-Jewish Palestine war.

Earlier this week, Syria sent a letter to the Security Council charging Israel had violated the armistice by its activities in the demilitarized border zone.

Last night's bombing was the climax of a series of incidents in the zone, occupied by Israel and stretching from the Huleh swamps in the northeast to the Yarmuk valley at the southern end of the Sea of Galilee.

Demilitarized Zone

The 30-mile-long area was made a demilitarized zone between Syria and Israel in the cease-fire agreement of 1948. Though belonging to Israel, it is patrolled jointly by Syrian and Israeli police, serving under U.N. supervision.

The clashes originated with Israel's project to drain the Huleh swamps. The U.N. observers called the project worthy, but urged it be postponed until settlement of disputes with Syrian landowners. Israel ignored this recommendation and continued the work over Syrian objections that, since it involves the sources of the Jordan River, the boundary might be altered.

creek since the department began keeping records in 1903.

Comparison of the rate of flow figures above and below the dam illustrates the "cushioning" effect of a full reservoir. Even though a full reservoir cannot contain flood waters, it has the effect of slowing down the flow so that it is not as rapid as it would be without the reservoir.

Columbia Instructor Dies

New York, April 6 (AP)—Henry Moley, 49, an instructor at Columbia University, died last night in the waiting room of an uptown Manhattan station of the New York Central Railroad (225th street near Broadway, Marble Hill.) Police said he apparently collapsed while waiting for a train. Identification was established through a brother-in-law, Mauck Brammer, of 38 South Highland avenue, Ossining, N. Y. That address also was listed for Moley. An automobile operator's license in a pocket bore Moley's name and an address, 1317 Ninth avenue, Helena, Mont.

Cohen Is Indicted

Los Angeles, April 6 (AP) — A federal grand jury today indicted gambler Mickey Cohen on charges of income tax evasion. The jury has been going into Cohen's payments in recent years since the U. S. Senate Crime Committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), drew admissions from him that he had borrowed some $300,00 in recent years with practically no security. Cohen said he had no comment. He recently told reporters: "I'm clean (legal). But they'll indict me because the word is out to 'get Mickey Cohen.'"

Chauncey DeWitt Is Heart Victim

Chauncey DeWitt, 61, died of a heart attack while at work on the Edward Davenport farm at Marbletown early today, the sheriff's office reported.

Two other workmen saw DeWitt drop to the ground at 7:10 a. m. today as he was spreading shale on a farm road. They summoned Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, who said death was due to coronary occlusion. County Investigator Leonard Belmore investigated for the sheriff's office.

DeWitt began his employment on the Davenport farm on Monday, Belmore said. The farm is the former Ira Oliver farm on Route 209. Prior to that, DeWitt worked as a farm laborer and general handyman in the Stone Ridge area.

One brother, Morris, lives in Rosendale. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the George J. Moylan Funeral Home of Rosendale.

Fannie B. Hard

Fannie B. Hard, widow of Sherwood M. Hard, and daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Hills, died Thursday night at the home of her son, George M. Hard at Woodstock, following a long illness. Mrs. Hard was born in New York and came from a family of well known musicians. Prior to her marriage she had appeared on Broadway and gave promise of a successful career as a singer. After her marriage she gave up a theatrical career but for many years appeared on the concert stage. A graduate of Velten School in New York, she studied abroad both in England and France and during the early years of her life spent a considerable portion of each year abroad studying music. Her mother was a concert singer and it was under her instruction that Mrs. Hard began her early career as a singer. Dr. Hills was also a prominent musician and her uncle by marriage was Charles B. Hawley, well-known composer. Prior to taking up her residence in Woodstock with her son, Mrs. Hard resided in Nyack, where she was very active in music circles and in all civic affairs for nearly a half century. While in Nyack she was active in the Nyack Music Club and was president for many years. She was also a member and a past president of the Nyack Reading Club. Her civic activities included work with the Red Cross and she was very active in the Women's Republican Club of Nyack and prominent in church work during her residence there. She was well known in Woodstock where she made many friends since taking up her residence in that village. Beside her son, George M. Hard of Woodstock, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Adrian Skinner of Danbury, Conn.; Mrs. A. Donald Bowman of Middlebury, Conn; also six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from Grace Episcopal Church, Nyack, Sunday at 1:30 p. m. Friends may view the body at the White Funeral Home, Nyack, Sunday. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

Collazo Is Given Death Sentence

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Oscar Collazo, 37, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair Oct. 26 for the attempted assassination of President Truman last fall and the slaying of a presidential guard.

In an impassioned outburst, Collazo said he did not want to plead for his life but for Puerto Rico's independence. Turning to the court room audience, the little Puerto Rican shouted:

"Whatever I did, I did it for a just cause. I did it for my country."

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough explained that he set the execution date for next fall because Collazo's court-appointed attorneys already have given notice of an appeal.

Goldsborough said that if appeals action were not completed by Oct. 26 he would grant a stay of execution at that time.

House Votes Cut

final form of a bill finds early cuts restored, at least.

The House committee approved funds for the employment of 1,260 additional FBI agents, for the repair and reactivation of 100 merchant ships in the laid-up fleet and for veterans benefits including the purchase of 500 specially equipped automobiles for disabled veterans.

It rejected a $20,000,000 request to move 19,000 federal employes out of crowded Washington, saying there were no firm plans for the transfers.

Civil Defense Cut

The biggest single cut was in the budget of the Civil Defense Administration. Mr. Truman asked $403,00,000 for this purpose and the committee recommended $186,750,000.

For operation of programs growing out of the 1950 Defense Production Act, the committee recommended $38,000,000, a cut of $13,000,000.

In explanation of its larger reductions, the committee said it is time for the executive agencies to make sacrifices in the interest of strengthening the nation. All these agencies, it said, seem willing to assist in the defense effort "provided they get additional funds and staff therefor and provided they can continue to carry on their regular activities."

Transfer Suggested

The committee said that if additional employes are needed for defense activities, they should be transferred from other agencies, along with the payrolls already appropriated for them.

The committee said plans for civil defense still are in the "nebulous" stage and apparently have not been properly coordinated with those of the military forces. It said the most urgent need is to educate the general public in matters of self-protection and to coordinate efforts now being made by states and municipalities.

As an example of some of the money requests it received, the committee said the Civilian Defense Administration wants to buy 2,000 sirens and two-way radios for wardens and other personnel, while it would be desirable to have the sirens, it said, alert signals already are available in key centers.

Two Injured

Two persons were injured at noon Thursday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a driverless truck that they said rolled down a hill on Route 9W in the village of Marlborough, according to a state police report. Josephine Marsiglio, 28, and Rosalie Dragota, 23, both of Marlborough were treated by a Newburgh physician following the accident for contusions and bruises, troopers said. They were riding in an automobile driven by Peter Conte, 21, of Marlborough, state police reported. The truck was owned by Fred Fowler of Marlborough, according to the report.

Railroad Advice

A representative of the Railroad retirement Board will be at the examiner's room, second floor, New York Central Railroad Station in Kingston, Wednesday, April 11, from 1 to 4 p. m. for the purpose of rendering assistance and advice to railroad workers. Assistance will be available in connection with matters concerning applications for retirement, death benefits and answering any inquiries in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Railroad Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Mrs. Joyce Injured

Mrs. Agnes Joyce, of 65 Third avenue, reported to the police at 5:09 p. m., yesterday, that she suffered a leg injury when she fell into a coal chute at 142 Broadway after stepping on its loose cover. The cover tipped and struck her as she fell, the report said. She was treated by a doctor.

Warren Cites Need

use of the new land, and fences, chicken coops and other marks of civilization appeared on what was once the channel.

Advanced as Project

In the early 1930's, Warren, Kurdt, DeWitt and others began working toward having the channel cleaned up, on the theory that if the reservoir was full to capacity during the spring freshet period, the result would be the same as before the dam was built, only damage would be greater because of the impediments to the flow of water. At the time, during depression years, the federal government was spending money to make employment, and this channel clearing was advanced as a possible project.

Nothing much came of the plan, Kurdt recalled today. Army engineers meeting here last December at the call of Senator Arthur H. Wicks after the flood of November 25 recalled that a flood control survey was made in 1936 and approval was not granted at that time for a federal flood control project.

Bushes Now Are Trees

Since that time, Warren noted, the small trees and other brush along the stream bed have continued to grow, and at present many trees 10 inches in diameter stand where the water once flowed. These trees snag debris coming down the creek in floods, forming little dams which send the water in various directions and in some cases forming new channels.

The end result, according to Warren, is that now a much smaller amount of water will cause a flood than in the days when the bed was wide and clear. He noted that the flood of early last Saturday morning followed approximately four inches of rain within two days—described as a "good steady rain," but nothing unusual. Warren recalled that the area has experienced as much as 10 inches in a single storm.

'Just Luck,' He Says

The fact that there had been no bad floods in the lower Esopus since the dam was built was "just luck," he said. When the reservoir is not at capacity, the dam helps in flood control. But a full reservoir, such as existed last Saturday, is of no use as a flood control measure.

Showing how the creek bed changes have affected conditions, Warren pointed out how a small brook near his home flooded out of all proportion, as it had never done before even during the spring freshets before the dam was built.

This was the brook, known to some by its Dutch name of Kopjeslope, or sometimes as Englishman's Creek, was the one that damaged the small bridge on the Hurley-Lomontville road.

Will Be More Costly

Because of the growth of trees, the work of cleaning the channel will be more costly and difficult now than it would have been in the 1930's. To be effective, Warren explained, the job of cleaning the lower Esopus should be done as one project, working from the first falls upstream. Trees, brush and other things that impede the flow should be removed, and then the channel maintained in good condition for future years. In a few places the channel could be straightened.

Nature being somewhat unpredictable, Warren warned that just because this was the first bad flood since the reservoir was built does not mean that there will not be another flood for another 35 years. Sometimes an area can go 50 or more years without a flood, then it may get two or three within 10 years, he pointed out.

Acquainted With Measures

Warren, an electrical engineer, has done various types of engineering and is acquainted with flood control measures in various sections of the country, as well as being a resident of Hurley and observing the Esopus creek over a period of 50 years. He began spending summers in Hurley in 1901, and has lived there the year around since 1907. His home is the former James D. Wynkoop house, the original part of which was built in the last half of the 17th century.

On the property is a centrifugal pump which before the construction of the Ashokan dam was used for pumping water from the creek to irrigate the fields. Capable of pumping 500 gallons per minute, the pump was loaned to the Hurley Fire Department Sunday morning and did an extremely efficient job in pumping water from cellars of flooded homes along the Hurley-Lomontville road.

Letter to Martin

tradition of meeting force with maximum counter-force."

2. That "in Asia is where the Communist conspirators have elected to make their play for global conquest."

MacArthur has declared the Chinese Communists can be defeated by expanding the war to include allied air attacks and Chinese Nationalist assaults on the mainland.

A dispatch from Tokyo by AP Correspondent Russell Brines recalled that MacArthur made that position clear in his March 24 statement on the Korean war. He has also said neither side can win if the combat is restricted to the Korean peninsula.

Based on Objections

The Pentagon's opposition to using Chiang's Nationalist troops remains based on substantially the objections raised when MacArthur first came up with the idea last summer:

1. The troops on Formosa must be regarded as a strategic reserve, a force which may be needed critically later if Russia chooses all-out world war.

2. They should be kept on Formosa to defend that island against Chinese Communist invasion attempt because Formosa is a vital outlying bastion for defense of Japan.

3. If the Nationalist troops were committed to action in the vast area of the Chinese mainland against the millions of men available to Communist China they might be cut up and become militarily valueless.

4. The supply problem in taking care of the large force of Nationalists in actual warfare would be acute, especially when pyramided on the already difficult Korean war logistics program.

Do Not Hold Belief

The Pentagon chiefs also do not subscribe to MacArthur's belief that the Communists have picked Asia as the major arena. Secretary of Defense Marshall last week told a news conference he believed the "world" situation was more serious than last fall. In doing that, it was evident he meant new dangers lay outside Korea and the Communist war in Asia.

There was nothing to indicate that MacArthur had "cleared" his letter to Martin with Washington before sending it, despite the urgings, indeed directives, that all theatre commanders get such approval on matters involving high policy.

Washington has been sending directives to MacArthur for a long time. They originate in the joint chiefs of staff. Then the army transmits them.

Complications Arise

But there are complications, arising out of the fact that MacArthur, aside from being disposed to a degree of independence, also is not just another army general. He is, in fact, four generals.

He is: Commander of United Nations forces fighting in Korea; the supreme commander of allied powers in the Far West; commander of the Far Eastern Theatre of United States forces; commander of United States Army in the Far East.

Some congressmen have recently renewed suggestions he be recalled to give his views. Would MacArthur come to Washington for conferences if asked?

One official who has had some experience in asking MacArthur to do things thought "it would take a lot of orders."

Granted Divorce

The Supreme Court of the State of Florida has granted a divorce in the case of Dolores C. Robinson against Leo A. Robinson. William H. Grogan of this city was attorney for Leo Robinson.

Labor Has . . .

bilization planning agencies, the unions' complaint about wage controls and the extent of labor's voice in manpower policy remained to be settled.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, who had been trying to settle the big dispute, said last night "labor and management are just as far apart" as they ever were in their differences over how the mobilization program should be run, particularly on how to settle labor disputes.

"Unless their attitude is changed and a spirit of cooperation in this national emergency takes place, our whole rearmament program could be endangered," Johnston said in a radio speech (CBS). The speech was broadcast after labor leaders had agreed to membership on the advisory board.

Court Battle Threat

Meanwhile, the threat of a court battle plagued the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS). A formal protest received from the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers said present price controls are discriminatory and prevent dealers from selling meat at a reasonable profit.

The protest is a preliminary step before the expected filing of a suit for an injunction against the Defense Production Act, under which OPS was set up.

In other commodity fields, OPS:

1. Issued a new price regulation for wool yarns and fabrics. It predicts this will mean higher prices for clothing next year, but that it will assure an adequate supply of coats and suits.

2. Said retail coal dealers may add to their prices for coke and briquettes made from hard or soft coal any price increases in solid fuel prices and freight charges. Heretofore, they have had to absorb them.

Senators Endorse

were accused of helping pass atomic secrets to Russia during World War 2.

Kaufman pointed out that if the espionage had been committed when the nation was not at war, the maximum punishment would have been 20 years imprisonment.

That section of the general espionage law was enacted in 1917 when, Kaufman said, "the Russian international spy ring did not present the threat to all of us which it does now."

Kaufman added that on the basis of existing law, "it most likely means that even if spies are successful in the year 1951 in delivering to Russia or any foreign power our secrets concerning the newer type atom bombs or even the H-bomb, the maximum punishment that any court could impose in that situation would be 20 years."

Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he agrees the punishment provisions of the general espionage laws should be reviewed.

But he called attention to the provision of the atomic energy law which provides for the death penalty or life imprisonment under certain circumstances at any time.

McMahon said the three spies sentenced by Kaufman were tried under the general espionage laws, rather than the atomic act, because the measure was not put on the books until 1946.

May Obtain Renewals

Holders of chauffeur's licenses which expire May 30, 1951, may now obtain renewals at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau, 34 Main street, Edgar J. Dempsey, deputy county clerk, advised today. All chauffeurs were requested by Dempsey to check their licenses for the expiration date.

were granted use of the auditorium for April 25 and 26.

Offer Accepted

The Board accepted the offer of a $300 scholarship to be given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster to a girl in Ulster county who will pursue a course in nursing in either the Kingston Hospital or the Benedictine Hospital.

Approval was given the payroll and vouchers in the sum of $162,482.77 for March; also issuance of warrants in payment of the Veterans institutional on-the-farm training program and vouchers for March amounting to $839.25; and warrants in payment of the F.D.A. School Lunch Program payroll and vouchers for February amounting to $8,130.17.

The resignation of Margaret Ambrose, who is leaving town, was accepted, effective April 25. She is a first grade teacher at No. 2 school.

Action of the Teachers Committee was approved, employing Robert DeFeis as a physical education department teacher at a salary of $2,600 plus $800 for coaching. He will substitute for Russell F. Cunningham who has been recalled to military service. Mr. DeFeis has a B. S. degree in physical education from Ithaca College in 1949 and will complete requirements in 1951 at New Paltz State Teachers College for a Master's Degree in Education. He has two years experience in teaching physical education in the schools of the First Supervisory District in Ulster county.

Progress Report

Trustee Baltz gave a progress report on the Washington school. He stated that the school would not be ready for the opening of school in September due to delay in getting materials. However it was expected the school would be ready by the opening of the mid-year term. The contract is now so far behind schedule, Mr. Baltz said, that all hope of opening in September has been abandoned.

The board approved certain changes in work at the Washington school as recommended by Architect Halverson. These changes were due in some respects to inability to get materials specified. A $50 credit was given the contractors for substitution of an aluminum tablet in place of bronze which is unobtainable. The board was granted a $175 credit for substitution of zinc alloy for terrazo strips in lieu of brass. A credit of $416 was granted the board for elimination of window shade frames and boxes in the auditorium and a credit of $250 to the board to omit parapet walls between auditorium, gymnasium roofs and fan room roofs.

Grading Discussed

A question of grading the Washington school lot was discussed. The contractor who is required to grade fifteen feet from the building, offered to complete grading for $1,910. The board voted to do this work later. A question was raised as to control of the brook which runs over the school property and the board voted to have a study made of this problem before the property is graded. The city engineer will be asked to look into the condition.

The supplies committee was authorized to seek bids for coal and fuel oil. Approximately 700 tons of pea coal, 460 tons of rice or No. 2 buckwheat and 140,000 gallons of No. 5 fuel oil for the high school and 75,000 gallons of No. 5 fuel oil will be required for the Washington school.

The board approved purchase of a cello from Francis Forde, 12 Alcazar avenue, for $75 for use in the instrumental department.

The board authorized entrance into a contract with Architect Gerard W. Betz for preparation of plans and specifications for a field house to be erected on the high school grounds just south of the school and adjacent to Andrew street. Preliminary plans have already been prepared and submitted to the State Education Department at Albany for approval.

An advanced course in Institutional-On-Farm Training will be offered next fall in the city. The board voted to put this training program into effect since there has been considerable demand for it. This course will follow the present two year preliminary course. Funds are available through the Veterans Administration to pay tuition charges of veterans enrolled.

Committee Reports

A preliminary report was given by Trustee Morgan for the insurance committee on the state of the coverage now in existence on schools and school property. The report was confined to liability insurance and a report of fire and other coverage will be made later. The report in general stated the schools were pretty well covered except for minor adjustments. Additional liability will be taken at a cost of approximately $300.

During the discussion on insurance it was brought out that there is an unusually large number of claims being filed for injuries to students. These claims are being filed almost daily, most of them being of a minor nature and for which no liability on the part of the board exists. However the large number of claims is being reflected in the higher premium rate which the board must pay.

Equipment bids for the Washington school have been received and are being tabulated. Action on this will be taken later.

Superintendent Laidlaw submitted the attendance report showing a total registration of 6,284, 4,995 being in public schools and 1,285 in private schools. There are 3,003 in elementary schools and 1,992 in high school.

A report on Distributive Education was made for the period from July 1, 1950 to January 1, 1951. Total hours worked was 56,676 and the total wages earned by the students $34,228.77. In the Cooperative Office Training program the total hours worked was 3,857 and the total wage earned $2,809.97.

Work Summary

A summary of the Work Experience program of the Business Department of the school was submitted as follows:

Sixty-three business firms of the City of Kingston are cooperating with the business department in providing part-time employment for work-experience credit in the field of retail distribution and office clerical work.

Sixty students were employed in positions granting work-experience credit during the summer vacation period.

At the present time, ninety-three pupils are employed in part-time positions in connection with the work-experience program in the distribution education course.

Fourteen pupils are doing part-time clerical work for work-experience credit in connection with the office training program.

During the summer vacation period, pupils in the work-experience program worked 21,846 hours.

During the period from July 1, 1950 to February 1, 1951, pupils in the work experience program worked 60,533 hours.

A sum of $37,038.74 was earned by pupils engaged in part-time employment for which work-experience credit was granted.

The average hourly wage is 61.18c per hour.

During the Christmas period 105 students were placed in retail establishments in the City of Kingston to assist in handling the Christmas retail trade. This group represented an addition to those pupils regularly employed for work-experience credit.

Since the beginning of the work-experience program in the Business Department in September 1943, students have been employed 471,161 hours for which work-experience credit was granted. These pupils have earned $267,807.69.

At present there are one hundred twenty pupils enrolled in the distributive education program.

In order that we may keep more closely in touch with the graduates of the business department, a follow-up program was introduced in June 1946. By means of this program we are better able to evaluate the business training of our graduates and also we are in a position to assist these students in making the successful adjustment from school to business.

Tension Runs High

been "completely successful." He listed as targets the El Hamma police station and "a number of fortified positions a few meters inside Syrian territory proper, from where the Israel policemen were fired on and killed."

(A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus said the Arab forces did fire on the eight Israeli planes in the raid and possibly damaged two of them. He said there were no Syrian casualties from the bombing).

Letters to Council

At United Nations headquarters, in New York Abba S. Eban, permanent Israeli representative to the U.N., handed a letter to the Security Council drawing its attention to the border clashes as a matter of urgency.

He described the Syrian actions as "deliberate and flagrant violations of the armistice agreement" of 1948 which followed the Arab-Jewish Palestine war.

Earlier this week, Syria sent a letter to the Security Council charging Israel had violated the armistice by its activities in the demilitarized border zone.

Last night's bombing was the climax of a series of incidents in the zone, occupied by Israel and stretching from the Huleh swamps in the northeast to the Yarmuk valley at the southern end of the Sea of Galilee.

Demilitarized Zone

The 30-mile-long area was made a demilitarized zone between Syria and Israel in the ceasefire agreement of 1948. Though belonging to Israel, it is patrolled jointly by Syrian and Israeli police, serving under U.N. supervision.

The clashes originated with Israel's project to drain the Huleh swamps. The U.N. observers called the project worthy, but urged it be postponed until settlement of disputes with Syrian landowners. Israel ignored this recommendation and continued the work over Syrian objections that, since it involves the sources of the Jordan River, the boundary might be altered.

creek since the department began keeping records in 1913.

Comparison of the rate of flow figures above and below the dam illustrates the "cushioning" effect of a full reservoir. Even though a full reservoir cannot contain flood waters, it has the effect of slowing down the flow so that it is not as rapid as it would be without the reservoir.

Columbia Instructor Dies

New York, April 6 (AP)—Henry Moley, 49, an instructor at Columbia University, died last night in the waiting room of an uptown Manhattan station of the New York Central Railroad (225th street near Broadway, Marble Hill.) Police said he apparently collapsed while waiting for a train. Identification was established through a brother-in-law, Mauck Brammer, of 38 South Highland avenue, Ossining, N. Y. That address also was listed for Moley. An automobile operator's license in a pocket bore Moley's name and an address, 1317 Ninth avenue, Helena, Mont.

Cohen Is Indicted

Los Angeles, April 6 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted gambler Mickey Cohen on charges of income tax evasion. The jury has been going into Cohen's payments in recent years since the U. S. Senate Crime Committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), drew admissions from him that he had borrowed some $300,00 in recent years with practically no security. Cohen said he had no comment. He recently told reporters: "I'm clean (legal). But they'll indict me because the word is out to 'get Mickey Cohen.'"

Chauncey DeWitt Is Heart Victim

Chauncey DeWitt, 61, died of a heart attack while at work on the Edward Davenport farm at Marbletown early today, the sheriff's office reported.

Two other workmen saw DeWitt drop to the ground at 7:10 a. m. today as he was spreading shale on a farm road. They summoned Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, who said death was due to coronary occlusion.

County Investigator Leonard Belmore investigated for the sheriff's office.

DeWitt began his employment on the Davenport farm on Monday, Belmore said. The farm is the former Ira Oliver farm on Route 209. Prior to that, DeWitt worked as a farm laborer and general handyman in the Stone Ridge area.

One brother, Morris, lives in Rosendale. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the George J. Moylan Funeral Home of Rosendale.

Loughran Returns

James F. Loughran, county superintendent of highways, returned to his office this week following a month's absence due to illness.

Fannie B. Hard

Fannie B. Hard, widow of Sherwood M. Hard, and daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Hills, died Thursday night at the home of her son, George M. Hard at Woodstock, following a long illness. Mrs. Hard was born in New York and came from a family of well known musicians. Prior to her marriage she had appeared on Broadway and gave promise of a successful career as a singer. After her marriage she gave up a theatrical career but for many years appeared on the concert stage. A graduate of Velten School in New York, she studied abroad both in England and France and during the early years of her life spent a considerable portion of each year abroad studying music. Her mother was a concert singer and it was under her instruction that Mrs. Hard began her early career as a singer. Dr. Hills was also a prominent musician and her uncle by marriage was Charles B. Hawley, well-known composer. Prior to taking up her residence in Woodstock with her son, Mrs. Hard resided in Nyack, where she was very active in music circles and in all civic affairs for nearly a half century. While in Nyack she was active in the Nyack Music Club and was president for many years. She was also a member and a past president of the Nyack Reading Club. Her civic activities included work with the Red Cross and she was very active in the Women's Republican Club of Nyack and prominent in church work during her residence there. She was well known in Woodstock where she made many friends since taking up her residence in that village. Beside her son, George M. Hard of Woodstock, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Adrian Skinner of Danbury, Conn.; Mrs. A. Donald Bowman of Middlebury, Conn; also six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from Grace Episcopal Church, Nyack, Sunday at 1:30 p. m. Friends may view the body at the White Funeral Home, Nyack, Sunday. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

Collazo Is Given Death Sentence

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Oscar Collazo, 37, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair Oct. 26 for the attempted assassination of President Truman last fall and the slaying of a presidential guard.

In an impassioned outburst, Collazo said he did not want to plead for his life but for Puerto Rico's independence. Turning to the court room audience, the little Puerto Rican shouted:

"Whatever I did, I did it for a just cause. I did it for my country."

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough explained that he set the execution date for next fall because Collazo's court-appointed attorneys already have given notice of an appeal.

Goldsborough said that if appeals action were not completed by Oct. 26 he would grant a stay of execution at that time.

House Votes Cut

final form of a bill finds early cuts restored, at least.

The House committee approved funds for the employment of 1,260 additional FBI agents, for the repair and reactivation of 100 merchant ships in the laid-up fleet and for veterans benefits including the purchase of 500 specially equipped automobiles for disabled veterans.

It rejected a $20,000,000 request to move 19,000 federal employes out of crowded Washington, saying there were no firm plans for the transfers.

Civil Defense Cut

The biggest single cut was in the budget of the Civil Defense Administration. Mr. Truman asked $403,00,000 for this purpose and the committee recommended $186,750,000.

For operation of programs growing out of the 1950 Defense Production Act, the committee recommended $38,000,000, a cut of $13,000,000.

In explanation of its larger reductions, the committee said it is time for the executive agencies to make sacrifices in the interest of strengthening the nation. All these agencies, it said, seem willing to assist in the defense effort "provided they get additional funds and staff therefor and provided they can continue to carry on their regular activities."

Transfer Suggested

The committee said that if additional employes are needed for defense activities, they should be transferred from other agencies, along with the payrolls already appropriated for them.

The committee said plans for civil defense still are in the "nebulous" stage and apparently have not been properly coordinated with those of the military forces. It said the most urgent need is to educate the general public in matters of self-protection and to coordinate efforts now being made by states and municipalities.

As an example of some of the money requests it received, the committee said the Civilian Defense Administration wants to buy 2,000 sirens and two-way radios for wardens and other personnel, while it would be desirable to have the sirens, it said, alert signals already are available in key centers.

Two Injured

Two persons were injured at noon Thursday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a driverless truck that they said rolled down a hill on Route 9W in the village of Marlborough, according to a state police report. Josephine Marsiglio, 28, and Rosalie Dragota, 23, both of Marlborough were treated by a Newburgh physician following the accident for contusions and bruises, troopers said. They were riding in an automobile driven by Peter Conte, 21, of Marlborough, state police reported. The truck was owned by Fred Fowler of Marlborough, according to the report.

Railroad Advice

A representative of the Railroad retirement Board will be at the examiner's room, second floor, New York Central Railroad Station in Kingston, Wednesday, April 11, from 1 to 4 p. m. for the purpose of rendering assistance and advice to railroad workers. Assistance will be available in connection with matters concerning applications for retirement, death benefits and answering any inquiries in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Railroad Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Mrs. Joyce Injured

Mrs. Agnes Joyce, of 65 Third avenue, reported to the police at 5:09 p. m., yesterday, that she suffered a leg injury when she fell into a coal chute at 142 Broadway after stepping on its loose cover. The cover tipped and struck her as she fell, the report said. She was treated by a doctor.

Warren Cites Need

use of the new land, and fences, chicken coops and other marks of civilization appeared on what was once the channel.

Advanced as Project

In the early 1930's, Warren, Kurdt, DeWitt and others began working toward having the channel cleaned up, on the theory that if the reservoir was full to capacity during the spring freshet period, the result would be the same as before the dam was built, only damage would be greater because of the impediments to the flow of water. At the time, during depression years, the federal government was spending money to make employment, and this channel clearing was advanced as a possible project.

Nothing much came of the plan, Kurdt recalled today. Army engineers meeting here last December at the call of Senator Arthur H. Wicks after the flood of November 25 recalled that a flood control survey was made in 1936 and approval was not granted at that time for a federal flood control project.

Bushes Now Are Trees

Since that time, Warren noted, the small trees and other brush along the stream bed have continued to grow, and at present many trees 10 inches in diameter stand where the water once flowed. These trees snag debris coming down the creek in floods, forming little dams which send the water in various directions and in some cases forming new channels.

The end result, according to Warren, is that now a much smaller amount of water will cause a flood than in the days when the bed was wide and clear. He noted that the flood of early last Saturday morning followed approximately four inches of rain within two days—described as a "good steady rain," but nothing unusual. Warren recalled that the area has experienced as much as 10 inches in a single storm.

'Just Luck,' He Says

The fact that there had been no bad floods in the lower Esopus since the dam was built was "just luck," he said. When the reservoir is not at capacity, the dam helps in flood control. But a full reservoir, such as existed last Saturday, is of no use as a flood control measure.

Showing how the creek bed changes have affected conditions, Warren pointed out how a small brook near his home flooded out of all proportion, as it had never done before even during the spring freshets before the dam was built.

This was the brook, known to some by its Dutch name of Kopjeslope, or sometimes as Englishman's Creek, was the one that damaged the small bridge on the Hurley-Lomontville road.

Will Be More Costly

Because of the growth of trees, the work of cleaning the channel will be more costly and difficult now than it would have been in the 1930's. To be effective, Warren explained, the job of cleaning the lower Esopus should be done as one project, working from the first falls upstream. Trees, brush and other things that impede the flow should be removed, and then the channel maintained in good condition for future years. In a few places the channel could be straightened.

Nature being somewhat unpredictable, Warren warned that just because this was the first bad flood since the reservoir was built does not mean that there will not be another flood for another 35 years. Sometimes an area can go 50 or more years without a flood, then it may get two or three within 10 years, he pointed out.

Acquainted With Measures

Warren, an electrical engineer, has done various types of engineering and is acquainted with flood control measures in various sections of the country, as well as being a resident of Hurley and observing the Esopus creek over a period of 50 years. He began spending summers in Hurley in 1901, and has lived there the year around since 1907. His home is the former James D. Wynkoop house, the original part of which was built in the last half of the 17th century.

On the property is a centrifugal pump which before the construction of the Ashokan dam was used for pumping water from the creek to irrigate the fields. Capable of pumping 500 gallons per minute, the pump was loaned to the Hurley Fire Department Sunday morning and did an extremely efficient job in pumping water from cellars of flooded homes along the Hurley-Lomontville road.

Letter to Martin

tradition of meeting force with maximum counter-force."

2. That "in Asia is where the Communist conspirators have elected to make their play for global conquest."

MacArthur has declared the Chinese Communists can be defeated by expanding the war to include allied air attacks and Chinese Nationalist assaults on the mainland.

A dispatch from Tokyo by AP Correspondent Russell Brines recalled that MacArthur made that position clear in his March 24 statement on the Korean war. He has also said neither side can win if the combat is restricted to the Korean peninsula.

Based on Objections

The Pentagon's opposition to using Chiang's Nationalist troops remains based on substantially the objections raised when MacArthur first came up with the idea last summer:

1. The troops on Formosa must be regarded as a strategic reserve, a force which may be needed critically later if Russia chooses all-out world war.

2. They should be kept on Formosa to defend that island against Chinese Communist invasion attempt because Formosa is a vital outlying bastion for defense of Japan.

3. If the Nationalist troops were committed to action in the vast area of the Chinese mainland against the millions of men available to Communist China they might be cut up and become militarily valueless.

4. The supply problem in taking care of the large force of Nationalists in actual warfare would be acute, especially when pyramided on the already difficult Korean war logistics program.

Do Not Hold Belief

The Pentagon chiefs also do not subscribe to MacArthur's belief that the Communists have picked Asia as the major arena. Secretary of Defense Marshall last week told a news conference he believed the "world" situation was more serious than last fall. In doing that, it was evident he meant new dangers lay outside Korea and the Communist war in Asia.

There was nothing to indicate that MacArthur had "cleared" his letter to Martin with Washington before sending it, despite the urgings, indeed directives, that all theatre commanders get such approval on matters involving high policy.

Washington has been sending directives to MacArthur for a long time. They originate in the joint chiefs of staff. Then the army transmits them.

Complications Arise

But there are complications, arising out of the fact that MacArthur, aside from being disposed to a degree of independence, also is not just another army general. He is in fact, four generals.

He is: Commander of United Nations forces fighting in Korea; the supreme commander of allied powers in the Far West; commander of the Far Eastern Theatre of United States forces; commander of United States Army in the Far East.

Some congressmen have recently renewed suggestions he be recalled to give his views. Would MacArthur come to Washington for conferences if asked?

One official who has had some experience in asking MacArthur to do things thought "it would take a lot of orders."

Granted Divorce

The Supreme Court of the State of Florida has granted a divorce in the case of Dolores C. Robinson against Leo A. Robinson. William H. Grogan of this city was attorney for Leo Robinson.

Labor Has . . .

bilization planning agencies, the unions' complaint about wage controls and the extent of labor's voice in manpower policy remained to be settled.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, who had been trying to settle the big dispute, said last night "labor and management are just as far apart" as they ever were in their differences over how the mobilization program should be run, particularly on how to settle labor disputes.

"Unless their attitude is changed and a spirit of cooperation in this national emergency takes place, our whole rearmament program could be endangered," Johnston said in a radio speech (CBS). The speech was broadcast after labor leaders had agreed to membership on the advisory board.

Court Battle Threat

Meanwhile, the threat of a court battle plagued the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS). A formal protest received from the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers said present price controls are discriminatory and prevent dealers from selling meat at a reasonable profit.

The protest is a preliminary step before the expected filing of a suit for an injunction against the Defense Production Act, under which OPS was set up.

In other commodity fields, OPS:

1. Issued a new price regulation for wool yarns and fabrics. It predicts this will mean higher prices for clothing next year, but that it will assure an adequate supply of coats and suits.

2. Said retail coal dealers may add to their prices for coke and briquettes made from hard or soft coal any price increases in solid fuel prices and freight charges. Heretofore, they have had to absorb them.

Senators Endorse

were accused of helping pass atomic secrets to Russia during World War 2.

Kaufman pointed out that if the espionage had been committed when the nation was not at war, the maximum punishment would have been 20 years imprisonment.

That section of the general espionage law was enacted in 1917 when, Kaufman said, "the Russian international spy ring did not present the threat to all of us which it does now."

Kaufman added that on the basis of existing law, "it most likely means that even if spies are successful in the year 1951 in delivering to Russia or any foreign power our secrets concerning the newer type atom bombs or even the H-bomb, the maximum punishment that any court could impose in that situation would be 20 years."

Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he agrees the punishment provisions of the general espionage laws should be reviewed.

But he called attention to the provision of the atomic energy law which provides for the death penalty or life imprisonment under certain circumstances at any time.

McMahon said the three spies sentenced by Kaufman were tried under the general espionage laws, rather than the atomic act, because the measure was not put on the books until 1946.

May Obtain Renewals

Holders of chauffeur's licenses which expire May 30, 1951, may now obtain renewals at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau, 34 Main street, Edgar J. Dempsey, deputy county clerk, advised today. All chauffeurs were requested by Dempsey to check their licenses for the expiration date.

were granted use of the auditorium for April 25 and 26.

Offer Accepted

The Board accepted the offer of a $300 scholarship to be given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster to a girl in Ulster county who will pursue a course in nursing in either the Kingston Hospital or the Benedictine Hospital.

Approval was given the payroll and vouchers in the sum of $162,482.77 for March; also issuance of warrants in payment of the Veterans institutional on-the-farm training program and vouchers for March amounting to $839.25; and warrants in payment of the F.D.A. School Lunch Program payroll and vouchers for February amounting to $8,130.17.

The resignation of Margaret Ambrose, who is leaving town, was accepted, effective April 25. She is a first grade teacher at No. 2 school.

Action of the Teachers Committee was approved, employing Robert DeFeis as a physical education department teacher at a salary of $2,600 plus $800 for coaching. He will substitute for Russell F. Cunningham who has been recalled to military service. Mr. DeFeis has a B. S. degree in physical education from Ithaca College in 1949 and will complete requirements in 1951 at New Paltz State Teachers College for a Master's Degree in Education. He has two years experience in teaching physical education in the schools of the First Supervisory District in Ulster county.

Progress Report

Trustee Baltz gave a progress report on the Washington school. He stated that the school would not be ready for the opening of school in September due to delay in getting materials. However it was expected the school would be ready by the opening of the mid-year term. The contract is now so far behind schedule, Mr. Baltz said, that all hope of opening in September has been abandoned.

The board approved certain changes in work at the Washington school as recommended by Architect Halverson. These changes were due in some respects to inability to get materials specified. A $50 credit was given the contractors for substitution of an aluminum tablet in place of bronze which is unobtainable. The board was granted a $175 credit for substitution of zinc alloy for terrazo strips in lieu of brass. A credit of $416 was granted the board for elimination of window shade frames and boxes in the auditorium and a credit of $250 to the board to omit parapet walls between auditorium, gymnasium roofs and fan room roofs.

Grading Discussed

A question of grading the Washington school lot was discussed. The contractor who is required to grade fifteen feet from the building, offered to complete grading for $1,910. The board voted to do this work later. A question was raised as to control of the brook which runs over the school property and the board voted to have a study made of this problem before the property is graded. The city engineer will be asked to look into the condition.

The supplies committee was authorized to seek bids for coal and fuel oil. Approximately 700 tons of pea coal, 460 tons of rice or No. 2 buckwheat and 140,000 gallons of No. 5 fuel oil for the high school and 75,000 gallons of No. 5 fuel oil will be required for the Washington school.

The board approved purchase of a cello from Francis Forde, 12 Alcazar avenue, for $75 for use in the instrumental department.

The board authorized entrance into a contract with Architect Gerard W. Betz for preparation of plans and specifications for a field house to be erected on the high school grounds just south of the school and adjacent to Andrew street. Preliminary plans have already been prepared and submitted to the State Education Department at Albany for approval.

An advanced course in Institutional-On-Farm Training will be offered next fall in the city. The board voted to put this training program into effect since there has been considerable demand for it. This course will follow the present two year preliminary course. Funds are available through the Veterans Administration to pay tuition charges of veterans enrolled.

Committee Reports

A preliminary report was given by Trustee Morgan for the insurance committee on the state of the coverage now in existence on schools and school property. The report was confined to liability insurance and a report of fire and other coverage will be made later. The report in general stated the schools were pretty well covered except for minor adjustments. Additional liability will be taken at a cost of approximately $300.

During the discussion on insurance it was brought out that there is an unusually large number of claims being filed for injuries to students. These claims are being filed almost daily, most of them being of a minor nature and for which no liability on the part of the board exists. However the large number of claims is being reflected in the higher premium rate which the board must pay.

Equipment bids for the Washington school have been received and are being tabulated. Action on this will be taken later.

Superintendent Laidlaw submitted the attendance report showing a total registration of 6,284, 4,995 being in public schools and 1,285 in private schools. There are 3,003 in elementary schools and 1,992 in high school.

A report on Distributive Education was made for the period from July 1, 1950 to January 1, 1951. Total hours worked was 56,676 and the total wages earned by the students $34,228.77. In the Cooperative Office Training program the total hours worked was 3,857 and the total wage earned $2,809.97.

Work Summary

A summary of the Work Experience program of the Business Department of the school was submitted as follows:

Sixty-three business firms of the City of Kingston are cooperating with the business department in providing part-time employment for work-experience credit in the field of retail distribution and office clerical work.

Sixty students were employed in positions granting work-experience credit during the summer vacation period.

At the present time, ninety-three pupils are employed in part-time positions in connection with the work-experience program in the distribution education course.

Fourteen pupils are doing part-time clerical work for work-experience credit in connection with the office training program.

During the summer vacation period, pupils in the work-experience program worked 21,846 hours.

During the period from July 1, 1950 to February 1, 1951, pupils in the work experience program worked 60,533 hours.

A sum of $37,038.74 was earned by pupils engaged in part-time employment for which work-experience credit was granted.

The average hourly wage is 61.18c per hour.

During the Christmas period 105 students were placed in retail establishments in the City of Kingston to assist in handling the Christmas retail trade. This group represented an addition to those pupils regularly employed for work-experience credit.

Since the beginning of the work-experience program in the Business Department in September 1943, students have been employed 471,161 hours for which work-experience credit was granted. These pupils have earned $267,807.69.

At present there are one hundred twenty pupils enrolled in the distributive education program.

In order that we may keep more closely in touch with the graduates of the business department, a follow-up program was introduced in June 1946. By means of this program we are better able to evaluate the business training of our graduates and also we are in a position to assist these students in making the successful adjustment from school to business.

been "completely successful." He listed as targets the El Hamma police station and "a number of fortified positions a few meters inside Syrian territory proper, from where the Israel policemen were fired on and killed."

(A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus said the Arab forces did fire on the eight Israeli planes in the raid and possibly damaged two of them. He said there were no Syrian casualties from the bombing).

Letters to Council

At United Nations headquarters, in New York Abba S. Eban, permanent Israeli representative to the U.N., handed a letter to the Security Council drawing its attention to the border clashes as a matter of urgency.

He described the Syrian actions as "deliberate and flagrant violations of the armistice agreement" of 1948 which followed the Arab-Jewish Palestine war.

Earlier this week, Syria sent a letter to the Security Council charging Israel had violated the armistice by its activities in the demilitarized border zone.

Last night's bombing was the climax of a series of incidents in the zone, occupied by Israel and stretching from the Huleh swamps in the northeast to the Yarmuk valley at the southern end of the Sea of Galilee.

Demilitarized Zone

The 30-mile-long area was made a demilitarized zone between Syria and Israel in the cease-fire agreement of 1948. Though belonging to Israel, it is patrolled jointly by Syrian and Israeli police, serving under U.N. supervision.

The clashes originated with Israel's project to drain the Huleh swamps. The U.N. observers called the project worthy, but urged it be postponed until settlement of disputes with Syrian landowners. Israel ignored this recommendation and continued the work over Syrian objections that, since it involves the sources of the Jordan River, the boundary might be altered.

creek since the department began keeping records in 1903.

Comparison of the rate of flow figures above and below the dam illustrates the "cushioning" effect of a full reservoir. Even though a full reservoir cannot contain flood waters, it has the effect of slowing down the flow so that it is not as rapid as it would be without the reservoir.

Columbia Instructor Dies

New York, April 6 (AP)—Henry Moley, 49, an instructor at Columbia University, died last night in the waiting room of an uptown Manhattan station of the New York Central Railroad (225th street near Broadway, Marble Hill.) Police said he apparently collapsed while waiting for a train. Identification was established through a brother-in-law, Mauck Brammer, of 38 South Highland avenue, Ossining, N. Y. That address also was listed for Moley. An automobile operator's license in a pocket bore Moley's name and an address, 1317 Ninth avenue, Helena, Mont.

Cohen Is Indicted

Los Angeles, April 6 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted gambler Mickey Cohen on charges of income tax evasion. The jury has been going into Cohen's payments in recent years since the U. S. Senate Crime Committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), drew admissions from him that he had borrowed some $300,00 in recent years with practically no security. Cohen said he had no comment. He recently told reporters: "I'm clean (legal). But they'll indict me because the word is out to 'get Mickey Cohen.'"

Queens Man Held For Scheming on Trade Seeking Vets

New York, April 6 (AP)—A scheme to obtain money from veterans who wanted to be printers was "nipped in the bud" yesterday, Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein announced, with the arrest in his office of Stephen R. Farmer, of 39-75 46th street, Sunnyside, Queens, on a charge of grand larceny.

Two veterans complained they gave Farmer $250 each toward purchase of stock as a condition to learning the printing business.

Golstein said swift action by his office stopped the practice before it went any further, although he believed another veteran may also have given Farmer money.

Investigation was started in January on complaint of Murray Becker, of 250 East Gun Hill road, the Bronx, by Assistant Attorney General Philip Kahaner.

Kahaner said Farmer disappeared in the course of the inquiry, ignoring a subpoena, and that he was apprehended when he surrendered in the state building.

Becker said that in answering an advertisement for a printing job he met Farmer, who told him he was looking for young men who wanted to learn the business as apprentices. Farmer said he owned a large printing plant and belonged to the "Typographical Union in good standing," Becker testified.

On Union Blacklist

Kahaner said it was learned subsequently that Farmer leased a printing plant on a weekly basis and was actually on the union's blacklist. Confronted with this information, Farmer disappeared, Becker said.

Kahaner said he also learned that Farmer obtained $250 similarly from George Leitner, of 152 East 35th street, Manhattan. Both men had been given receipts for the money as deposits on subscriptions for the stock in the "Advertype Corporation."

Kahaner declared that Farmer never organized any corporation and that there was no "Advertype Corporation."

The New York County Grand Jury indicted Farmer on six counts of grand larceny in the second degree and he was arraigned in General Sessions Court and held in $1,000 bail.

Killed in Plunge

New York, April 6 (AP)—A man identified through papers in his pockets as Edward Janesch, 45 of 72-27 Caldwell avenue, Maspeth, Queens, was killed last night when he plunged to Wall street from a 23rd floor window of the offices of his firm, Kean, Taylor and Company, brokerage house, at 14 Wall street. Police said a brotherin-law, Daniel Stegner, of 53-02 73rd street, Maspeth, had been notified. No note was found.

Court of Appeals Says Kelly Counsel to Stay

Albany, N. Y., April 5 (AP)—The Court of Appeals denied today a petition by a doomed murderer to have his court-appointed defense counsel removed from the case.

The state's highest court had assigned Whitman Knapp, an assistant New York county district attorney, to handle the appeal of Edward H. Kelly, Shokan, from a first degree murder conviction in Ulster county court.

Kelly, 50, was found guilty last Sept. 29 of shooting Mrs. Eloise McHugh, 44, the mother of four children.

He was sentenced to death last Oct. 2.

Gurevich to Get Chance to Explain

New York, April 6 (AP)—Max Gurevich, accused of swindling more than $750,000 from banking institutions and his own insurance business customers, may get a chance today to tell why he "couldn't live" on a $15,000 yearly income.

The 49-year-old Gurevich, who has a wife and two children, headed the prosperous insurance brokerage firm of Max Gurevich, Inc., at 225 Broadway.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Gurevich told him his swindles extended over an eight-year period because he couldn't live on his legitimate annual income.

Booked on charges of grand larceny and forgery yesterday, Gurevich was released in $25,000 bail for a hearing today in Manhattan Felony Court.

Manner of Operation

Hogan said Gurevich operated in this manner:

Knowing the names of officers and the banking connections of client business firms, he used this information in forging promissory notes made out to himself—purportedly to cover insurance premiums.

Gurevich would discount the notes at banks. When the notes were about due, the broker would redeem them by discounting other forged notes in larger amounts and by drawing against his own account.

Hogan said Gurevich notified the Bankers Trust several days ago that he had a new batch of notes for discounting. The bank, checking the signatures on the already discounted notes with those on signature cards, found they did not match.

Gurevich was arrested when he showed up at the bank yesterday.

Geiger was arrested last week in connection with a series of thefts from lockers in Pennsylvania Station. Police reported they seized much of the loot in his Long Island residence.

Court Says Marrying Widows Should Get Pay

Albany, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—The Court of Appeals holds that a war veteran's widow is entitled to the state's war bonus even though she remarried before the bonus act went into effect.

New York's highest tribunal unanimously upheld yesterday a lower court's denial of an appeal by Joseph Dell Aquila of New York city, who sought his son John's World War 2 bonus of $250.

The state paid the money to the widow, Mrs. Marie C. Cali of New York city, on May 7, 1948.

The father contended she was ineligible because she remarried prior to Jan. 1, 1948, the effective date of the bonus act.

The state said the act did not specifically deny payments to remarried widows.

School Areas May Carry Insurance For Sports Injuries

Albany, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—Governor Dewey approved today legislation permitting school districts to carry liability insurance for pupils injured in physical education classes or sports activities.

The bill authorizes schools anywhere in the state to pay for such insurance with district tax revenues.

At the same time, Dewey, vetoed a bill that would have empowered the New York City Board of Education and the Board of Higher Education to pay medical and hospital expenses of students injured in the schools' athletic activities, or to carry insurance to cover such expenses.

Dewey quoted objections to the measure sent him by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

The mayor pointed out that the state education law now required the city to assume liability for personal injuries sustained by pupils as a result of the negligence of teachers, officers or employes of the city school system.

Authorizes Liability

He said the bill "would authorize the city's educational boards, without the consent of the city's governing body, to assume unlimited liability * * * irrespective of the cause of or responsibility for the injuries claimed, (or) the contributory negligence or misconduct of the student injured."

"This bill would authorize the imposition of an additional burden of expense upon the city without its consent," Impellitteri added.

Dewey disapproved another bill that would have required school districts to assume liability for judgments arising out of the operation of safety patrols, and to carry insurance against such claims.

The law exempts district and school officials from such liability.

Can Raise Coke Prices

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Retail coal dealers today were granted government permission to raise prices of coke made from coal and of briquettes made of bituminous coal and anthracite. Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said the dealers can adjust their ceiling prices on solid fuels to include advances in solid fuel prices and freight charges since the general price freeze order. OPS officials said estimates indicate the order will permit increases of 60 cents a ton on Pennsylvania anthracite briquettes, 25 cents a ton on bituminous coal briquettes, and 40 cents a ton on coke.

Legal Aid Selected

New York, April 6 (AP)—James D. Walsh, a legal aid for the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee during its hearings here has been selected to manage the New York City Anti-crime Committee. Walsh's appointment was announced yesterday by Spruille Braden, former U. S. ambassador to Argentina and head of the city crime committee, a private group. Braden said Walsh was chosen "after the committee had sought out and considered more than 25 top flight men for this position." Walsh assumes offices at once.

Governor Signs Probe Bill To Check Use of Narcotics

Albany, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—Narcotics took the spotlight today among the state's crime investigations.

Governor Dewey signed yesterday a bill ordering a $50,000 inquiry into the cause of the increased use of narcotics, particularly among teen-agers.

The study, to be directed by Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, also will seek "the reason for the present inadequacy of our law-enforcement efforts."

Goldstein will set up a technical staff of investigators, authorized to subpoena witnesses and collect material.

The group is expected to draft remedial measures to submit to the 1952 Legislature. It must report to Dewey and the Legislature by next Jan. 31.

Dewey also signed two bills generally strengthening laws against the narcotics trade.

To Obtain Order

Meanwhile, Special Prosecutor John M. Minton said he will obtain a court order by next Tuesday to call a panel for the special grand jury investigation of any underworld-political tieups in Saratoga county.

Governor Dewey allotted $100,000 for the probe, but the county must reimburse the state. The inquiry is scheduled to begin April 30. Twenty days' notice to prospective jurors is required.

Minton said that "if any political figures" know anything about gambling they will be called to testify.

But political questions "will be subordinated to the question of whether there are any indictable crimes and, if so, who should be indicted," the New York city attorney told reporters.

Outgrowth of Reports

The narcotics legislation was an outgrowth of reports of widespread addiction among teenagers, particularly in New York city.

The study bill, introduced by Republican Senator Seymour Halpern of Queens, authorizes the attorney general to call on the state's inter-departmental health council, the state police, the parole board, the state departments of health, mental hygiene and education, and any other state agency for assistance.

The two bills to stiffen enforcement measures of anti-narcotic measures were recommended by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan of New York (Manhattan) county. Both are effective July 1.

Giver Is Punishable

One measure, introduced by Republican Assemblyman Frank J. McMullen of Brooklyn, provides that a person found guilty of giving a narcotic drug is punishable to the same extent as a person who sells the drug. It also increases the maximum penalty for such an offense from the 10 years in prison to 15 years. The minimum sentence remains at five years in cases where the recipient of the drug is under 21 years of age, and at two years where the receiver is 21 or more.

The second bill was introduced by Republican Anthony P. Savarese, Jr. of Kew Gardens. It provides that illicit possession of more than a specified amount of certain narcotic drugs is a felony, punishable by imprisonment for an indeterminate term from two to 10 years.

For instance, the offense might be possession of a preparation containing an aggregate weight of one quarter ounce or more of heroin, morphine or cocaine.

"The amounts specified in this section are sufficiently large so that persons convicted under it will in almost all cases be sellers rather than mere users," Dewey said.

Green Snap Bean Is Best Choice

The gardener can choose the type of bean he likes best. There are yellow beans and green beans, pole beans and bush beans, lima beans and butter beans and then just beans which will make chili or which can be baked. Any good seed catalogue will give a generous selection.

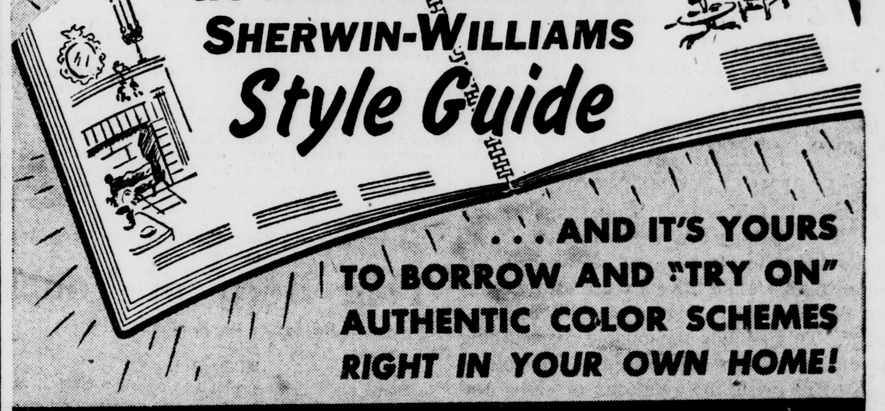

For food value the green snap bean is the best choice. Plant the seeds about three-fourths of an inch deep in rows and 2 inches between plants. The rows should be two feet apart. Keep the soil well cultivated. You will have your green beans in about 45 days.

The chief problem is insect pests. These you can control with an all-purpose vegetable dust applied at the first sign of the bean beetle, which eats holes in the leaf.

Follow your first planting of snap beans with another row 10 days later. A row 20 feet in length will feed a family of four. Several short rows will give you better results and a supply of fresher beans.

Queens Man Held For Scheming on Trade Seeking Vets

New York, April 6 (AP)—A scheme to obtain money from veterans who wanted to be printers was "nipped in the bud" yesterday, Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein announced, with the arrest in his office of Stephen R. Farmer, of 39-75 46th street, Sunnyside, Queens, on a charge of grand larceny.

Two veterans complained they gave Farmer $250 each toward purchase of stock as a condition to learning the printing business.

Golstein said swift action by his office stopped the practice before it went any further, although he believed another veteran may also have given Farmer money.

Investigation was started in January on complaint of Murray Becker, of 250 East Gun Hill road, the Bronx, by Assistant Attorney General Philip Kahaner.

Kahaner said Farmer disappeared in the course of the inquiry, ignoring a subpoena, and that he was apprehended when he surrendered in the state building.

Becker said that in answering an advertisement for a printing job he met Farmer, who told him he was looking for young men who wanted to learn the business as apprentices. Farmer said he owned a large printing plant and belonged to the "Typographical Union in good standing," Becker testified.

On Union Blacklist

Kahaner said it was learned subsequently that Farmer leased a printing plant on a weekly basis and was actually on the union's blacklist. Confronted with this information, Farmer disappeared, Becker said.

Kahaner said he also learned that Farmer obtained $250 similarly from George Leitner, of 152 East 35th street, Manhattan. Both men had been given receipts for the money as deposits on subscriptions for the stock in the "Advertype Corporation."

Kahaner declared that Farmer never organized any corporation and that there was no "Advertype Corporation."

The New York County Grand Jury indicted Farmer on six counts of grand larceny in the second degree and he was arraigned in General Sessions Court and held in $1,000 bail.

Killed in Plunge

New York, April 6 (AP)—A man identified through papers in his pockets as Edward Janesch, 45 of 72-27 Caldwell avenue, Maspeth, Queens, was killed last night when he plunged to Wall street from a 23rd floor window of the offices of his firm, Kean, Taylor and Company, brokerage house, at 14 Wall street. Police said a brotherin-law, Daniel Stegner, of 53-02 73rd street, Maspeth, had been notified. No note was found.

Court of Appeals Says Kelly Counsel to Stay

Albany, N. Y., April 5 (AP)—The Court of Appeals denied today a petition by a doomed murderer to have his court-appointed defense counsel removed from the case.

The state's highest court had assigned Whitman Knapp, an assistant New York county district attorney, to handle the appeal of Edward H. Kelly, Shokan, from a first degree murder conviction in Ulster county court.

Kelly, 50, was found guilty last Sept. 29 of shooting Mrs. Eloise McHugh, 44, the mother of four children.

He was sentenced to death last Oct. 2.

Gurevich to Get Chance to Explain

New York, April 6 (AP)—Max Gurevich, accused of swindling more than $750,000 from banking institutions and his own insurance business customers, may get a chance today to tell why he "couldn't live" on a $15,000 yearly income.

The 49-year-old Gurevich, who has a wife and two children, headed the prosperous insurance brokerage firm of Max Gurevich, Inc., at 225 Broadway.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Gurevich told him his swindles extended over an eight-year period because he couldn't live on his legitimate annual income.

Booked on charges of grand larceny and forgery yesterday, Gurevich was released in $25,000 bail for a hearing today in Manhattan Felony Court.

Manner of Operation

Hogan said Gurevich operated in this manner:

Knowing the names of officers and the banking connections of client business firms, he used this information in forging promissory notes made out to himself—purportedly to cover insurance premiums.

Gurevich would discount the notes at banks. When the notes were about due, the broker would redeem them by discounting other forged notes in larger amounts and by drawing against his own account.

Hogan said Gurevich notified the Bankers Trust several days ago that he had a new batch of notes for discounting. The bank, checking the signatures on the already discounted notes with those on signature cards, found they did not match.

Gurevich was arrested when he showed up at the bank yesterday.

He said the bill "would authorize the city's educational boards, without the consent of the city's governing body, to assume unlimited liability * * * irrespective of the cause of or responsibility for the injuries claimed, (or) the contributory negligence or misconduct of the student injured."

"This bill would authorize the imposition of an additional burden of expense upon the city without its consent," Impellitteri added.

Dewey disapproved another bill that would have required school districts to assume liability for judgments arising out of the operation of safety patrols, and to carry insurance against such claims.

The law exempts district and school officials from such liability.

Queens Man Held For Scheming on Trade Seeking Vets

New York, April 6 (AP)—A scheme to obtain money from veterans who wanted to be printers was "nipped in the bud" yesterday, Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein announced, with the arrest in his office of Stephen R. Farmer, of 39-75 46th street, Sunnyside, Queens, on a charge of grand larceny.

Two veterans complained they gave Farmer $250 each toward purchase of stock as a condition to learning the printing business.

Golstein said swift action by his office stopped the practice before it went any further, although he believed another veteran may also have given Farmer money.

Investigation was started in January on complaint of Murray Becker, of 250 East Gun Hill road, the Bronx, by Assistant Attorney General Philip Kahaner.

Kahaner said Farmer disappeared in the course of the inquiry, ignoring a subpoena, and that he was apprehended when he surrendered in the state building.

Becker said that in answering an advertisement for a printing job he met Farmer, who told him he was looking for young men who wanted to learn the business as apprentices. Farmer said he owned a large printing plant and belonged to the "Typographical Union in good standing," Becker testified.

On Union Blacklist

Kahaner said it was learned subsequently that Farmer leased a printing plant on a weekly basis and was actually on the union's blacklist. Confronted with this information, Farmer disappeared, Becker said.

Kahaner said he also learned that Farmer obtained $250 similarly from George Leitner, of 152 East 35th street, Manhattan. Both men had been given receipts for the money as deposits on subscriptions for the stock in the "Advertype Corporation."

Kahaner declared that Farmer never organized any corporation and that there was no "Advertype Corporation."

The New York County Grand Jury indicted Farmer on six counts of grand larceny in the second degree and he was arraigned in General Sessions Court and held in $1,000 bail.

Killed in Plunge

New York, April 6 (AP)—A man identified through papers in his pockets as Edward Janesch, 45 of 72-27 Caldwell avenue, Maspeth, Queens, was killed last night when he plunged to Wall street from a 23rd floor window of the offices of his firm, Kean, Taylor and Company, brokerage house, at 14 Wall street. Police said a brotherin-law, Daniel Stegner, of 53-02 73rd street, Maspeth, had been notified. No note was found.

Court of Appeals Says Kelly Counsel to Stay

Albany, N. Y., April 5 (AP)—The Court of Appeals denied today a petition by a doomed murderer to have his court-appointed defense counsel removed from the case.

The state's highest court had assigned Whitman Knapp, an assistant New York county district attorney, to handle the appeal of Edward H. Kelly, Shokan, from a first degree murder conviction in Ulster county court.

Kelly, 50, was found guilty last Sept. 29 of shooting Mrs. Eloise McHugh, 44, the mother of four children.

He was sentenced to death last Oct. 2.

Gurevich to Get Chance to Explain

New York, April 6 (AP)—Max Gurevich, accused of swindling more than $750,000 from banking institutions and his own insurance business customers, may get a chance today to tell why he "couldn't live" on a $15,000 yearly income.

The 49-year-old Gurevich, who has a wife and two children, headed the prosperous insurance brokerage firm of Max Gurevich, Inc., at 225 Broadway.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Gurevich told him his swindles extended over an eight-year period because he couldn't live on his legitimate annual income.

Booked on charges of grand larceny and forgery yesterday, Gurevich was released in $25,000 bail for a hearing today in Manhattan Felony Court.

Manner of Operation

Hogan said Gurevich operated in this manner:

Knowing the names of officers and the banking connections of client business firms, he used this information in forging promissory notes made out to himself—purportedly to cover insurance premiums.

Gurevich would discount the notes at banks. When the notes were about due, the broker would redeem them by discounting other forged notes in larger amounts and by drawing against his own account.

Hogan said Gurevich notified the Bankers Trust several days ago that he had a new batch of notes for discounting. The bank, checking the signatures on the already discounted notes with those on signature cards, found they did not match.

Gurevich was arrested when he showed up at the bank yesterday.

Held on Three Charges

New York, April 6 (AP)—George Geiger, 43, of 17 Northsea Road, Southampton, N. Y., was held without bail yesterday by Magistrate Ambrose J. Haddock in felony court pending grand jury action on charges of possession of burglar tools, illegal possession of narcotics and grand larceny. Geiger was arrested last week in connection with a series of thefts from lockers in Pennsylvania Station. Police reported they seized much of the loot in his Long Island residence.

Court Says Marrying Widows Should Get Pay

Albany, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—The Court of Appeals holds that a war veteran's widow is entitled to the state's war bonus even though she remarried before the bonus act went into effect.

New York's highest tribunal unanimously upheld yesterday a lower court's denial of an appeal by Joseph Dell Aquila of New York city, who sought his son John's World War 2 bonus of $250.

The state paid the money to the widow, Mrs. Marie C. Cali of New York city, on May 7, 1948.

The father contended she was ineligible because she remarried prior to Jan. 1, 1948, the effective date of the bonus act.

The state said the act did not specifically deny payments to remarried widows.

School Areas May Carry Insurance For Sports Injuries

Albany, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—Governor Dewey approved today legislation permitting school districts to carry liability insurance for pupils injured in physical education classes or sports activities.

The bill authorizes schools anywhere in the state to pay for such insurance with district tax revenues.

At the same time, Dewey, vetoed a bill that would have empowered the New York City Board of Education and the Board of Higher Education to pay medical and hospital expenses of students injured in the schools' athletic activities, or to carry insurance to cover such expenses.

Dewey quoted objections to the measure sent him by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

The mayor pointed out that the state education law now required the city to assume liability for personal injuries sustained by pupils as a result of the negligence of teachers, officers or employes of the city school system.

Authorizes Liability

He said the bill "would authorize the city's educational boards, without the consent of the city's governing body, to assume unlimited liability * * * irrespective of the cause of or responsibility for the injuries claimed, (or) the contributory negligence or misconduct of the student injured."

"This bill would authorize the imposition of an additional burden of expense upon the city without its consent," Impellitteri added.

Dewey disapproved another bill that would have required school districts to assume liability for judgments arising out of the operation of safety patrols, and to carry insurance against such claims.

The law exempts district and school officials from such liability.

Can Raise Coke Prices

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Retail coal dealers today were granted government permission to raise prices of coke made from coal and of briquettes made of bituminous coal and anthracite. Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said the dealers can adjust their ceiling prices on solid fuels to include advances in solid fuel prices and freight charges since the general price freeze order. OPS officials said estimates indicate the order will permit increases of 60 cents a ton on Pennsylvania anthracite briquettes, 25 cents a ton on bituminous coal briquettes, and 40 cents a ton on coke.

Legal Aid Selected

New York, April 6 (AP)—James D. Walsh, a legal aid for the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee during its hearings here has been selected to manage the New York City Anti-crime Committee. Walsh's appointment was announced yesterday by Spruille Braden, former U. S. ambassador to Argentina and head of the city crime committee, a private group. Braden said Walsh was chosen "after the committee had sought out and considered more than 25 top flight men for this position." Walsh assumes offices at once.

Governor Signs Probe Bill To Check Use of Narcotics

Albany, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—Narcotics took the spotlight today among the state's crime investigations.

Governor Dewey signed yesterday a bill ordering a $50,000 inquiry into the cause of the increased use of narcotics, particularly among teen-agers.

The study, to be directed by Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, also will seek "the reason for the present inadequacy of our law-enforcement efforts."

Goldstein will set up a technical staff of investigators, authorized to subpoena witnesses and collect material.

The group is expected to draft remedial measures to submit to the 1952 Legislature. It must report to Dewey and the Legislature by next Jan. 31.

Dewey also signed two bills generally strengthening laws against the narcotics trade.

To Obtain Order

Meanwhile, Special Prosecutor John M. Minton said he will obtain a court order by next Tuesday to call a panel for the special grand jury investigation of any underworld-political tieups in Saratoga county.

Governor Dewey allotted $100,000 for the probe, but the county must reimburse the state. The inquiry is scheduled to begin April 30. Twenty days' notice to prospective jurors is required.

Minton said that "if any political figures" know anything about gambling they will be called to testify.

But political questions "will be subordinated to the question of whether there are any indictable crimes and, if so, who should be indicted," the New York city attorney told reporters.

Outgrowth of Reports

The narcotics legislation was an outgrowth of reports of widespread addiction among teenagers, particularly in New York city.

The study bill, introduced by Republican Senator Seymour Halpern of Queens, authorizes the attorney general to call on the state's inter-departmental health council, the state police, the parole board, the state departments of health, mental hygiene and education, and any other state agency for assistance.

The two bills to stiffen enforcement measures of anti-narcotic measures were recommended by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan of New York (Manhattan) county. Both are effective July 1.

Giver Is Punishable

One measure, introduced by Republican Assemblyman Frank J. McMullen of Brooklyn, provides that a person found guilty of giving a narcotic drug is punishable to the same extent as a person who sells the drug. It also increases the maximum penalty for such an offense from the 10 years in prison to 15 years. The minimum sentence remains at five years in cases where the recipient of the drug is under 21 years of age, and at two years where the receiver is 21 or more.

The second bill was introduced by Republican Anthony P. Savarese, Jr. of Kew Gardens. It provides that illicit possession of more than a specified amount of certain narcotic drugs is a felony, punishable by imprisonment for an indeterminate term from two to 10 years.

For instance, the offense might be possession of a preparation containing an aggregate weight of one quarter ounce or more of heroin, morphine or cocaine.

"The amounts specified in this section are sufficiently large so that persons convicted under it will in almost all cases be sellers rather than mere users," Dewey said.

Cows Can Eat Sawdust

Schenectady, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—Feed sawdust to cows? Certainly, if you treat it with electrons, says General Electric scientists. Tests have shown that sawdust subjected to irradiation with high-voltage electrons, or cathode rays, makes the pure cellulose in the sawdust digestible for cows.

Green Snap Bean Is Best Choice

The gardener can choose the type of bean he likes best. There are yellow beans and green beans, pole beans and bush beans, lima beans and butter beans and then just beans which will make chili or which can be baked. Any good seed catalogue will give a generous selection.

For food value the green snap bean is the best choice. Plant the seeds about three-fourths of an inch deep in rows and 2 inches between plants. The rows should be two feet apart. Keep the soil well cultivated. You will have your green beans in about 45 days.

The chief problem is insect pests. These you can control with an all-purpose vegetable dust applied at the first sign of the bean beetle, which eats holes in the leaf.

Follow your first planting of snap beans with another row 10 days later. A row 20 feet in length will feed a family of four. Several short rows will give you better results and a supply of fresher beans.

ANOTHER SUCCESS FOR LIONS

Orchids to the Kingston Lions Club for its successful promotion again of Kingston Industrial Area on Parade.

The annual event at the New York State Armory, Manor avenue, is drawing overflow crowds every night, and everybody goes away praising the organization for a marvelous show.

The displays interest all who attend, men, women and children, and it's a sure bet that exhibitors will be repaid many times over for their efforts and expenditures.

Whether you are interested in bricks for a new home, appliances of all sorts for the household, a new car, foodstuffs or other items incidental to daily life, you'll find them at the Lions' exposition.

And the show is entertaining as well as educational, with a score of television sets bringing in popular programs, and a special stage show with various features to please those of all ages.

From the angle of creating interest in Kingston, the big Army searchlight that casts its beam across the skies every night is an important factor. Rural residents for miles around are reminded by it that the exposition is on and they motor here to see what local merchants have to offer shoppers.

Members of the Lions, who arranged the exposition, may feel assured that when it is over this year's show will go down in the annals of the club as one of its most successful promotions.

BASEBALL COMMISSIONER

Freddy Hutchinson is spokesman for an idea. The pitching ace of the Detroit Tigers argues that the players, and not merely the club owners, should have a voice in the selection of the major league baseball commissioner. This sounds reasonable, considering that most of the commissioner's problems have to do with the relations of clubs and players, such as interpretations of the reserve rule and bonuses for signing.

The club owners have not always impressed followers of the game favorably. Kept in order by the late Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, they tended to break away from Commissioner Albert B. Chandler. Though some prominent persons have been mentioned as Chandler's successor, the impression has gone abroad that the owners are looking for a puppet who will not interfere with them. If the players had a say in choosing him, it might be salutary.

DEFENSE FOR A CITY

Bomb shelters are not the most immediate need in case of an atomic attack, says the veteran public official of New York City, Robert Moses, who is now serving as city construction coordinator. "The notion that a long-range defense construction program should confine itself to digging holes in the ground, into which people scurry like rabbits when an alarm sounds, is nonsense," he says.

More important is traffic relief. Suppose a bomb were dropped on the average city. So congested are the streets that in a city-wide emergency police and fire vehicles could not get through. Moses thinks there should be expressways to speed traffic, and a great increase in off-street parking facilities. Hospitals, health, police and fire stations should be enlarged.

Are our local defense committees considering matters like these?

OVERWHELMING KINDNESS

A six-year-old boy in a Michigan village was dying. His parents were anxious to help him to while away his last days by having him receive cards of good wishes, and their desire was reported to the nation. The result was that in two or three weeks the parents reported the receipt of 250,000 cards and 6,000 packages, causing them to ask the senders to stop. They reckoned that it would take the youngster a year merely to open his accumulated mail.

The excitement has enabled him to gain two pounds, and to improve in color and appetite.

This particular good cause was unusually well publicized. It proves what an immense amount of kindness is possessed by the average man and woman.

All work and no play can easily lead to a state of mind and body in which neither will ever be enjoyed again.

The risky part in hitting a man when he is down is the possibility that he might get back up.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE POOR INDIAN

Every day there is something new to discover in the United States. This country is so big and varied, and in each section the people are so different.

The other day I was in Tucson, Arizona, and I went to the Rotary Club there to listen to the chief of the Papagos deliver one of the most eloquent speeches that I had ever heard. His name is Thomas A. Segundo and he is so obviously a leader of men that were he not an Indian—a ward of the Department of the Interior—he could have been a member of Congress without any loss to that august body.

What struck me so closely is that we, who are so eager to aid every nation on earth, do practically nothing for those from whom we have taken this country; that we violate our treaties with them; and that there are bills in Congress, at the present moment, designed to rob them, to steal their lands, and to deprive them of the few benefits remaining to them. Perhaps we need a point four program for the American Indian right here at home.

Millions, if not billions of dollars, have been spent by the American taxpayer on the Indian bureau, but there is little evidence to show benefits to the Indian from these expenditures. In fact, it would seem, from the results, that the design of the bureau has been to make the Indian more dependent upon the bureaucrats. The Papagos, for instance, can report that they have fewer schools and hospitalization facilities than 10 years ago.

Most Americans might look at the figure of 2,855,021 acres that the Papagos have as a reservation, and assume that they are land rich. But Arizona is an arid country, its desert lands being among the least productive in the United States. I am told that in many parts of the west, the Indian reservations are on bad lands, where living is difficult unless oil or minerals are found and the Indians are not robbed. We know too little about these people whom we conquered. We, who have the advantage of living here, owe them, at least, the debt of fair treatment.

I have, on several occasions, in these pieces, called attention to the facts that the so-called pigmented peoples of the world, in Europe, Asia and Africa, distrust the United States more than they do Soviet Russia. The reason is that they are more offended by our social attitude toward the pigmented people in our midst. Soviet Russia has taken full advantage of this and has conducted a long and successful propaganda against this country on the basis of what they call "white supremacy."

While not accepting the Russian version of our social position, I cannot deny that they have presented a picture which Chinese, Indians, Iranians, Pakistani, and all the peoples of Africa accept as true. In Korea, many of our major difficulties have arisen from the belief that all Americans hate and like to kill those who are not white.

This presents a serious problem for a nation which is seeking allies among these very peoples. Certainly our treatment of the American Indian confirms the suspicion of unfairness. Even if we cannot be responsible for what our ancestors did, we must avoid doing more of the same, and if we do not behave decently for the sake of the American Indian, we might from the standpoint of national self-interest.

I was told that some of the most outrageous bills introduced in Congress are designed to rob the Indian of his lands in the interest of oil companies which know of oil deposits beneath the soil.

It would be advantageous to the United States to give the Indian a square deal, to make him an independent American citizen, and to protect him in his economic rights. We have taken a good country from him. We have treated other peoples whom we have conquered, the Cubans, the Filipinos, the Japanese and the Germans, with fairness. We can treat the Indians with fairness and justice.

Money wasted by a Washington bureau does not always indicate benefits to those who require them. Perhaps if we consulted the American Indians, they might come up with a better program than we have yet seen.

That Body of Yours

TONSILS

Some physicians are of the opiniion that it is a mistake for mothers to have a clinical thermometer at hand. They are apt to use it on the slightest occasion, causing worry to themselves if the temperature of the child is up 1 to 2 degrees, and worry to the physician as well, who knows he must relieve the mother's mind, although a rise of temperature from a stomach upset is really a normal condition. If any ailment were present and there were rise in temperature to fight the ailment, it would then be a more serious matter. Of course, temperature must be reduced when it reaches a dangerous height.

What many of us, including mothers, forget is that Nature tries to prevent infection entering the body and blood in various ways. One of these ways is by the presence of the tonsils in the throat, which act as a filter in removing harmful organisms before these organisms get into the blood. In addition to the tonsils in the throat proper, there are other masses of lymphoid cells that are called tonsils or adenoids near entrance to eustachian tubes, which carry air to inner side of ear and drum and also the linguinal tonsils over lower end of tongue. If these various masses of lymphoid tissue are not required to do too much work in preventing harmful organisms entering the system, the individual goes along in a healthy state until he is well past the age of children's diseases (scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough). Then the tonsils gradually disappear. However, when there is considerable infection about and these masses of lymphoid tissue (filters) are unable to keep the blood clear of organisms, and many of these organisms remain in the tonsils.

When harmful organisms are present in the tonsil tissue, instead of filtering, they are actually pouring infection into the blood, just as a filter on a faucet holds harmful substances, some of which get into the water that we drink.

The lesson from the above is that tonsils were placed in the throat to filter out harmful organisms from the blood and as long as they are doing their work they should be allowed to remain in the throat until the age of puberty (12 to 14 in girls, 14 to 16 in boys.) After this time or even before puberty, if the individual has frequent sore throats or attacks of tonsillitis, the tonsils should be removed as they are no longer filters, but actual sources of infection, which so often results in the rheumatic fever that may bring on heart disease.

A Peculiar Place in Which to Choose to Live

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The questions I have heard most frequently since returning from Europe are: "What do they think of us abroad? Why don't they like us better?"

The questions are important. Because, while we have poured billions into Europe, first to win a war, then to feed Europe after the war, later to reconstruct it, now to rearm it, the fact remains that we are not popular.

To some degree our popularity can be measured by the distance of each country from the iron curtain. In Turkey, Yugoslavia, Berlin—all cheek-and-jowl with the iron curtain—we are popular. But as you travel west away from Russia, fear lessens, and so does our popularity.

In western Europe, however, if you get away from the newspaper comment, away from the cartoons and the sophisticated drawing-room conversations, you will find a lot of genuine friendship for Americans among the real people of such countries as France. It comes out in little ways—such as an automobile mechanic who refuses to be paid for helping an American automobilist in the French countryside, or the quiet tearing-down of Communist posters denouncing Eisenhower.

It is in England, a country with no language barrier and our strongest cultural tie, where we most need to build up our popularity fences. For in no other country is there more gibing at the United States.

Why the Gibes?

There are several reasons for this, most of them easy to understand:

Reason No. 1 — The United States has replaced Britain as the dominant world power, and no nation is ever popular when the former No. 1 nation starts playing No. 2.

Reason No. 2—The U.S.A. has been put in the light of wanting war and of pushing Europe into war. While this is not true, nevertheless the statements of certain irresponsible senators and generals, such as Gen. Orvil Anderson (relieved at Montgomery, Ala.), favoring a preventive war, have the British scared. They are afraid that, by being the tail on the American kite, they will find themselves flipped into war without having any chance to pause or argue.

Reason No. 3—The British have tightened their belts to such an extent that their meat ration is now no greater than during the war—eight pence a week. In contrast they can't help watching a wealthy, unrationed U.S.A. Naturally they are jealous.

..British meat-rationing, incidentally, is not because the British can't get meat, but because meat costs precious dollar exchange. And the Labor government is making heroic efforts to cut out luxury imports and stabilize its trade balance.

..Reason No. 4—Is differences with the U. S. A. over China and General MacArthur. While you find criticism of MacArthur all over Europe, it reaches a white heat in England. There he is sometimes called "the first satrap of the American empire." MacArthur, to the British, is an advance warning of what would happen in any allied war. An American general, they fear, would dominate a weak White House and likewise the fate of Britain.

Furthermore there is grave misgiving that MacArthur is trying to spread the Korean war to China for the purpose of expanding his own power. No matter how unjustified this misgiving, it is deep—and a serious factor in our relations with our hitherto understanding ally.

Anglo-U.S. Spokesmen Needed

The above reasons are basic and cannot be changed easily. But there are other public-opinion factors which could be changed overnight, if responsible people at the top worked at them. Here are two examples:

1. Admiral W. F. Fechteler—The storm of British resentment over the appointment of this American admiral to command the Atlantic fleet under the North Atlantic pact could easily have been avoided by Prime Minister Attlee himself. Real fact was that he was poorly informed.

When Winston Churchill upbraided Attlee on the floor of Commons for permitting Admiral Fechteler's appointment, Attlee apparently did not know, certainly did not reply, that a British commander would take over all fleet operations around British waters, the North Sea, and in the eastern part of the Atlantic. If this had been announced, there would have been no real criticism by the British public. What the British people objected to was the erroneous idea that an American admiral would command the fleet in waters immediately adjacent to the British isles.

All that was needed to clarify this point was a good public-relations expert, but apparently none was on hand.

2. Canned Mexican Meat—The British government's purchase of U. S. surplus beef, from Mexican cattle butchered under the hoof-and-mouth disease program, also stirred up a lot of unnecessary ill will.

The British press and people got the idea that Uncle Sam was casting off this supposedly "tainted" meat as a bone to his poor relatives in Britain. The meat was going to Britain, according to the British press, because Americans considered it unfit for human consumption.

Real fact, however, was that this canned meat from Mexico was far more sanitary and less diseased than the chilled and frozen beef Britain has long imported from Argentina. For fresh Argentine beef, even when chilled or frozen, has been shown to remain contaminated. On the other hand, canned beef, having been cooked and no longer contaminated, is admitted even to the United States from hoof-and-mouth diseased areas.

Actually there was nothing wrong with the Mexican beef, canned by the United States and stored in Oklahoma—except one thing. It was cooked with gravy. The American housewife, when buying canned meat, likes it without gravy; so this batch of meat was sold by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to the British instead.

Incidentally it was sold at a bargain price, but abuse was heaped on the United States just the same.

This was another case where a dozen words of clarification by the American ambassador or a member of the British cabinet would have prevented a lot of ill will with an old and traditional friend, with whom we cannot afford to have ill will.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

April 6, 1931—Five area brick yards were closed by a strike.

The annual Benedictine Hospital charity ball was held at the state armory.

Mrs. Charles J. Myers died at her Hasbrouck avenue home.

The health board reported a new case of smallpox adding to a mild outbreak here which had been considered on the wane.

Gladys Isabelle Wheeler and Charles Clark Brodhead were married at the Wurts Street Baptist Church by the Rev. Charles B. Smith.

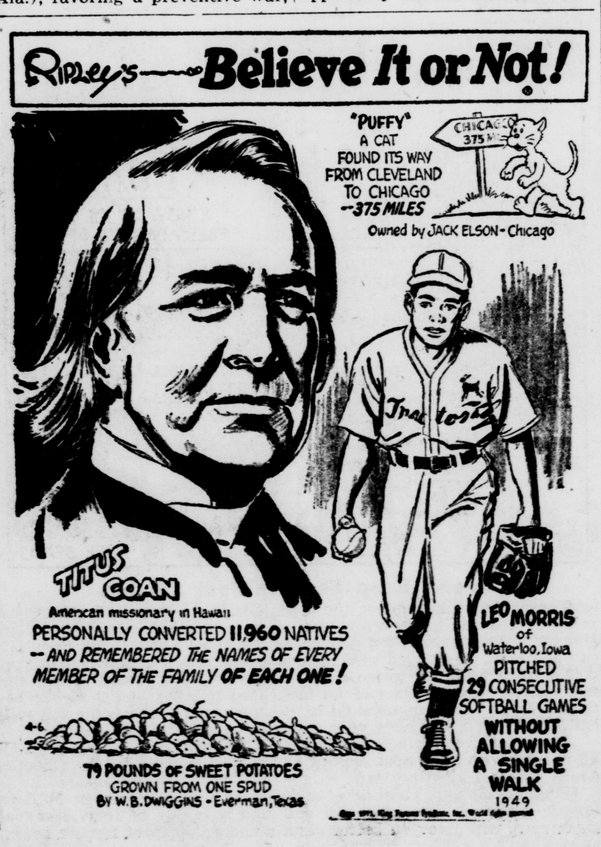

April 6, 1941—The annual communion breakfast of the Federation of Men's Clubs of Ulster county was attended by 450 men.

Mrs. Violet Miller, of Stone Ridge, died at New Brunswick, N. J.

John C. Blawis, who had operated a farm at St. Remy for many years, died at his home.

School Helps Traffic

Prague, (AP)—If you cross the street against a red light in downtown Prague, the policeman on the corner may send you to Sunday school. You will hear nothing in this school about the Bible and the Ten Commandments. You will hear a great deal about safety-first rules and traffic regulations. The Sunday school will be in a police station on a Sunday morning and will last about two hours.

Today in Washington

Issue of Conscription Is Debated Again; This Time It Is Confused

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 6—Thirty-four years ago this week the United States entered World War 1, and President Wilson shocked Congress by his message demanding conscription and the use of "force without stint." But he got overwhelming support at once from both political parties in Congress.

Today the issue of conscription is debated again, but this time the councils in both political parties are confused. There are Republicans and Democrats who haven't wanted to send any more troops to Europe, and there are members of Congress from both parties who would like to see our forces brought back from Korea, too, and to have all our effort concentrated in defending territorial United States.

In the middle of all this comes a rather emphatic statement from the Republican leader in the House of Representatives, Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, who demands to know why the armed forces of China on Formosa are not being used to open a second Asiatic front against the Communist. The Formosa armies owe allegiance to President Chiang Kai-shek of the government of China which is still recognized by us and by the United Nations as the legitimate government of the Chinese republic.

It is, however, by the order of the United States government that the Nationalist forces on Formosa are not permitted to land on the Chinese mainland. This was ordered last June at a time when the American government hoped to localize the conflict in Korea and keep the war confined to a battle between the North and South Koreans.

Since that time, on the other hand, the Communists of China have entered the fray. They have enjoyed immunity from attack on their Manchurian bases, from which come airplanes and armies regularly to attack the United Nations forces in Korea. America has already suffered a large list of casualties.

"Why, in God's name," shouts Representative Martin, "aren't the forces of Chiang Kai-shek being used?" The minority leader then produces a letter from General MacArthur, the U.N. commander in chief in Korea, who says there is no conflict of "logic or tradition" in using the troops of the Nationalist government.

The two words—"logic" and "tradition"—have lots of meaning in this connection. It is logical from a military viewpoint for the Nationalists to be encouraged to open a second front on China's mainland and thus draw Communist troops away from the Korean battle area.

It is traditional, too, for the United States government to assist a recognized government which requests military aid. The precedent had been established in Greece and in many other countries even before the Truman Doctrine was announced in 1947.

The problem of using the Nationalist forces has been up again and again here. The Department of State has counseled against it on the theory that the Nationalists are not strong enough or that they would require American aid which would amount to intervention by us on the mainland of China and that this would assuredly bring Russia into the war.

General MacArthur evidently has heard these arguments and is not persuaded by them. He thinks apparently that the diplomats have been bluffed into a timid state and that Russia, conscious of the weakness of the diplomats and their fears, is moving ahead aggressively to help the Chinese Communists in Korea anyway. General MacArthur has a right, of course, to testify before Congress and answer any questions its members may ask. In his reply to Representative Martin he says forthrightly that global war has begun in Asia and that this is the place to meet the challenge.

"Here in Korea," he writes, "we fight Europe's war with arms while the diplomats there still fight it with words."

The reference undoubtedly is not to American diplomats but to European diplomats, so many of whom have been criticizing MacArthur and trying recently to hamstring him by declaring that he wants to make war on China. In truth, MacArthur realistically points out that the Chinese Communists have made war upon us and that the only question to be answered is whether America will meet the challenge or let her own troops in Korea be chewed up as a consequence of a limited strategy and a refusal to use "force without stint."

BABSON on BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., April 6—For some time, I have been advising my readers who live in large cities to have—as insurance—a small house with enough land to feed one's family and far enough away from the large city to be safe in case of World War III. I am not recommending farming as a small business, as it is fast becoming a "big business" operation. It is very difficult for an inexperienced person, without much capital, to compete with big farmers. As insurance, however, I believe such a small place in the country is the cheapest, safest and most sensible insurance a family can buy, after being insured against fire.

Being Smug Will Not Pay

I am now getting letters from readers saying—"We already have a house to which we can flee in an emergency. Hence, we are okay whatever happens." This week I wish to remind such readers that they have forgotten the "refugee problem." It is very possible that when you reach your "hide-away," you will find it already occupied by others who have fled from a large city and—by permission of the Red Cross or some state official—have already taken possession. The rule may be that the first refugees who reach an unoccupied house—or an occupied house with empty rooms—can take possession, whoever the owner may be.

Hence, it is important that we (who think we are well provided with a safe refuge) should wake up and do something now, to prepare for an abrupt surprise! This applies not only to those who are planning to flee to a summer place in the country, but also to those who now live smugly in the quiet suburbs of some city which may be bombed. Such houses will be occupied by strangers if we leave them vacant—while we must share them with strangers if we remain in them. In case of enemy bombing, refugees will be given any empty beds whenever needed.

"What shall we home owners do?" you ask. Let me reply that our future safety depends upon getting interested now in helping the other fellow. If a city within 75 miles is bombed, only those who are truly unselfishly interested in helping the refugees will save their own homes, whether in a city suburb or in a little farm or village. This means we should now become an active Red Cross or refugee worker. We should now study first-aid nursing and emergency diet. We should now definitely plan to take strange people into our homes either in entirety or in part, in case of need. If we have a barn or garage or empty building, we should now fix it up for refugees. Our personal safety will then depend not upon how much money we have, but how much we are doing for other people who have lost everything. Only our generosity will save us. Smugness and the feeling that we will get preferential treatment because of our houses, our money, our social standing or our political pull could land us in a concentration camp.

Cease Being an "Anti"

It is very important that we at once quit being an "anti" and now train ourselves and our children to care and share with others. It seems as if everyone with whom I talk is "anti-something." Some families are anit-Jewish, others anti-Negroes, others anti-Catholics and others anti-Protestants, or anti-labor or anti-capital! Then, I find one family is anti-Truman and the family next door is anti-Taft, or anti-something else. Some are for World Federation, in which I believe, and others laugh at me. To save our own necks we must forget this "anti-stuff and remember Jesus' profound statement: "If we are to save our lives we must be willing to lose our lives."

All of us are more or less "anti" on our foreign policy,—whether to follow Hoover or Dewey, or Acheson. I especially wish the United Nations could quit its childish debating about "who cast the first stone." It should unite on some constructive policy of providing all countries with their just peace needs of oil, food and other necessary raw materials. This is the only way War III can be prevented. Our hope and safety lies not with more bombers, more ships and more ground troops but in assuring the world of the FOUR FREEDOMS which we offered them nearly ten years ago. But, in the meantime, let all of us plan something for the refugees in case some city near us is bombed.

Questions — Answers

Q—When was the Army Nurse Corps organized?

A—During the Spanish-American War, the government hired its first professional nurses for the army. That actually was the start of the Army Nurse Corps although it was not until Feb. 2, 1901, that Congress adopted the legislation that established the corps as an authorized part of the military.

ANOTHER SUCCESS FOR LIONS

Orchids to the Kingston Lions Club for its successful promotion again of Kingston Industrial Area on Parade.

The annual event at the New York State Armory, Manor avenue, is drawing overflow crowds every night, and everybody goes away praising the organization for a marvelous show.

The displays interest all who attend, men, women and children, and it's a sure bet that exhibitors will be repaid many times over for their efforts and expenditures.

Whether you are interested in bricks for a new home, appliances of all sorts for the household, a new car, foodstuffs or other items incidental to daily life, you'll find them at the Lions' exposition.

And the show is entertaining as well as educational, with a score of television sets bringing in popular programs, and a special stage show with various features to please those of all ages.

From the angle of creating interest in Kingston, the big Army searchlight that casts its beam across the skies every night is an important factor. Rural residents for miles around are reminded by it that the exposition is on and they motor here to see what local merchants have to offer shoppers.

Members of the Lions, who arranged the exposition, may feel assured that when it is over this year's show will go down in the annals of the club as one of its most successful promotions.

BASEBALL COMMISSIONER

Freddy Hutchinson is spokesman for an idea. The pitching ace of the Detroit Tigers argues that the players, and not merely the club owners, should have a voice in the selection of the major league baseball commissioner. This sounds reasonable, considering that most of the commissioner's problems have to do with the relations of clubs and players, such as interpretations of the reserve rule and bonuses for signing.

The club owners have not always impressed followers of the game favorably. Kept in order by the late Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, they tended to break away from Commissioner Albert B. Chandler. Though some prominent persons have been mentioned as Chandler's successor, the impression has gone abroad that the owners are looking for a puppet who will not interfere with them. If the players had a say in choosing him, it might be salutary.

DEFENSE FOR A CITY

Bomb shelters are not the most immediate need in case of an atomic attack, says the veteran public official of New York City, Robert Moses, who is now serving as city construction coordinator. "The notion that a long-range defense construction program should confine itself to digging holes in the ground, into which people scurry like rabbits when an alarm sounds, is nonsense," he says.

More important is traffic relief. Suppose a bomb were dropped on the average city. So congested are the streets that in a city-wide emergency police and fire vehicles could not get through. Moses thinks there should be expressways to speed traffic, and a great increase in off-street parking facilities. Hospitals, health, police and fire stations should be enlarged.

Are our local defense committees considering matters like these?

OVERWHELMING KINDNESS

A six-year-old boy in a Michigan village was dying. His parents were anxious to help him to while away his last days by having him receive cards of good wishes, and their desire was reported to the nation. The result was that in two or three weeks the parents reported the receipt of 250,000 cards and 6,000 packages, causing them to ask the senders to stop. They reckoned that it would take the youngster a year merely to open his accumulated mail.

The excitement has enabled him to gain two pounds, and to improve in color and appetite.

This particular good cause was unusually well publicized. It proves what an immense amount of kindness is possessed by the average man and woman.

All work and no play can easily lead to a state of mind and body in which neither will ever be enjoyed again.

The risky part in hitting a man when he is down is the possibility that he might get back up.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE POOR INDIAN

Every day there is something new to discover in the United States. This country is so big and varied, and in each section the people are so different.

The other day I was in Tucson, Arizona, and I went to the Rotary Club there to listen to the chief of the Papagos deliver one of the most eloquent speeches that I had ever heard. His name is Thomas A. Segundo and he is so obviously a leader of men that were he not an Indian—a ward of the Department of the Interior—he could have been a member of Congress without any loss to that august body.

What struck me so closely is that we, who are so eager to aid every nation on earth, do practically nothing for those from whom we have taken this country; that we violate our treaties with them; and that there are bills in Congress, at the present moment, designed to rob them, to steal their lands, and to deprive them of the few benefits remaining to them. Perhaps we need a point four program for the American Indian right here at home.

Millions, if not billions of dollars, have been spent by the American taxpayer on the Indian bureau, but there is little evidence to show benefits to the Indian from these expenditures. In fact, it would seem, from the results, that the design of the bureau has been to make the Indian more dependent upon the bureaucrats. The Papagos, for instance, can report that they have fewer schools and hospitalization facilities than 10 years ago.

Most Americans might look at the figure of 2,855,021 acres that the Papagos have as a reservation, and assume that they are land rich. But Arizona is an arid country, its desert lands being among the least productive in the United States. I am told that in many parts of the west, the Indian reservations are on bad lands, where living is difficult unless oil or minerals are found and the Indians are not robbed. We know too little about these people whom we conquered. We, who have the advantage of living here, owe them, at least, the debt of fair treatment.

I have, on several occasions, in these pieces, called attention to the facts that the so-called pigmented peoples of the world, in Europe, Asia and Africa, distrust the United States more than they do Soviet Russia. The reason is that they are more offended by our social attitude toward the pigmented people in our midst. Soviet Russia has taken full advantage of this and has conducted a long and successful propaganda against this country on the basis of what they call "white supremacy."

While not accepting the Russian version of our social position, I cannot deny that they have presented a picture which Chinese, Indians, Iranians, Pakistani, and all the peoples of Africa accept as true. In Korea, many of our major difficulties have arisen from the belief that all Americans hate and like to kill those who are not white.

This presents a serious problem for a nation which is seeking allies among these very peoples. Certainly our treatment of the American Indian confirms the suspicion of unfairness. Even if we cannot be responsible for what our ancestors did, we must avoid doing more of the same, and if we do not behave decently for the sake of the American Indian, we might from the standpoint of national self-interest.

I was told that some of the most outrageous bills introduced in Congress are designed to rob the Indian of his lands in the interest of oil companies which know of oil deposits beneath the soil.

It would be advantageous to the United States to give the Indian a square deal, to make him an independent American citizen, and to protect him in his economic rights. We have taken a good country from him. We have treated other peoples whom we have conquered, the Cubans, the Filipinos, the Japanese and the Germans, with fairness. We can treat the Indians with fairness and justice.

Money wasted by a Washington bureau does not always indicate benefits to those who require them. Perhaps if we consulted the American Indians, they might come up with a better program than we have yet seen.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

TONSILS

Some physicians are of the opiniion that it is a mistake for mothers to have a clinical thermometer at hand. They are apt to use it on the slightest occasion, causing worry to themselves if the temperature of the child is up 1 to 2 degrees, and worry to the physician as well, who knows he must relieve the mother's mind, although a rise of temperature from a stomach upset is really a normal condition. If any ailment were present and there were rise in temperature to fight the ailment, it would then be a more serious matter. Of course, temperature must be reduced when it reaches a dangerous height.

What many of us, including mothers, forget is that Nature tries to prevent infection entering the body and blood in various ways. One of these ways is by the presence of the tonsils in the throat, which act as a filter in removing harmful organisms before these organisms get into the blood. In addition to the tonsils in the throat proper, there are other masses of lymphoid cells that are called tonsils or adenoids near entrance to eustachian tubes, which carry air to inner side of ear and drum and also the linguinal tonsils over lower end of tongue. If these various masses of lymphoid tissue are not required to do too much work in preventing harmful organisms entering the system, the individual goes along in a healthy state until he is well past the age of children's diseases (scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough). Then the tonsils gradually disappear. However, when there is considerable infection about and these masses of lymphoid tissue (filters) are unable to keep the blood clear of organisms, and many of these organisms remain in the tonsils.

When harmful organisms are present in the tonsil tissue, instead of filtering, they are actually pouring infection into the blood, just as a filter on a faucet holds harmful substances, some of which get into the water that we drink.

The lesson from the above is that tonsils were placed in the throat to filter out harmful organisms from the blood and as long as they are doing their work they should be allowed to remain in the throat until the age of puberty (12 to 14 in girls, 14 to 16 in boys.) After this time or even before puberty, if the individual has frequent sore throats or attacks of tonsillitis, the tonsils should be removed as they are no longer filters, but actual sources of infection, which so often results in the rheumatic fever that may bring on heart disease.

A Peculiar Place in Which to Choose to Live

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The questions I have heard most frequently since returning from Europe are: "What do they think of us abroad? Why don't they like us better?"

The questions are important. Because, while we have poured billions into Europe, first to win a war, then to feed Europe after the war, later to reconstruct it, now to rearm it, the fact remains that we are not popular.

To some degree our popularity can be measured by the distance of each country from the iron curtain. In Turkey, Yugoslavia, Berlin—all cheek-and-jowl with the iron curtain—we are popular. But as you travel west away from Russia, fear lessens, and so does our popularity.

In western Europe, however, if you get away from the newspaper comment, away from the cartoons and the sophisticated drawing-room conversations, you will find a lot of genuine friendship for Americans among the real people of such countries as France. It comes out in little ways—such as an automobile mechanic who refuses to be paid for helping an American automobilist in the French countryside, or the quiet tearing-down of Communist posters denouncing Eisenhower.

It is in England, a country with no language barrier and our strongest cultural tie, where we most need to build up our popularity fences. For in no other country is there more gibing at the United States.

Why the Gibes?

There are several reasons for this, most of them easy to understand:

Reason No. 1 — The United States has replaced Britain as the dominant world power, and no nation is ever popular when the former No. 1 nation starts playing No. 2.

Reason No. 2—The U.S.A. has been put in the light of wanting war and of pushing Europe into war. While this is not true, nevertheless the statements of certain irresponsible senators and generals, such as Gen. Orvil Anderson (relieved at Montgomery, Ala.), favoring a preventive war, have the British scared. They are afraid that, by being the tail on the American kite, they will find themselves flipped into war without having any chance to pause or argue.

Reason No. 3—The British have tightened their belts to such an extent that their meat ration is now no greater than during the war—eight pence a week. In contrast they can't help watching a wealthy, unrationed U.S.A. Naturally they are jealous.

British meat-rationing, incidentally, is not because the British can't get meat, but because meat costs precious dollar exchange. And the Labor government is making heroic efforts to cut out luxury imports and stabilize its trade balance.

Reason No. 4—Is differences with the U. S. A. over China and General MacArthur. While you find criticism of MacArthur all over Europe, it reaches a white heat in England. There he is sometimes called "the first satrap of the American empire." MacArthur, to the British, is an advance warning of what would happen in any allied war. An American general, they fear, would dominate a weak White House and likewise the fate of Britain.

Furthermore there is grave misgiving that MacArthur is trying to spread the Korean war to China for the purpose of expanding his own power. No matter how unjustified this misgiving, it is deep—and a serious factor in our relations with our hitherto understanding ally.

Anglo-U.S. Spokesmen Needed

The above reasons are basic and cannot be changed easily. But there are other public-opinion factors which could be changed overnight, if responsible people at the top worked at them. Here are two examples:

1. Admiral W. F. Fechteler—The storm of British resentment over the appointment of this American admiral to command the Atlantic fleet under the North Atlantic pact could easily have been avoided by Prime Minister Attlee himself. Real fact was that he was poorly informed.

When Winston Churchill upbraided Attlee on the floor of Commons for permitting Admiral Fechteler's appointment, Attlee apparently did not know, certainly did not reply, that a British commander would take over all fleet operations around British waters, the North Sea, and in the eastern part of the Atlantic. If this had been announced, there would have been no real criticism by the British public. What the British people objected to was the erroneous idea that an American admiral would command the fleet in waters immediately adjacent to the British isles.

All that was needed to clarify this point was a good public-relations expert, but apparently none was on hand.

2. Canned Mexican Meat—The British government's purchase of U. S. surplus beef, from Mexican cattle butchered under the hoof-and-mouth disease program, also stirred up a lot of unnecessary ill will.

The British press and people got the idea that Uncle Sam was casting off this supposedly "tainted" meat as a bone to his poor relatives in Britain. The meat was going to Britain, according to the British press, because Americans considered it unfit for human consumption.

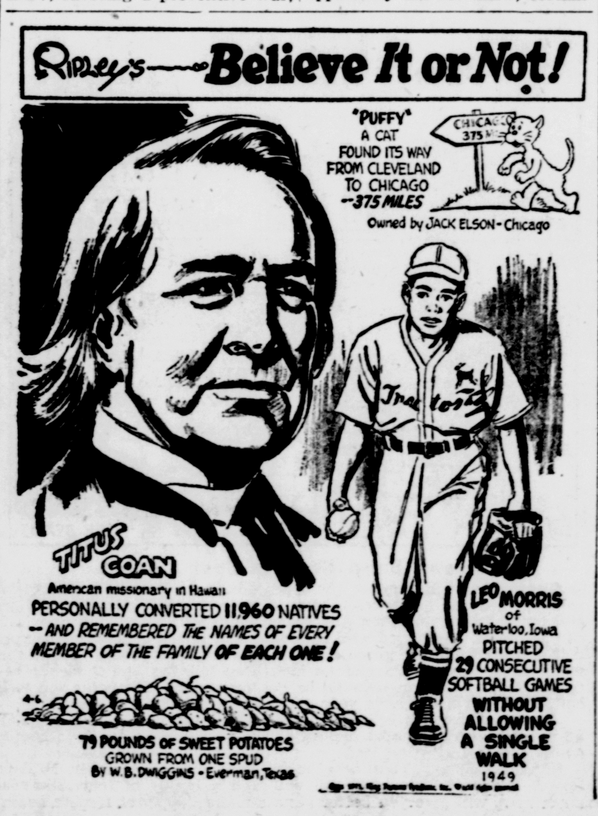

Real fact, however, was that this canned meat from Mexico was far more sanitary and less diseased than the chilled and frozen beef Britain has long imported from Argentina. For fresh Argentine beef, even when chilled or frozen, has been shown to remain contaminated. On the other hand, canned beef, having been cooked and no longer contaminated, is admitted even to the United States from hoof-and-mouth diseased areas.

Actually there was nothing wrong with the Mexican beef, canned by the United States and stored in Oklahoma—except one thing. It was cooked with gravy. The American housewife, when buying canned meat, likes it without gravy; so this batch of meat was sold by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to the British instead.

Incidentally it was sold at a bargain price, but abuse was heaped on the United States just the same.

This was another case where a dozen words of clarification by the American ambassador or a member of the British cabinet would have prevented a lot of ill will with an old and traditional friend, with whom we cannot afford to have ill will.

Today in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 6—Thirty-four years ago this week the United States entered World War 1, and President Wilson shocked Congress by his message demanding conscription and the use of "force without stint." But he got overwhelming support at once from both political parties in Congress.

Today the issue of conscription is debated again, but this time the councils in both political parties are confused. There are Republicans and Democrats who haven't wanted to send any more troops to Europe, and there are members of Congress from both parties who would like to see our forces brought back from Korea, too, and to have all our effort concentrated in defending territorial United States.

In the middle of all this comes a rather emphatic statement from the Republican leader in the House of Representatives, Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, who demands to know why the armed forces of China on Formosa are not being used to open a second Asiatic front against the Communist. The Formosa armies owe allegiance to President Chiang Kai-shek of the government of China which is still recognized by us and by the United Nations as the legitimate government of the Chinese republic.

It is, however, by the order of the United States government that the Nationalist forces on Formosa are not permitted to land on the Chinese mainland. This was ordered last June at a time when the American government hoped to localize the conflict in Korea and keep the war confined to a battle between the North and South Koreans.

Since that time, on the other hand, the Communists of China have entered the fray. They have enjoyed immunity from attack on their Manchurian bases, from which come airplanes and armies regularly to attack the United Nations forces in Korea. America has already suffered a large list of casualties.

"Why, in God's name," shouts Representative Martin, "aren't the forces of Chiang Kai-shek being used?" The minority leader then produces a letter from General MacArthur, the U.N. commander in chief in Korea, who says there is no conflict of "logic or tradition" in using the troops of the Nationalist government.

The two words—"logic" and "tradition"—have lots of meaning in this connection. It is logical from a military viewpoint for the Nationalists to be encouraged to open a second front on China's mainland and thus draw Communist troops away from the Korean battle area.

It is traditional, too, for the United States government to assist a recognized government which requests military aid. The precedent had been established in Greece and in many other countries even before the Truman Doctrine was announced in 1947.

The problem of using the Nationalist forces has been up again and again here. The Department of State has counseled against it on the theory that the Nationalists are not strong enough or that they would require American aid which would amount to intervention by us on the mainland of China and that this would assuredly bring Russia into the war.

General MacArthur evidently has heard these arguments and is not persuaded by them. He thinks apparently that the diplomats have been bluffed into a timid state and that Russia, conscious of the weakness of the diplomats and their fears, is moving ahead aggressively to help the Chinese Communists in Korea anyway. General MacArthur has a right, of course, to testify before Congress and answer any questions its members may ask. In his reply to Representative Martin he says forthrightly that global war has begun in Asia and that this is the place to meet the challenge.

"Here in Korea," he writes, "we fight Europe's war with arms while the diplomats there still fight it with words."

The reference undoubtedly is not to American diplomats but to European diplomats, so many of whom have been criticizing MacArthur and trying recently to hamstring him by declaring that he wants to make war on China. In truth, MacArthur realistically points out that the Chinese Communists have made war upon us and that the only question to be answered is whether America will meet the challenge or let her own troops in Korea be chewed up as a consequence of a limited strategy and a refusal to use "force without stint."

BABSON on BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., April 6—For some time, I have been advising my readers who live in large cities to have—as insurance—a small house with enough land to feed one's family and far enough away from the large city to be safe in case of World War III. I am not recommending farming as a small business, as it is fast becoming a "big business" operation. It is very difficult for an inexperienced person, without much capital, to compete with big farmers. As insurance, however, I believe such a small place in the country is the cheapest, safest and most sensible insurance a family can buy, after being insured against fire.

Being Smug Will Not Pay

I am now getting letters from readers saying—"We already have a house to which we can flee in an emergency. Hence, we are okay whatever happens." This week I wish to remind such readers that they have forgotten the "refugee problem." It is very possible that when you reach your "hide-away," you will find it already occupied by others who have fled from a large city and—by permission of the Red Cross or some state official—have already taken possession. The rule may be that the first refugees who reach an unoccupied house—or an occupied house with empty rooms—can take possession, whoever the owner may be.

Hence, it is important that we (who think we are well provided with a safe refuge) should wake up and do something now, to prepare for an abrupt surprise! This applies not only to those who are planning to flee to a summer place in the country, but also to those who now live smugly in the quiet suburbs of some city which may be bombed. Such houses will be occupied by strangers if we leave them vacant—while we must share them with strangers if we remain in them. In case of enemy bombing, refugees will be given any empty beds whenever needed.

"What shall we home owners do?" you ask. Let me reply that our future safety depends upon getting interested now in helping the other fellow. If a city within 75 miles is bombed, only those who are truly unselfishly interested in helping the refugees will save their own homes, whether in a city suburb or in a little farm or village. This means we should now become an active Red Cross or refugee worker. We should now study first-aid nursing and emergency diet. We should now definitely plan to take strange people into our homes either in entirety or in part, in case of need. If we have a barn or garage or empty building, we should now fix it up for refugees. Our personal safety will then depend not upon how much money we have, but how much we are doing for other people who have lost everything. Only our generosity will save us. Smugness and the feeling that we will get preferential treatment because of our houses, our money, our social standing or our political pull could land us in a concentration camp.

Cease Being an "Anti"

It is very important that we at once quit being an "anti" and now train ourselves and our children to care and share with others. It seems as if everyone with whom I talk is "anti-something." Some families are anit-Jewish, others anti-Negroes, others anti-Catholics and others anti-Protestants, or anti-labor or anti-capital! Then, I find one family is anti-Truman and the family next door is anti-Taft, or anti-something else. Some are for World Federation, in which I believe, and others laugh at me. To save our own necks we must forget this "anti-stuff and remember Jesus' profound statement: "If we are to save our lives we must be willing to lose our lives."

All of us are more or less "anti" on our foreign policy,—whether to follow Hoover or Dewey, or Acheson. I especially wish the United Nations could quit its childish debating about "who cast the first stone." It should unite on some constructive policy of providing all countries with their just peace needs of oil, food and other necessary raw materials. This is the only way War III can be prevented. Our hope and safety lies not with more bombers, more ships and more ground troops but in assuring the world of the FOUR FREEDOMS which we offered them nearly ten years ago. But, in the meantime, let all of us plan something for the refugees in case some city near us is bombed.

ANOTHER SUCCESS FOR LIONS

Orchids to the Kingston Lions Club for its successful promotion again of Kingston Industrial Area on Parade.

The annual event at the New York State Armory, Manor avenue, is drawing overflow crowds every night, and everybody goes away praising the organization for a marvelous show.

The displays interest all who attend, men, women and children, and it's a sure bet that exhibitors will be repaid many times over for their efforts and expenditures.

Whether you are interested in bricks for a new home, appliances of all sorts for the household, a new car, foodstuffs or other items incidental to daily life, you'll find them at the Lions' exposition.

And the show is entertaining as well as educational, with a score of television sets bringing in popular programs, and a special stage show with various features to please those of all ages.

From the angle of creating interest in Kingston, the big Army searchlight that casts its beam across the skies every night is an important factor. Rural residents for miles around are reminded by it that the exposition is on and they motor here to see what local merchants have to offer shoppers.

Members of the Lions, who arranged the exposition, may feel assured that when it is over this year's show will go down in the annals of the club as one of its most successful promotions.

BASEBALL COMMISSIONER

Freddy Hutchinson is spokesman for an idea. The pitching ace of the Detroit Tigers argues that the players, and not merely the club owners, should have a voice in the selection of the major league baseball commissioner. This sounds reasonable, considering that most of the commissioner's problems have to do with the relations of clubs and players, such as interpretations of the reserve rule and bonuses for signing.

The club owners have not always impressed followers of the game favorably. Kept in order by the late Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, they tended to break away from Commissioner Albert B. Chandler. Though some prominent persons have been mentioned as Chandler's successor, the impression has gone abroad that the owners are looking for a puppet who will not interfere with them. If the players had a say in choosing him, it might be salutary.

DEFENSE FOR A CITY

Bomb shelters are not the most immediate need in case of an atomic attack, says the veteran public official of New York City, Robert Moses, who is now serving as city construction coordinator. "The notion that a long-range defense construction program should confine itself to digging holes in the ground, into which people scurry like rabbits when an alarm sounds, is nonsense," he says.

More important is traffic relief. Suppose a bomb were dropped on the average city. So congested are the streets that in a city-wide emergency police and fire vehicles could not get through. Moses thinks there should be expressways to speed traffic, and a great increase in off-street parking facilities. Hospitals, health, police and fire stations should be enlarged.

Are our local defense committees considering matters like these?

OVERWHELMING KINDNESS

A six-year-old boy in a Michigan village was dying. His parents were anxious to help him to while away his last days by having him receive cards of good wishes, and their desire was reported to the nation. The result was that in two or three weeks the parents reported the receipt of 250,000 cards and 6,000 packages, causing them to ask the senders to stop. They reckoned that it would take the youngster a year merely to open his accumulated mail.

The excitement has enabled him to gain two pounds, and to improve in color and appetite.

This particular good cause was unusually well publicized. It proves what an immense amount of kindness is possessed by the average man and woman.

All work and no play can easily lead to a state of mind and body in which neither will ever be enjoyed again.

The risky part in hitting a man when he is down is the possibility that he might get back up.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE POOR INDIAN

Every day there is something new to discover in the United States. This country is so big and varied, and in each section the people are so different.

The other day I was in Tucson, Arizona, and I went to the Rotary Club there to listen to the chief of the Papagos deliver one of the most eloquent speeches that I had ever heard. His name is Thomas A. Segundo and he is so obviously a leader of men that were he not an Indian—a ward of the Department of the Interior—he could have been a member of Congress without any loss to that august body.

What struck me so closely is that we, who are so eager to aid every nation on earth, do practically nothing for those from whom we have taken this country; that we violate our treaties with them; and that there are bills in Congress, at the present moment, designed to rob them, to steal their lands, and to deprive them of the few benefits remaining to them. Perhaps we need a point four program for the American Indian right here at home.

Millions, if not billions of dollars, have been spent by the American taxpayer on the Indian bureau, but there is little evidence to show benefits to the Indian from these expenditures. In fact, it would seem, from the results, that the design of the bureau has been to make the Indian more dependent upon the bureaucrats. The Papagos, for instance, can report that they have fewer schools and hospitalization facilities than 10 years ago.

Most Americans might look at the figure of 2,855,021 acres that the Papagos have as a reservation, and assume that they are land rich. But Arizona is an arid country, its desert lands being among the least productive in the United States. I am told that in many parts of the west, the Indian reservations are on bad lands, where living is difficult unless oil or minerals are found and the Indians are not robbed. We know too little about these people whom we conquered. We, who have the advantage of living here, owe them, at least, the debt of fair treatment.

I have, on several occasions, in these pieces, called attention to the facts that the so-called pigmented peoples of the world, in Europe, Asia and Africa, distrust the United States more than they do Soviet Russia. The reason is that they are more offended by our social attitude toward the pigmented people in our midst. Soviet Russia has taken full advantage of this and has conducted a long and successful propaganda against this country on the basis of what they call "white supremacy."

While not accepting the Russian version of our social position, I cannot deny that they have presented a picture which Chinese, Indians, Iranians, Pakistani, and all the peoples of Africa accept as true. In Korea, many of our major difficulties have arisen from the belief that all Americans hate and like to kill those who are not white.

This presents a serious problem for a nation which is seeking allies among these very peoples. Certainly our treatment of the American Indian confirms the suspicion of unfairness. Even if we cannot be responsible for what our ancestors did, we must avoid doing more of the same, and if we do not behave decently for the sake of the American Indian, we might from the standpoint of national self-interest.

I was told that some of the most outrageous bills introduced in Congress are designed to rob the Indian of his lands in the interest of oil companies which know of oil deposits beneath the soil.

It would be advantageous to the United States to give the Indian a square deal, to make him an independent American citizen, and to protect him in his economic rights. We have taken a good country from him. We have treated other peoples whom we have conquered, the Cubans, the Filipinos, the Japanese and the Germans, with fairness. We can treat the Indians with fairness and justice.

Money wasted by a Washington bureau does not always indicate benefits to those who require them. Perhaps if we consulted the American Indians, they might come up with a better program than we have yet seen.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

TONSILS

Some physicians are of the opiniion that it is a mistake for mothers to have a clinical thermometer at hand. They are apt to use it on the slightest occasion, causing worry to themselves if the temperature of the child is up 1 to 2 degrees, and worry to the physician as well, who knows he must relieve the mother's mind, although a rise of temperature from a stomach upset is really a normal condition. If any ailment were present and there were rise in temperature to fight the ailment, it would then be a more serious matter. Of course, temperature must be reduced when it reaches a dangerous height.

What many of us, including mothers, forget is that Nature tries to prevent infection entering the body and blood in various ways. One of these ways is by the presence of the tonsils in the throat, which act as a filter in removing harmful organisms before these organisms get into the blood. In addition to the tonsils in the throat proper, there are other masses of lymphoid cells that are called tonsils or adenoids near entrance to eustachian tubes, which carry air to inner side of ear and drum and also the linguinal tonsils over lower end of tongue. If these various masses of lymphoid tissue are not required to do too much work in preventing harmful organisms entering the system, the individual goes along in a healthy state until he is well past the age of children's diseases (scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough). Then the tonsils gradually disappear. However, when there is considerable infection about and these masses of lymphoid tissue (filters) are unable to keep the blood clear of organisms, and many of these organisms remain in the tonsils.

When harmful organisms are present in the tonsil tissue, instead of filtering, they are actually pouring infection into the blood, just as a filter on a faucet holds harmful substances, some of which get into the water that we drink.

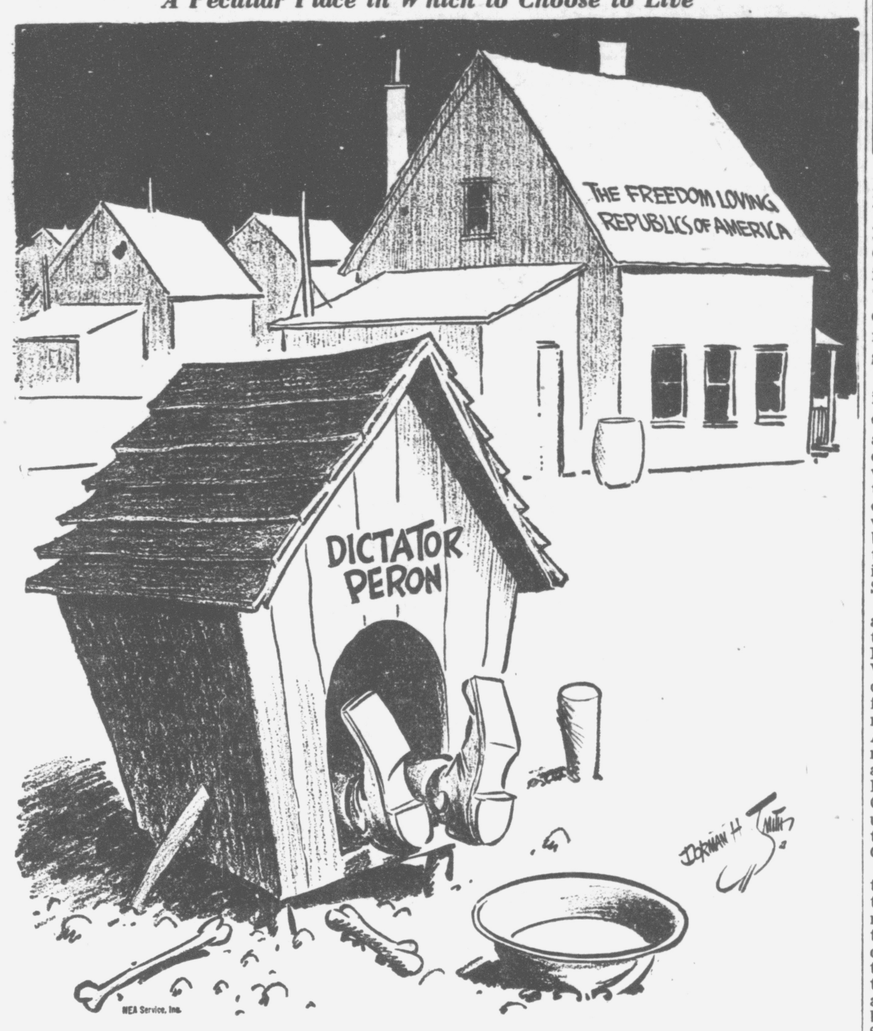

The lesson from the above is that tonsils were placed in the throat to filter out harmful organisms from the blood and as long as they are doing their work they should be allowed to remain in the throat until the age of puberty (12 to 14 in girls, 14 to 16 in boys.) After this time or even before puberty, if the individual has frequent sore throats or attacks of tonsillitis, the tonsils should be removed as they are no longer filters, but actual sources of infection, which so often results in the rheumatic fever that may bring on heart disease.

A Peculiar Place in Which to Choose to Live

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The questions I have heard most frequently since returning from Europe are: "What do they think of us abroad? Why don't they like us better?"

The questions are important. Because, while we have poured billions into Europe, first to win a war, then to feed Europe after the war, later to reconstruct it, now to rearm it, the fact remains that we are not popular.

To some degree our popularity can be measured by the distance of each country from the iron curtain. In Turkey, Yugoslavia, Berlin—all cheek-and-jowl with the iron curtain—we are popular. But as you travel west away from Russia, fear lessens, and so does our popularity.

In western Europe, however, if you get away from the newspaper comment, away from the cartoons and the sophisticated drawing-room conversations, you will find a lot of genuine friendship for Americans among the real people of such countries as France. It comes out in little ways—such as an automobile mechanic who refuses to be paid for helping an American automobilist in the French countryside, or the quiet tearing-down of Communist posters denouncing Eisenhower.

It is in England, a country with no language barrier and our strongest cultural tie, where we most need to build up our popularity fences. For in no other country is there more gibing at the United States.

Why the Gibes?

There are several reasons for this, most of them easy to understand:

Reason No. 1 — The United States has replaced Britain as the dominant world power, and no nation is ever popular when the former No. 1 nation starts playing No. 2.

Reason No. 2—The U.S.A. has been put in the light of wanting war and of pushing Europe into war. While this is not true, nevertheless the statements of certain irresponsible senators and generals, such as Gen. Orvil Anderson (relieved at Montgomery, Ala.), favoring a preventive war, have the British scared. They are afraid that, by being the tail on the American kite, they will find themselves flipped into war without having any chance to pause or argue.

Reason No. 3—The British have tightened their belts to such an extent that their meat ration is now no greater than during the war—eight pence a week. In contrast they can't help watching a wealthy, unrationed U.S.A. Naturally they are jealous.

..British meat-rationing, incidentally, is not because the British can't get meat, but because meat costs precious dollar exchange. And the Labor government is making heroic efforts to cut out luxury imports and stabilize its trade balance.

..Reason No. 4—Is differences with the U. S. A. over China and General MacArthur. While you find criticism of MacArthur all over Europe, it reaches a white heat in England. There he is sometimes called "the first satrap of the American empire." MacArthur, to the British, is an advance warning of what would happen in any allied war. An American general, they fear, would dominate a weak White House and likewise the fate of Britain.

Furthermore there is grave misgiving that MacArthur is trying to spread the Korean war to China for the purpose of expanding his own power. No matter how unjustified this misgiving, it is deep—and a serious factor in our relations with our hitherto understanding ally.

Anglo-U.S. Spokesmen Needed

The above reasons are basic and cannot be changed easily. But there are other public-opinion factors which could be changed overnight, if responsible people at the top worked at them. Here are two examples:

1. Admiral W. F. Fechteler—The storm of British resentment over the appointment of this American admiral to command the Atlantic fleet under the North Atlantic pact could easily have been avoided by Prime Minister Attlee himself. Real fact was that he was poorly informed.

When Winston Churchill upbraided Attlee on the floor of Commons for permitting Admiral Fechteler's appointment, Attlee apparently did not know, certainly did not reply, that a British commander would take over all fleet operations around British waters, the North Sea, and in the eastern part of the Atlantic. If this had been announced, there would have been no real criticism by the British public. What the British people objected to was the erroneous idea that an American admiral would command the fleet in waters immediately adjacent to the British isles.

All that was needed to clarify this point was a good public-relations expert, but apparently none was on hand.

2. Canned Mexican Meat—The British government's purchase of U. S. surplus beef, from Mexican cattle butchered under the hoof-and-mouth disease program, also stirred up a lot of unnecessary ill will.

The British press and people got the idea that Uncle Sam was casting off this supposedly "tainted" meat as a bone to his poor relatives in Britain. The meat was going to Britain, according to the British press, because Americans considered it unfit for human consumption.

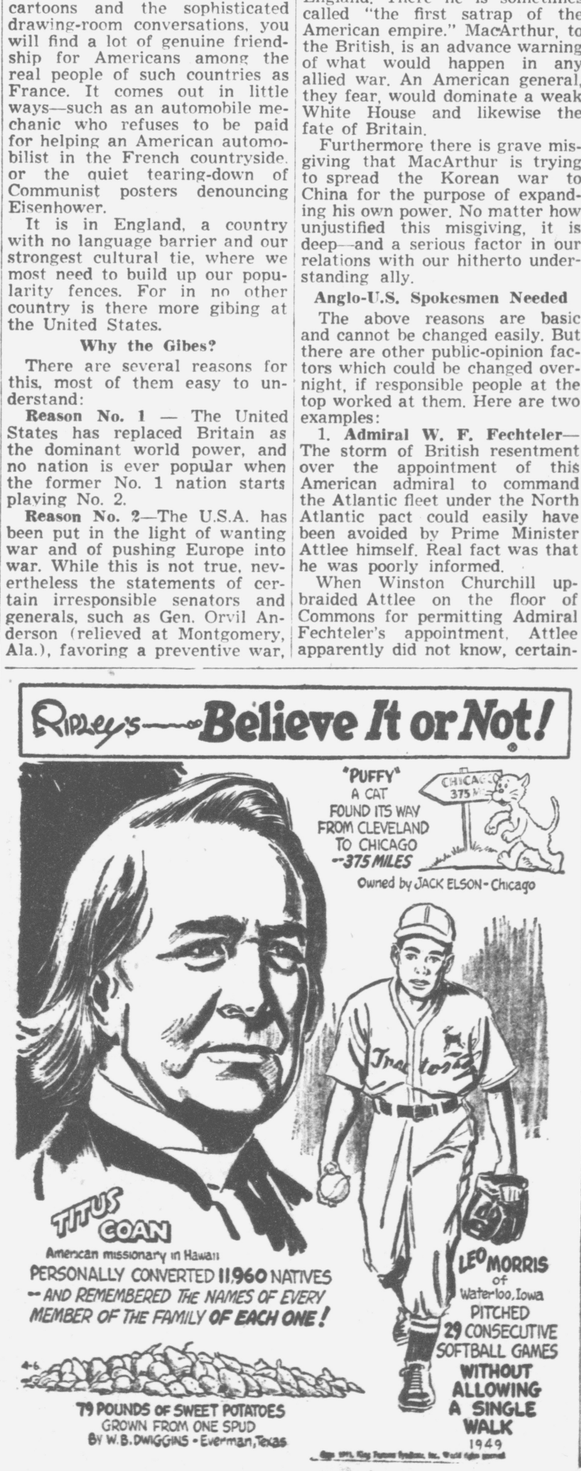

Real fact, however, was that this canned meat from Mexico was far more sanitary and less diseased than the chilled and frozen beef Britain has long imported from Argentina. For fresh Argentine beef, even when chilled or frozen, has been shown to remain contaminated. On the other hand, canned beef, having been cooked and no longer contaminated, is admitted even to the United States from hoof-and-mouth diseased areas.

Actually there was nothing wrong with the Mexican beef, canned by the United States and stored in Oklahoma—except one thing. It was cooked with gravy. The American housewife, when buying canned meat, likes it without gravy; so this batch of meat was sold by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to the British instead.

Incidentally it was sold at a bargain price, but abuse was heaped on the United States just the same.

This was another case where a dozen words of clarification by the American ambassador or a member of the British cabinet would have prevented a lot of ill will with an old and traditional friend, with whom we cannot afford to have ill will.

Issue of Conscription Is Debated Again; This Time It Is Confused

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 6—Thirty-four years ago this week the United States entered World War 1, and President Wilson shocked Congress by his message demanding conscription and the use of "force without stint." But he got overwhelming support at once from both political parties in Congress.

Today the issue of conscription is debated again, but this time the councils in both political parties are confused. There are Republicans and Democrats who haven't wanted to send any more troops to Europe, and there are members of Congress from both parties who would like to see our forces brought back from Korea, too, and to have all our effort concentrated in defending territorial United States.

In the middle of all this comes a rather emphatic statement from the Republican leader in the House of Representatives, Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, who demands to know why the armed forces of China on Formosa are not being used to open a second Asiatic front against the Communist. The Formosa armies owe allegiance to President Chiang Kai-shek of the government of China which is still recognized by us and by the United Nations as the legitimate government of the Chinese republic.

It is, however, by the order of the United States government that the Nationalist forces on Formosa are not permitted to land on the Chinese mainland. This was ordered last June at a time when the American government hoped to localize the conflict in Korea and keep the war confined to a battle between the North and South Koreans.

Since that time, on the other hand, the Communists of China have entered the fray. They have enjoyed immunity from attack on their Manchurian bases, from which come airplanes and armies regularly to attack the United Nations forces in Korea. America has already suffered a large list of casualties.

"Why, in God's name," shouts Representative Martin, "aren't the forces of Chiang Kai-shek being used?" The minority leader then produces a letter from General MacArthur, the U.N. commander in chief in Korea, who says there is no conflict of "logic or tradition" in using the troops of the Nationalist government.

The two words—"logic" and "tradition"—have lots of meaning in this connection. It is logical from a military viewpoint for the Nationalists to be encouraged to open a second front on China's mainland and thus draw Communist troops away from the Korean battle area.

It is traditional, too, for the United States government to assist a recognized government which requests military aid. The precedent had been established in Greece and in many other countries even before the Truman Doctrine was announced in 1947.

The problem of using the Nationalist forces has been up again and again here. The Department of State has counseled against it on the theory that the Nationalists are not strong enough or that they would require American aid which would amount to intervention by us on the mainland of China and that this would assuredly bring Russia into the war.

General MacArthur evidently has heard these arguments and is not persuaded by them. He thinks apparently that the diplomats have been bluffed into a timid state and that Russia, conscious of the weakness of the diplomats and their fears, is moving ahead aggressively to help the Chinese Communists in Korea anyway. General MacArthur has a right, of course, to testify before Congress and answer any questions its members may ask. In his reply to Representative Martin he says forthrightly that global war has begun in Asia and that this is the place to meet the challenge.

"Here in Korea," he writes, "we fight Europe's war with arms while the diplomats there still fight it with words."

The reference undoubtedly is not to American diplomats but to European diplomats, so many of whom have been criticizing MacArthur and trying recently to hamstring him by declaring that he wants to make war on China. In truth, MacArthur realistically points out that the Chinese Communists have made war upon us and that the only question to be answered is whether America will meet the challenge or let her own troops in Korea be chewed up as a consequence of a limited strategy and a refusal to use "force without stint."

BABSON on BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., April 6—For some time, I have been advising my readers who live in large cities to have—as insurance—a small house with enough land to feed one's family and far enough away from the large city to be safe in case of World War III. I am not recommending farming as a small business, as it is fast becoming a "big business" operation. It is very difficult for an inexperienced person, without much capital, to compete with big farmers. As insurance, however, I believe such a small place in the country is the cheapest, safest and most sensible insurance a family can buy, after being insured against fire.

Being Smug Will Not Pay

I am now getting letters from readers saying—"We already have a house to which we can flee in an emergency. Hence, we are okay whatever happens." This week I wish to remind such readers that they have forgotten the "refugee problem." It is very possible that when you reach your "hide-away," you will find it already occupied by others who have fled from a large city and—by permission of the Red Cross or some state official—have already taken possession. The rule may be that the first refugees who reach an unoccupied house—or an occupied house with empty rooms—can take possession, whoever the owner may be.

Hence, it is important that we (who think we are well provided with a safe refuge) should wake up and do something now, to prepare for an abrupt surprise! This applies not only to those who are planning to flee to a summer place in the country, but also to those who now live smugly in the quiet suburbs of some city which may be bombed. Such houses will be occupied by strangers if we leave them vacant—while we must share them with strangers if we remain in them. In case of enemy bombing, refugees will be given any empty beds whenever needed.

"What shall we home owners do?" you ask. Let me reply that our future safety depends upon getting interested now in helping the other fellow. If a city within 75 miles is bombed, only those who are truly unselfishly interested in helping the refugees will save their own homes, whether in a city suburb or in a little farm or village. This means we should now become an active Red Cross or refugee worker. We should now study first-aid nursing and emergency diet. We should now definitely plan to take strange people into our homes either in entirety or in part, in case of need. If we have a barn or garage or empty building, we should now fix it up for refugees. Our personal safety will then depend not upon how much money we have, but how much we are doing for other people who have lost everything. Only our generosity will save us. Smugness and the feeling that we will get preferential treatment because of our houses, our money, our social standing or our political pull could land us in a concentration camp.

Cease Being an "Anti"

It is very important that we at once quit being an "anti" and now train ourselves and our children to care and share with others. It seems as if everyone with whom I talk is "anti-something." Some families are anit-Jewish, others anti-Negroes, others anti-Catholics and others anti-Protestants, or anti-labor or anti-capital! Then, I find one family is anti-Truman and the family next door is anti-Taft, or anti-something else. Some are for World Federation, in which I believe, and others laugh at me. To save our own necks we must forget this "anti-stuff and remember Jesus' profound statement: "If we are to save our lives we must be willing to lose our lives."

All of us are more or less "anti" on our foreign policy,—whether to follow Hoover or Dewey, or Acheson. I especially wish the United Nations could quit its childish debating about "who cast the first stone." It should unite on some constructive policy of providing all countries with their just peace needs of oil, food and other necessary raw materials. This is the only way War III can be prevented. Our hope and safety lies not with more bombers, more ships and more ground troops but in assuring the world of the FOUR FREEDOMS which we offered them nearly ten years ago. But, in the meantime, let all of us plan something for the refugees in case some city near us is bombed.

Apple Purchase Program Extended

The Production and Marketing Administration's apple purchase program has been extended, it was announced today by John S. Geary, county purchase representative.

The program was to terminate on March 31. The amount of additional apples to be purchased will depend upon the amount offered by growers by Monday, April 9, at 5 p. m. Offering blanks are available at all cold storages in the county and at the P. & M.A. office, 54 John street, Kingston.

Varieties which come under the Class X group to be purchased are Baldwin, Northern Spy, Delicious, Rome Beauty, York Imperial, Winesap, Albemarle Pippin and Stayman. Minimum size to qualify is two and one-half inches. Announced purchase price is $1.65 a bushel.

Varieties in the Class Y group are McIntosh, Cortland and all the above listed varieties in the two and a quarter inch size minimum. The same price prevails.

Model Rail Parley Due Here in April

Kingston will become a model railroader's paradise on the weekend of April 28-29 as members of the Northeastern Region of the National Model Railroad Association return to the city where the Region was founded, to celebrate the fifth birthday of the organization.

With the Kingston Model Railroad Club as host, model railroaders from New England, and the states of New York and New Jersey will assemble for a week-end of model railroading, association business, model contests, and a banquet. The program will also feature a railroad fan trip presented to the model railroaders through the courtesy of the New York Central System and Stephen J. Keating, trainmaster of the River Division. The banquet, held Sunday noon at the convention headquarters, the Gov. Clinton Hotel, will feature William T. Gaynor, assistant director of the advertising department of the New York Central System, as guest speaker.

It was on April 26, 1946 that a group of 72 model railroaders assembled in Kingston at the invitation of Henry P. Eighmey and Henry C. Page of the local railroad club and organized the Northeastern Region of the national association. Since that date the group of model railroaders have steadily increased in number and have enjoyed two conventions per year, one in the spring and one in the fall. They return this year to mark the fifth birthday of the group, in the city where the first meeting was held.

Acting as chairman of the committee for this year's convention is Henry P. Eighmey, first president of the Northeastern Region and founder of the Kingston Model Railroad Club. Other members of the committee include Edward E. Safford, president of the Kingston club, H. Hudson Cramer, Jr., Kenneth E. Martin, and Glenn Genthner. Members of the Kingston Model Railroad Club are engaged in the promotion of the convention, and the local club's miniature railroad system will be a center of interest throughout the two days that the convention will be in Kingston.

The New Frontier

Walter Hampden, dean of distinguished American actors, will be heard Sunday over Station WKNY at 2:30 in an original radio drama titled "Sweet Music." Produced by the Institute for Democratic Education as the latest in its series, The New Frontier, and locally sponsored by the Kingston Lodge of B'nai B'rith, "Sweet Music" tells of an old man in conflict with his son and daughter-in-law over some important problems in human relations facing America, today.

Firemen Clear Road

Fire Chief James Costello and six members of the East Kingston fire department responded to a call from Supervisor Horace Boice of the town of Ulster to pump out water which had accumulated on the old Sandy road in the town of Ulster. The firemen laid 150 feet of hose and worked from 3 p. m. until 7 p. m. Wednesday clearing the roadway which runs adjacent to the Esopus creek.

A survey of 3200 families has shown that there is little difference in affection of girls or boys for either mother or father.

President Asks Added 6 Billions

Washington, April 6 (AP)—President Truman has asked Congress to add $6,422,000,000 to the $41,800,000,000 the armed forces are authorized to spend in this fiscal year.

The request, made yesterday, is intended to cover fiscal deficiencies resulting from the expansion of the armed forces to 3,462,000 men by June 30. That is when the fiscal year ends.

The funds asked were about $3,500,000,000 less than Mr. Truman had estimated in his budget message last January. The apparent explanation was that deliveries on some military orders have been slower than was expected.

Fellowships Awarded

Schenectady, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—Science research fellowships totaling $17,200 have been awarded to 12 graduate students, the General Electric Company announced yesterday. Seven students received Charles A. Coffin fellowships for advanced study in electricity, physics and the physical sciences. Five were granted Gerald Swope fellowships in industrial management, engineering, physical sciences and various scientific and industrial fields. Recipients included: Howard N. McManus, Jr., Catskill, N. Y., University of Iowa, Iowa City.

You Hear Strange Things About Catholics

Yes, you can hear some strange things about Catholics.

You hear it said that Catholics believe all non-Catholics are headed for Hell... that they believe non-Catholic marriages are invalid.

Some think Catholics believe the Pope is God... that he can do no wrong... that they owe him civil allegiance and that he should have the political power to rule America.

It is said that Catholics want religious freedom only for themselves... that they oppose public schools and separation of Church and State as evils which should be destroyed.

The claim is made that Catholics pay the priest for forgiveness of their sins... that they must buy their departed relatives and friends out of Purgatory... that they adore statues... are forbidden to read the Bible... use medals, candles and holy water as sure-fire protection against the loss of a job, lightning or being run down by an automobile.

But what is worse, some say, Catholics corrupt the true teachings of Jesus Christ with the addition of pagan superstitions and practices that are nothing less than the inventions of the devil.

If all these things—or any of them—were true, it would be a pity. For at least one out of every six Americans is a Catholic—and it would be a national tragedy if one-sixth of all Americans entertained such erroneous ideas.

The Knights of Columbus is an organization of 700,000 Catholic men of reason and intelligence. In our ranks will be found statesmen, scientists, historians, physicians, movie stars, lawyers, educators and others representing every cross-section of American life. And for each and all of them loyalty to the Catholic Faith is the act of a reasonable man.

We are deeply interested in the welfare of our Church and our Country. And we believe the interests of both will be served best when fair-minded people know the Catholic Church as it is—not as it is sometimes mistaken to be.

If you have heard and believed any of these false claims, and want the truth, we will gladly send you a free booklet which explains many aspects of Catholic belief and practice concerning which people are commonly misinformed. Write and and ask for Pamphlet No. 1-N.

Health Department Offers Ideas to Overcome Pollution Of Effects of Flood Victims

Warning that floods can be a menace to public health even after waters recede, the Ulster County Department of Health today offered its recommendations for restoring sanitary conditions in homes that were inundated last week-end.

Danger from pollution during a flood period is not confined to water supplies, the department warned. Dwellings, foodstuffs, clothing and household furnishings need to be thoroughly disinfected.

Persons who are currently engaged in cleaning up after the flood are warned by the health department to guard against infection from their hands. They should be especially careful not to touch food or anything else that may enter their mouths until their hands have been washed thoroughly with hot water and soap.

The health department recommends the following procedures:

Wells and Springs

The Ulster County Department of Health advises that no waters be used from flooded wells or springs without boiling, until the wells or springs have been disinfected by the procedure outlined here. Personnel of the department will assist in the procedure and can be secured by telephoning Kingston 5300 or by notifying the town supervisor.

Wells and springs polluted by flood waters should be thoroughly cleaned to remove mud, debris and other foreign matter. Then they should be disinfected as follows:

1. Add eight ounces (about two cupfuls) of chloride of lime to about three gallons of water.
2. Mix this solution thoroughly with a stick or wooden paddle.
3. Pour the solution into the well or spring structure so as to distribute it as thoroughly as possible.
4. After an interval of at least 30 minutes, preferably longer, the water should be pumped or allowed to flow until the odor of chlorine disappears. This emergency disinfection destroys temporary bacterial pollution but does not influence the quality of the water which enters the well or spring afterwards.

Cellars

The following procedure should be followed when cleaning and disinfecting cellars:

1. Drain or pump water from flooded cellars and wash down the walls and floors with hose stream and scrubbing brush.

(In removing water from cellars, pumping out flooded septic tanks and oil storage tanks, care must be used to avoid differences in ground water pressures that will cause damage. As long as the ground water table around these structures is high, the possibility of buckling of cellar floors or rupture of cellar walls due to the pressure of the saturated earth on the outside must always be considered. In the case of tanks, if pumped out, they will float and rupture existing sewer lines or oil feed lines.

(In the case of wells, the pumping for cleaning of the well should be made to exhaust the water in the well, since here again there is a chance the structure may collapse.)

2. Disinfect the walls and floor of the cellar by applying a solution of chloride of lime with broom or whitewash brush. The solution is prepared by adding the contents of a 12 ounce can of chloride of lime to 10 gallons of water.

Foodstuffs

Discard all flooded foodstuffs that were in direct contact with flood waters. Thoroughly clean the outside of watertight containers of foodstuffs which may have been exposed to flood waters, and immerse the containers in chloride of lime solution before opening them.

Furnishings and Clothing

Curtains — Boil and launder thoroughly all curtains which will not be injured by this treatment. Dry clean fabrics which cannot be laundered.

Rugs—Scrub thoroughly with clean water before removal. Wash with lugewarm water and soap, rinse with clear water and dry in the sun.

Furniture—Wash metal and leather surfaces with soap and water and wipe dry immediately. Some upholstery may be washed on the surface with soap and water and dried by wiping with cloths followed by exposure to open air and sunshine.

Clothing—boil all clothing that can be boiled without injury; otherwise wash with cold water and sterilize by dry cleaning.

Soil

Odors from flooded soil can be reduced by sprinkling powdered hydrated lime over the affected surfaces.

Chloride of lime (calcium hypochlorite) also known as chlorinated lime, or bleach, may be purchased at drug or grocery stores and chemical supply houses. This disinfectant should be distinguished from ordinary "quick lime" and hydrated lime, which are not active disinfectants.

Chloride of lime is a strong bleaching agent and if carried on shoes to carpets or if gotten on clothing will remove the color from these fabrics. It is irritating to the hands in concentrated solutions and may be destructive to fabrics.

Prompt and energetic action in carrying out cleaning operations will minimize damage to flooded materials and will reduce the time of exposure to possible infection of persons residing in flooded homes, according to Dr. Robert H. Broad, county health commissioner.

Spending Is Cited

London, April 5 (AP)—The 12 Atlantic Treaty nations are spending $56,000,000,000 a year for defense—three times the amount they expended for that purpose before the Korean war. Spofford told a news conference the western allies have combined much of their industrial resources and 400,000,000 persons in the peacetime security drive.

Health Department Offers Ideas to Overcome Pollution Of Effects of Flood Victims

Warning that floods can be a menace to public health even after waters recede, the Ulster County Department of Health today offered its recommendations for restoring sanitary conditions in homes that were inundated last week-end.

Danger from pollution during a flood period is not confined to water supplies, the department warned. Dwellings, foodstuffs, clothing and household furnishings need to be thoroughly disinfected.

Persons who are currently engaged in cleaning up after the flood are warned by the health department to guard against infection from their hands. They should be especially careful not to touch food or anything else that may enter their mouths until their hands have been washed thoroughly with hot water and soap.

The health department recommends the following procedures:

MT. TREMPER

Mt. Tremper, April 5—The Sherman place, and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Laggenegger were among those receiving damage due to high water and drifting debris following the recent rainstorms.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schleigel of New York were at their summer home last week-end. They have sold their property to Mr. and Mrs. Cahill of Callicoon who will occupy the place throughout the year.

Those celebrating birthdays this week were Miss Ruth Wilber on April 3 and Mrs. Lawrence Keiser on April 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Gardner and Merrill Gardner returned to New York Sunday after spending the Easter vacation here.

Mrs. George Higgins and Mrs. Lionel Vaughn of Lucas avenue extension, Kingston, were visitors of Mrs. Norman D. Wilber Monday.

Several local women attended the missionary meeting at the Reformed Church in Woodstock Wednesday.

Mrs. Eileen Reeve was in New York for a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ecker, Jr., spent a night recently with Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Wilber and family.

The road from Mt. Tremper to Mt. Pleasant was badly damaged by the storm but is open to traffic.

Chinese Leave Singapore

Singapore, (AP)—Malaya's rubber boom is attracting thousands of Indians while thousands of Chinese are leaving. A government spokesman said "Indians are coming in because of the rather lucrative jobs as rubber tappers. More Chinese are leaving because of unsettled conditions in the country and Red promises of better living in China."

Model Rail Parley Due Here in April

Kingston will become a model railroader's paradise on the week-end of April 28-29 as members of the Northeastern Region of the National Model Railroad Association return to the city where the Region was founded, to celebrate the fifth birthday of the organization.

With the Kingston Model Railroad Club as host, model railroaders from New England, and the states of New York and New Jersey will assemble for a week-end of model railroading, association business, model contests, and a banquet. The program will also feature a railroad fan trip presented to the model railroaders through the courtesy of the New York Central System and Stephen J. Keating, trainmaster of the River Division. The banquet, held Sunday noon at the convention headquarters, the Gov. Clinton Hotel, will feature William T. Gaynor, assistant director of the advertising department of the New York Central System, as guest speaker.

It was on April 26, 1946 that a group of 72 model railroaders assembled in Kingston at the invitation of Henry P. Eighmey and Henry C. Page of the local railroad club and organized the Northeastern Region of the national association. Since that date the group of model railroaders have steadily increased in number and have enjoyed two conventions per year, one in the spring and one in the fall. They return this year to mark the fifth birthday of the group, in the city where the first meeting was held.

Acting as chairman of the committee for this year's convention is Henry P. Eighmey, first president of the Northeastern Region and founder of the Kingston Model Railroad Club. Other members of the committee include Edward E. Safford, president of the Kingston club, H. Hudson Cramer, Jr., Kenneth E. Martin, and Glenn Genthner. Members of the Kingston Model Railroad Club are engaged in the promotion of the convention, and the local club's miniature railroad system will be a center of interest throughout the two days that the convention will be in Kingston.

The New Frontier

Walter Hampden, dean of distinguished American actors, will be heard Sunday over Station WKNY at 2:30 in an original radio drama titled "Sweet Music." Produced by the Institute for Democratic Education as the latest in its series, The New Frontier, and locally sponsored by the Kingston Lodge of B'nai B'rith, "Sweet Music" tells of an old man in conflict with his son and daughter-in-law over some important problems in human relations facing America, today.

Firemen Clear Road

Fire Chief James Costello and six members of the East Kingston fire department responded to a call from Supervisor Horace Boice of the town of Ulster to pump out water which had accumulated on the old Sandy road in the town of Ulster. The firemen laid 150 feet of hose and worked from 3 p. m. until 7 p. m. Wednesday clearing the roadway which runs adjacent to the Esopus creek.

A survey of 3200 families has shown that there is little difference in affection of girls or boys for either mother or father.

President Asks Added 6 Billions

Washington, April 6 (AP)—President Truman has asked Congress to add $6,422,000,000 to the $41,800,000,000 the armed forces are authorized to spend in this fiscal year.

The request, made yesterday, is intended to cover fiscal deficiencies resulting from the expansion of the armed forces to 3,462,000 men by June 30. That is when the fiscal year ends.

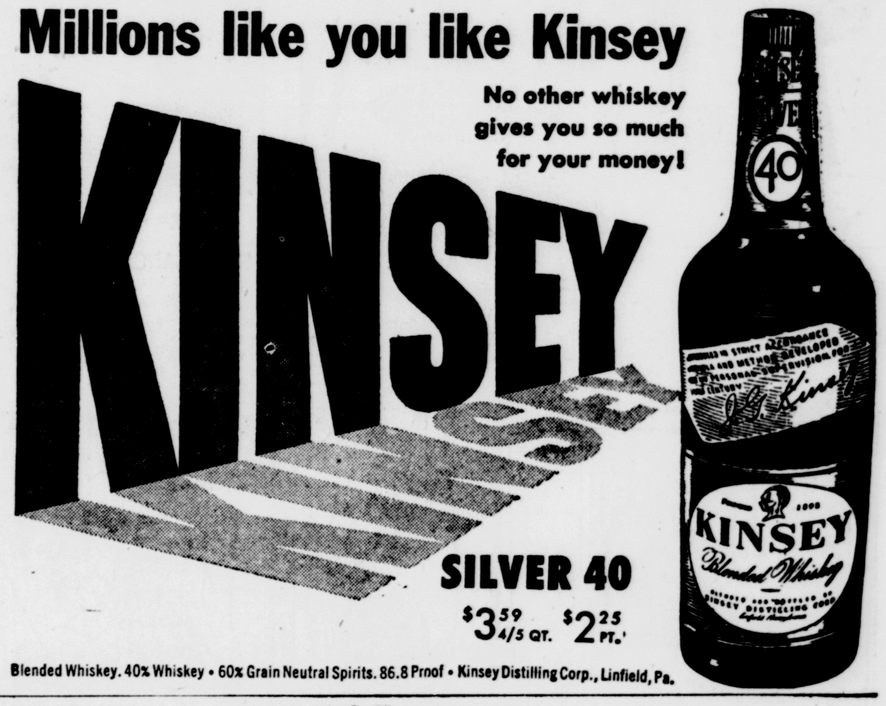

The funds asked were about $3,500,000,000 less than Mr. Truman had estimated in his budget message last January. The apparent explanation was that deliveries on some military orders have been slower than was expected.

Fellowships Awarded

Schenectady, N. Y., April 6 (AP)—Science research fellowships totaling $17,200 have been awarded to 12 graduate students, the General Electric Company announced yesterday. Seven students received Charles A. Coffin fellowships for advanced study in electricity, physics and the physical sciences. Five were granted Gerald Swope fellowships in industrial management, engineering, physical sciences and various scientific and industrial fields. Recipients included: Howard N. McManus, Jr., Catskill, N. Y., University of Iowa, Iowa City.

You Hear Strange Things About Catholics

Yes, you can hear some strange things about Catholics.

You hear it said that Catholics believe all non-Catholics are headed for Hell... that they believe non-Catholic marriages are invalid.

Some think Catholics believe the Pope is God... that he can do no wrong... that they owe him civil allegiance and that he should have the political power to rule America.

It is said that Catholics want religious freedom only for themselves... that they oppose public schools and separation of Church and State as evils which should be destroyed.

The claim is made that Catholics pay the priest for forgiveness of their sins... that they must buy their departed relatives and friends out of Purgatory... that they adore statues... are forbidden to read the Bible... use medals, candles and holy water as sure-fire protection against the loss of a job, lightning or being run down by an automobile.

But what is worse, some say, Catholics corrupt the true teachings of Jesus Christ with the addition of pagan superstitions and practices that are nothing less than the inventions of the devil.

If all these things—or any of them—were true, it would be a pity. For at least one out of every six Americans is a Catholic—and it would be a national tragedy if one-sixth of all Americans entertained such erroneous ideas.

The Knights of Columbus is an organization of 700,000 Catholic men of reason and intelligence. In our ranks will be found statesmen, scientists, historians, physicians, movie stars, lawyers, educators and others representing every cross-section of American life. And for each and all of them loyalty to the Catholic Faith is the act of a reasonable man.

We are deeply interested in the welfare of our Church and our Country. And we believe the interests of both will be served best when fair-minded people know the Catholic Church as it is—not as it is sometimes mistaken to be.

If you have heard and believed any of these false claims, and want the truth, we will gladly send you a free booklet which explains many aspects of Catholic belief and practice concerning which people are commonly misinformed. Write and and ask for Pamphlet No. 1-N.

Health Department Offers Ideas to Overcome Pollution Of Effects of Flood Victims

Warning that floods can be a menace to public health even after waters recede, the Ulster County Department of Health today offered its recommendations for restoring sanitary conditions in homes that were inundated last week-end.

Danger from pollution during a flood period is not confined to water supplies, the department warned. Dwellings, foodstuffs, clothing and household furnishings need to be thoroughly disinfected.

Persons who are currently engaged in cleaning up after the flood are warned by the health department to guard against infection from their hands. They should be especially careful not to touch food or anything else that may enter their mouths until their hands have been washed thoroughly with hot water and soap.

The health department recommends the following procedures:

Wells and Springs

The Ulster County Department of Health advises that no waters be used from flooded wells or springs without boiling, until the wells or springs have been disinfected by the procedure outlined here. Personnel of the department will assist in the procedure and can be secured by telephoning Kingston 5300 or by notifying the town supervisor.

Wells and springs polluted by flood waters should be thoroughly cleaned to remove mud, debris and other foreign matter. Then they should be disinfected as follows:

1. Add eight ounces (about two cupfuls) of chloride of lime to about three gallons of water.
2. Mix this solution thoroughly with a stick or wooden paddle.
3. Pour the solution into the well or spring structure so as to distribute it as thoroughly as possible.
4. After an interval of at least 30 minutes, preferably longer, the water should be pumped or allowed to flow until the odor of chlorine disappears. This emergency disinfection destroys temporary bacterial pollution but does not influence the quality of the water which enters the well or spring afterwards.

Cellars

The following procedure should be followed when cleaning and disinfecting cellars:

1. Drain or pump water from flooded cellars and wash down the walls and floors with hose stream and scrubbing brush.

(In removing water from cellars, pumping out flooded septic tanks and oil storage tanks, care must be used to avoid differences in ground water pressures that will cause damage. As long as the ground water table around these structures is high, the possibility of buckling of cellar floors or rupture of cellar walls due to the pressure of the saturated earth on the outside must always be considered. In the case of tanks, if pumped out, they will float and rupture existing sewer lines or oil feed lines.

(In the case of wells, the pumping for cleaning of the well should be made to exhaust the water in the well, since here again there is a chance the structure may collapse.)

2. Disinfect the walls and floor of the cellar by applying a solution of chloride of lime with broom or whitewash brush. The solution is prepared by adding the contents of a 12 ounce can of chloride of lime to 10 gallons of water.

Foodstuffs

Discard all flooded foodstuffs that were in direct contact with flood waters. Thoroughly clean the outside of watertight containers of foodstuffs which may have been exposed to flood waters, and immerse the containers in chloride of lime solution before opening them.

Furnishings and Clothing

Curtains — Boil and launder thoroughly all curtains which will not be injured by this treatment. Dry clean fabrics which cannot be laundered.

Rugs—Scrub thoroughly with clean water before removal. Wash with lugewarm water and soap, rinse with clear water and dry in the sun.

Furniture—Wash metal and leather surfaces with soap and water and wipe dry immediately. Some upholstery may be washed on the surface with soap and water and dried by wiping with cloths followed by exposure to open air and sunshine.

Clothing—boil all clothing that can be boiled without injury; otherwise wash with cold water and sterilize by dry cleaning.

Soil

Odors from flooded soil can be reduced by sprinkling powdered hydrated lime over the affected surfaces.

Chloride of lime (calcium hypochlorite) also known as chlorinated lime, or bleach, may be purchased at drug or grocery stores and chemical supply houses. This disinfectant should be distinguished from ordinary "quick lime" and hydrated lime, which are not active disinfectants.

Chloride of lime is a strong bleaching agent and if carried on shoes to carpets or if gotten on clothing will remove the color from these fabrics. It is irritating to the hands in concentrated solutions and may be destructive to fabrics.

Prompt and energetic action in carrying out cleaning operations will minimize damage to flooded materials and will reduce the time of exposure to possible infection of persons residing in flooded homes, according to Dr. Robert H. Broad, county health commissioner.

Spending Is Cited

London, April 5 (AP)—The 12 Atlantic Treaty nations are spending $56,000,000,000 a year for defense —three times the amount they expended for that purpose before the Korean war. This was reported last night by Charles M. Spofford, American chairman of the Atlantic Council of Deputies. Spofford told a news conference the western allies have combined much of their industrial resources and 400,000,000 persons in the peacetime security drive.

Urges World Network

Washington, April 5 (AP)—President Truman urged today that Congress vote the money quickly to build a worldwide network of radio facilities to deliver "our campaign of truth to the people behind the Iron Curtain." Mr. Truman, in a formal statement, took issue with "some members of Congress" who advocate sharply reduced funds for these facilities.

Pvt. Morton Honig Is Married Sunday To Jacqueline Krakower of Poughkeepsie

MRS. MORTON HONIG

Miss Jacqueline Krakower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Krakower of 19 Grand avenue, Poughkeepsie, and Pvt. Morton Honig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Honig of 309 Albany avenue, were married Sunday at 4 p. m. in Temple Beth-El, Poughkeepsie. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rabbi Irwin Zimet of Temple Beth-El, and Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, of Temple Emanuel, this city.

Leonard Kahn of Poughkeepsie was organist, while Mrs. M. Gottesman of Poughkeepsie, soloist, sang Through the Years, and O Promise Me. The temple was trimmed with pink and white snapdragons, and ferns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle gown over satin, cut with a high neckline, and long tight sleeves. Her orange blossom crown secured a fingertip veil, and she carried a Bible, with a spray of white cymbidium orchids, and French hyacinths.

Miss Arlene Krakower of Poughkeepsie, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of pale pink marquisette, and she carried a pink powder puff bouquet arranged with green and lime cymbidiums, and French hyacinths.

Howard Honig of this city, brother of the groom, was the couple's other attendant.

The bride chose a gray ensemble for traveling, with navy accessories.

Mrs. Honig is a graduate of Poughkeepsie High School, and Syracuse University. She will be graduated from the School of Oral Hygiene, University of Pennsylvania, in June.

Private Honig is an alumnus of New York Military Academy, and Western Reserve University. He is now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

Date Is Changed For 'Y' Supper

Due to unavoidable circumstances, Mrs. Frank W. Thompson, chairman of the World Fellowship Committee of the Kingston YWCA announced today, the annual Around-the-World cafeteria supper has been postponed from April 10 to April 24. As originally planned, it will be held in the church parlors of the First Baptist Church, with servings at 5:30 and 6:30 p. m.

The supper is held annually to raise funds for the support of the YWCA's in many of the 65 countries where this organization is carrying on its program of education, recreation, and citizenship training. Through this common bond of fellowship, members feel, women around the world are drawn together in understanding, and good will.

The public is invited to attend the supper. Tickets may be obtained from members of the board of directors, or at the YWCA office.

GIVING AND RECEIVING INVITATIONS

A newcomer in town is faced with a problem: "Our neighbors have not returned several of our invitations—one to dinner, another to a cocktail party and a third to bridge—and I'm wondering just how long we continue to invite them without some return on their part. They have all called on me and seem friendly but perhaps it could be that they are trying to discourage our invitations by not asking us back."

It is very likely that they are not giving parties. (There are plenty of people today who are unable to do so.) If you hear that they are giving parties, to none of which you have been invited, then certainly you would not want to continue inviting them. But if they are not giving any parties and are plainly glad to come to yours, there is no reason why you should not continue to invite them.

Minister's Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: Our minister's wife has asked our group to call her by first name. We don't want to hurt her feelings but we think perhaps you will say this would seem disrespectful to her position.

Answer: This depends entirely upon her age. If she is very much older than you, I can understand your hesitation, but if she is your own age, there would be nothing unusual, or improper, in your doing as she asks you to.

Tea Cup and Saucer

Dear Mrs. Post: When pouring at a tea, do you lift the cup and saucer from the tray or leave it where it is on the tray?

Answer: If the teapot is very full or very tall, it is usually necessary to lift the cup to the spout. If the teapot is almost empty, or very squat, the cup may be left on its saucer on the tray.

Answer "R.S.V.P."

Dear Mrs. Post: When an invitation does not include "R.s.v.p. does it have to be answered? The one I refer to was to the church and down in the corner merely said: "Reception immediately afterward at Church House."

Answer: When an invitation includes the reception, it is polite to answer it even if R.s.v.p. is omitted.

Following the Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Harder following their marriage March 31 in St. Catherine's Church, Middleburg. The bride is the former Patricia Marian Byrne of Middleburg. The couple will make their home in this city. (Bergh Photo)

Patricia M. Byrne Becomes the Bride Of Walter Harder

Miss Patricia Marian Byrne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Byrne of Middleburg, became the bride of Walter H. Harder of 11 Adams street, this city, son of Mrs. Caroline Watson of Middleburg, during a nuptial Mass at St. Catherine's Church, Middleburg, Saturday at 11 a. m. The Rev. George E. Keefe of that parish officiated at the double ring ceremony, and celebrated the Mass. Gerard Houghtaling of this city, cousin of the groom, was altar boy.

The church altar was trimmed with white snapdragons, tulips, and Easter lilies. Miss Retta Warner, organist, played traditional wedding music, Franck's Panis Angelicus, and Schubert's Ave Maria.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with a mandarin neckline. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a white satin baby bonnet, and she carried a white prayer book, covered with white orchids.

Miss Mary Bogdanski of New York was maid of honor. She was dressed in a blue satin gown with inserts of Chantilly lace, and matching hat and mitts. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and yellow iris, daffodils, and anemones.

The bride's other attendants, Miss Ethel Watson of Middleburg, and Mrs. Henry F. Harder of 20 West Pierpont street, this city, sister and sister-in-law of the groom, wore fuchsia gowns similar to that of the maid of honor, with matching mitts, and hats. They carried colonial bouquets of white iris and white freesia.

Henry F. Harder of 20 West Pierpont street, this city, was best man, and Willis and Nelson Watson, both of Middleburg, ushered. All three are brothers of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at Shelmandine's Restaurant for the bridal party, followed by a reception for 200 guests at the Lamp Post Inn.

The bride is a graduate of Middleburg Central School, and received her B.S. degree in business administration from Syracuse University. She is employed in the office of the New York Telephone Company, this city.

Mr. Harder is a graduate of St. Peter's School, this city, and attended Kingston High School. During World War 2 he served in the Pacific Theatre with the Army Air Corps. He is employed in the Kingston Post Office.

Following their wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Harder will make their home in Kingston.

Elks' Auxiliary Installs Officers

Members of the Elks' Auxiliary held their covered dish supper April 2, followed by their regular monthly meeting, and installation of officers. The following officers were installed by Mrs. Charlotte E. V.F.W. to Sponsor Carnival April 16-21

Joyce-Schirick Post No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will sponsor a carnival at the Pan-Am Field, Route 9-W, from April 16-21, it was announced today. The La Cross shows, an eastern organization with winter headquarters in St. Albans, Vt., will be the main attraction. The show, now playing in Middletown, features six rides, four shows, and 30 concessions, in addition to a free act which has been reported as "sensational."

As this is the first carnival sponsored by the Joyce-Schirick Post in several years, large nightly attendances are urged. Money raised though the carnival will be used for the Post's usual projects.

Pvt. Morton Honig Is Married Sunday To Jacqueline Krakower of Poughkeepsie

MRS. MORTON HONIG

Miss Jacqueline Krakower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Krakower of 19 Grand avenue, Poughkeepsie, and Pvt. Morton Honig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Honig of 309 Albany avenue, were married Sunday at 4 p. m. in Temple Beth-El, Poughkeepsie. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rabbi Irwin Zimet of Temple Beth-El, and Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, of Temple Emanuel, this city.

Leonard Kahn of Poughkeepsie was organist, while Mrs. M. Gottesman of Poughkeepsie, soloist, sang Through the Years, and O Promise Me. The temple was trimmed with pink and white snapdragons, and ferns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle gown over satin, cut with a high neckline, and long tight sleeves. Her orange blossom crown secured a fingertip veil, and she carried a Bible, with a spray of white cymbidium orchids, and French hyacinths.

Miss Arlene Krakower of Poughkeepsie, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of pale pink marquisette, and she carried a pink powder puff bouquet arranged with green and lime cymbidiums, and French hyacinths.

Howard Honig of this city, brother of the groom, was the couple's other attendant.

A reception for 125 guests was held following the ceremony at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie. The couple then left for their wedding trip to New York. Upon their return they will make their home in this city.

The bride chose a gray ensemble for traveling, with navy accessories.

Mrs. Honig is a graduate of Poughkeepsie High School, and Syracuse University. She will be graduated from the School of Oral Hygiene, University of Pennsylvania, in June.

Private Honig is an alumnus of New York Military Academy, and Western Reserve University. He is now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

Date Is Changed For 'Y' Supper

Due to unavoidable circumstances, Mrs. Frank W. Thompson, chairman of the World Fellowship Committee of the Kingston YWCA announced today, the annual Around-the-World cafeteria supper has been postponed from April 10 to April 24. As originally planned, it will be held in the church parlors of the First Baptist Church, with servings at 5:30 and 6:30 p. m.

The supper is held annually to raise funds for the support of the YWCA's in many of the 65 countries where this organization is carrying on its program of education, recreation, and citizenship training. Through this common bond of fellowship, members feel, women around the world are drawn together in understanding, and good will.

The public is invited to attend the supper. Tickets may be obtained from members of the board of directors, or at the YWCA office.

GIVING AND RECEIVING INVITATIONS

A newcomer in town is faced with a problem: "Our neighbors have not returned several of our invitations—one to dinner, another to a cocktail party and a third to bridge—and I'm wondering just how long we continue to invite them without some return on their part. They have all called on me and seem friendly but perhaps it could be that they are trying to discourage our invitations by not asking us back."

It is very likely that they are not giving parties. (There are plenty of people today who are unable to do so.) If you hear that they are giving parties, to none of which you have been invited, then certainly you would not want to continue inviting them. But if they are not giving any parties and are plainly glad to come to yours, there is no reason why you should not continue to invite them.

Minister's Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: Our minister's wife has asked our group to call her by first name. We don't want to hurt her feelings but we think perhaps you will say this would seem disrespectful to her position.

Answer: This depends entirely upon her age. If she is very much older than you, I can understand your hesitation, but if she is your own age, there would be nothing unusual, or improper, in your doing as she asks you to.

Tea Cup and Saucer

Dear Mrs. Post: When pouring at a tea, do you lift the cup and saucer from the tray or leave it where it is on the tray?

Answer: If the teapot is very full or very tall, it is usually necessary to lift the cup to the spout. If the teapot is almost empty, or very squat, the cup may be left on its saucer on the tray.

Answer "R.S.V.P."

Dear Mrs. Post: When an invitation does not include "R.s.v.p. does it have to be answered? The one I refer to was to the church and down in the corner merely said: "Reception immediately afterward at Church House."

Answer: When an invitation includes the reception, it is polite to answer it even if R.s.v.p. is omitted.

Everyday questions arise regarding the type of paper for social notes and inquiries asking, "What shall I write?" Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, leaflet E-21, "Model Notes," will be helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Following the Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Harder following their marriage March 31 in St. Catherine's Church, Middleburg. The bride is the former Patricia Marian Byrne of Middleburg. The couple will make their home in this city. (Bergh Photo)

Patricia M. Byrne Becomes the Bride Of Walter Harder

Miss Patricia Marian Byrne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Byrne of Middleburg, became the bride of Walter H. Harder of 11 Adams street, this city, son of Mrs. Caroline Watson of Middleburg, during a nuptial Mass at St. Catherine's Church, Middleburg, Saturday at 11 a. m. The Rev. George E. Keefe of that parish officiated at the double ring ceremony, and celebrated the Mass. Gerard Houghtaling of this city, cousin of the groom, was altar boy.

The church altar was trimmed with white snapdragons, tulips, and Easter lilies. Miss Retta Warner, organist, played traditional wedding music, Franck's Panis Angelicus, and Schubert's Ave Maria.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with a mandarin neckline. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a white satin baby bonnet, and she carried a white prayer book, covered with white orchids.

Miss Mary Bogdanski of New York was maid of honor. She was dressed in a blue satin gown with inserts of Chantilly lace, and matching hat and mitts. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and yellow iris, daffodils, and anemones.

The bride's other attendants, Miss Ethel Watson of Middleburg, and Mrs. Henry F. Harder of 20 West Pierpont street, this city, sister and sister-in-law of the groom, wore fuchsia gowns similar to that of the maid of honor, with matching mitts, and hats. They carried colonial bouquets of white iris and white freesia.

Henry F. Harder of 20 West Pierpont street, this city, was best man, and Willis and Nelson Watson, both of Middleburg, ushered. All three are brothers of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at Shelmandine's Restaurant for the bridal party, followed by a reception for 200 guests at the Lamp Post Inn.

The bride is a graduate of Middleburg Central School, and received her B.S. degree in business administration from Syracuse University. She is employed in the office of the New York Telephone Company, this city.

Mr. Harder is a graduate of St. Peter's School, this city, and attended Kingston High School. During World War 2 he served in the Pacific Theatre with the Army Air Corps. He is employed in the Kingston Post Office.

Following their wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Harder will make their home in Kingston.

Elks' Auxiliary Installs Officers

Members of the Elks' Auxiliary held their covered dish supper April 2, followed by their regular monthly meeting, and installation of officers. The following officers were installed by Mrs. Charlotte E. Dolson, past president; Mrs. Henry DeWitt, president; Mrs. Sam Feldman, first vice president; Mrs. Edward McSpirit, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Ennist, secretary; Mrs. Harold Mandell, treasurer; and Mrs. William Krom, financial secretary.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. DeWitt appointed the following committees: Mrs. Nathan Badian, inside sentinel; Mrs. Dewey Logan, membership committee; Mrs. Louis Sapp, Sr., refreshment committee; Mrs. Floren Nichols, publicity; Mrs. Mary J. Simonetty, chaplain; Mrs. Christopher Roche and Mrs. Mame Dulin, sick committee for April; Mrs. Robert Smith, banquet committee.

Plans for the annual banquet, which will be held at the Barn, will be completed at the May meeting.

United Jewish Appeal

A cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Honig, 309 Albany avenue, on Saturday at 8 p. m. will signal the opening of the 1951 United Jewish Appeal and Welfare Fund Campaign. Isador Taub, Albany attorney, will address the group and explain the urgency of the current "Now or Never" campaign. Invitations to the party, which were mailed earlier in the week, erroneously stated the event would be held elsewhere.

Goals in Education Needed to Evaluate Ability of Pupils

Woodstock, April 6—Dr. Harold Mosher of the New Paltz State Teachers College, speaking on the subject, "Tests and Aptitudes," explained the meaning of the subject of evaluation during a talk before the Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night.

In evaluating a child's behavior pattern and abilities, he said it was comparable to judging the performance of a new type of car. True judgment comes from comparing it with other standardized makes of cars. "First," he said, "we must have goals in education to evaluate a pupil's ability, and a teacher must know what he is looking for."

Speaking of the present methods of education, he said that the old concept of oral examination has gone. At the present time tests are now being used to look backwards. Dr. Mosher believes that the June examinations are too late. His thesis is that all tests should be used for the purpose of improving instruction. In the physical fitness test, he explained, it was given in the fall to help the teacher to begin work early in the fall with a knowledge of the requirements of each pupil.

Dr. Mosher warned of harmful results of casually revealing the results of intelligence tests, which might present a psychological hazzard to a child, whether it be high or low. A child who knows he has a high I.Q. is in danger of developing a bad behavior pattern. He stressed equally the rewarding experience of a teacher who has the patience to work with a low I.Q. pupil.

"There is nothing so gratifying," he concluded, "as the happy smile of a pupil who has learned to read after a long, embarrassing and anguished period of difficulty with the subject."

Prior to Dr. Mosher's talk a short business meeting was held during which Mrs. Edward Gurland read the secretary's report and Walter Riseley reported on safety measures undertaken.

Mrs. Austin Mecklem, president, announced that suggestions concerning a fund raising scheme to raise the necessary amount for graduation ceremonies, would be welcome. Mrs. Charles Rapp was appointed chairman of the nominating committee for the May meeting.

Following the talk, Walter Van Wagenen opened the meeting for a discussion period.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Goals in Education Needed to Evaluate Ability of Pupils

Woodstock, April 6—Dr. Harold Mosher of the New Paltz State Teachers College, speaking on the subject, "Tests and Aptitudes," explained the meaning of the subject of evaluation during a talk before the Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night.

In evaluating a child's behavior pattern and abilities, he said it was comparable to judging the performance of a new type of car. True judgment comes from comparing it with other standardized makes of cars. "First," he said, "we must have goals in education to evaluate a pupil's ability, and a teacher must know what he is looking for."

Speaking of the present methods of education, he said that the old concept of oral examination has gone. At the present time tests are now being used to look backwards. Dr. Mosher believes that the June examinations are too late. His thesis is that all tests should be used for the purpose of improving instruction. In the physical fitness test, he explained, it was given in the fall to help the teacher to begin work early in the fall with a knowledge of the requirements of each pupil.

Dr. Mosher warned of harmful results of casually revealing the results of intelligence tests, which might present a psychological hazzard to a child, whether it be high or low. A child who knows he has a high I.Q. is in danger of developing a bad behavior pattern. He stressed equally the rewarding experience of a teacher who has the patience to work with a low I.Q. pupil.

"There is nothing so gratifying," he concluded, "as the happy smile of a pupil who has learned to read after a long, embarrassing and anguished period of difficulty with the subject."

Prior to Dr. Mosher's talk a short business meeting was held during which Mrs. Edward Gurland read the secretary's report and Walter Riseley reported on safety measures undertaken.

Mrs. Austin Mecklem, president, announced that suggestions concerning a fund raising scheme to raise the necessary amount for graduation ceremonies, would be welcome. Mrs. Charles Rapp was appointed chairman of the nominating committee for the May meeting.

Following the talk, Walter Van Wagenen opened the meeting for a discussion period.

Bob Hanley Sets Ferraro Major League Record With 205-278-239-722

Elstons Crack Team Standard With 3156 Blast

278 Ties Record Held by MacLellan

Robert "The Kid" Hanley, a young man who blazed bowling headlines more than a decade ago, regained a large measure of his pristine touch last night with a rousing 722 triple in the Ferraro Major League.

While leading Elston's Sport to a new high team triple record of 3156, Hanley pounded out singles of 205, 278 and 239.

The 722 eclipsed the former record of 704 held by Bill Kuehn, while Hanley's 278 enabled him to tie John MacLellan for the Kingston Bowling Association's award.

En route to a three-game sweep over Tropical Inn, while Amoco Gas was suffering a two-game loss to Ten Grand, the Elston keglers reeled off 994, 1075 and 1087.

In Top Form

Hanley's 722 vaulted his individual average well into the 190-average bracket and made his "comeback" a fait accompli. Always regarded as one of the top-notch competitors in local bowling his pocket busting this season keeps him on par with any of the city's recognized sharpies.

While Hanley and the Elstons were tearing up the pea patch with their myriad of strikes, five other trundlers were pounding "600" triples.

Phil Masters had another big week, soaring to 676 with 258-227-191. Another "700" seemed imminent here, but Masters ran into a couple of splits in the third set.

John MacLellan had another big 249 and 225; Bill Kuehn had 250-202-634; Harold Broskie 234-620; Joe Schrowang 243-216-617. Frank Spada near missed with 220-232-598; Ken Joseph shot 212-217-597; Lou Straley 223-594; Lou Guadagnola 216-204-593; "Hod" Spaulding 205-208-592; John Ferraro 211-580; Harry Smith 214-576; Jack Houghtaling 233-573.

Mayor, Camelli On TV Saturday

Manager Hank Camelli of the Kingston Colonials and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will be seen on the television on Saturday at 7 p. m. on the "Bob Bender Show." The show can be seen on WRGB, Channel 4, in Schenectady.

Invitations were also extended to Frederick J. K. Ertel, president of Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., and Lawrence MacAvery, president of the Chamber of Commerce, but neither will be able to take part in the interview because of previous business commitments.

The show was arranged by President Albert Houghton of the Canadian-American League and Kingston's Can-Am prospects for 1951 will be discussed by the panel.

Dunham Noses Out Goercke to Grab Foul Shot Contest

Ward Dunham of Harry's Angels nosed out Eric Goercke, also of the Angels, for first place in the "A" Division foul shooting contest this week at the Y.

Dunham swished the cords with 39 successful shots in 50 tries while Goercke was one off the pace with 38 out of 50.

Don Haggerty and Art Carpouzis, members of Wiltwycks, champs of the Y this season, tied for third place with 33 successful aims.

In the "B" Division, Johnny Burris of the Violets captured first place with 40 tries out of 50 while John Sass took second with 34. Harold Maybanks held down the third slot with 31 good shots.

George Carpouzis was top foul shooter in the "open" division after beating out Pete Camp. Both Carpouzis and Camp finished in a regulation tie of 40 shots. In a playoff of 25 baskets, Carpouzis completed 20 while Camp dipped to 11. Third place winner in the "open" division was LeRoy Hooker.

Forty-seven cagers took part in this event. All winners received special awards of Gold Y triangle pins with red and blue letters.

According to Lou Schafer, Y physical director, he hopes plans will be made next year to run the foul shooting contest on a larger scale with trophies available to the top winners.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

San Antonio, Tex., April 6 (AP)—The New York Yankees are whaling the ball in their exhibition games. Three players are hitting over .400 with two more over .300.

Hank Bauer leads the club with .439; rookie Mickey Mantle follows with .437 and Gene Woodling, who hit two homers against San Antonio last night, has .421. Cliff Mapes has .345 and Joe DiMaggio .327. The Yanks beat San Antonio 13-10.

New Brook Find

Jacksonville, Fla., April 6 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers may have a new pitching prospect in Earl Mossor, who twirled last year for the Class B Portsmouth, Va. club.

Mossor hurled the first five innings yesterday for the Brooks against the Phillies. He yielded two runs in the first, but then pitched four hitless innings.

Thomson Sharp

Houston, Tex., April 6 (AP)—Although his hitting still is a question mark, Bobby Thomson's rifle throwing arm seems as good as ever.

The New York Giants fleet-footed centerfielder demonstrated it again here yesterday with a neat toss that cut down Cleveland's Jim Hegan in the eighth inning. Cleveland won, 6-5.

Feller in Debut

Fort Worth, Tex., April 6 (AP)—Bob Feller gets a chance today to show he is in shape to go the distance against a major league foe and win. Two other Cleveland Indian righthanders have done it in the Tribe's last two games.

Larry Jansen will be pitching today for the New York Giants whom the Tribe beat 6-5 yesterday in the first of an 11-game, eastward bound barnstorming series. Early Wynn gave up all five Giant runs in the first frame, but blanked the New Yorkers after that. Mike Garcia was the first Tribe hurler to go full nine innings when he beat the New York Yankees in Tucson Tuesday 6-3.

Second baseman George Stirnweiss and shortstop Merrill Combs, acquired last Sunday from the St. Louis Browns, joined the Indians at Houston yesterday.

Phil-Brook Race

Jacksonville, Fla., April 6 (AP)—Will it be the Philadelphia Phillies and the Brooklyn Dodgers fighting it out again for the National League pennant?

Many of the early prophets think so. Although admitting that exhibition games don't prove too much, they think the Phils-Dodgers series which ended yesterday provided a pretty good tipoff on what's to come.

Brooklyn took yesterday's game, 5 to 4, in 10 innings, evening up the tightly fought series at three apiece.

Propose Hogan For PGA Post

Ridgewood, N. J., April 6 (AP)—Battling Ben Hogan was proposed today as a commissioner of professional golf.

He got the nod from former National PGA President George Jacobus of the Ridgewood Country Club. The idea of a golf commissioner was suggested earlier in the week by masters champion Jimmy Demaret at Augusta, Ga.

Jacobus, in telegrams to Demaret, Hogan and other leading pros, said he was suggesting Hogan "as the logical man for the job."

The New Jersey golf pro told Hogan "your qualifications and understanding of the problems confronting the touring pro make it definitely clear that the game needs a man of your caliber.

Hogan himself said he thought "a good business man could do the job." He added that "something's got to be done and mighty quick" to settle some of the bitter controversies which have cropped up in the sport recently.

Fazio Leads Masters With First Round 68

Snead and Mangrum Trail by One Stroke

Augusta, Ga., April 6 (AP)—Four times George Fazio has poked his head above the crowd of golfers who follow the tournament circuit. This time the Conshohocken Kid intends to keep it there.

Swarthy George, a scrap iron dealer in Conshohocken, Pa., led the Masters tournament today as the second round opened at the rough, tough Augusta National course. But his lead wasn't secure even if he did shoot a 68 in yesterday's first round.

That four-under par golf barely was good enough to put him ahead of two veteran professionals, pressing him on the 6,900-yard National course. Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum were right behind with a pair of 69's.

In 1946 Fazio won the Canadian Open. That was the first time he whipped his weight in good golfers. In 1947 he managed a tie for first in the Bing Crosby tournament but not until last summer at Merion in the National Open did Fazio get his head above the crowd again.

Three golfers finished in a tie after the final regular round at Merion. Fazio was one of them tied for the greatest championship in golf. Ben Hogan and Mangrum were the others.

Ben won the Open in an historic playoff and Fazio went down again into the mass of golfers.

Leads Tormentors

Today, George is up again, up higher than Hogan, his tormentor in the Open, and higher than Mangrum, who also scored better than Fazio in that playoff.

Hogan was in fourth place going into the Masters' second round with a 70. Four others—Lew Worsham, Byron Nelson, Dick Mayer and Johnny Bulla—were tied for fifth with 71's.

Fazio's grip on the first round lead was unexpected by almost everyone except himself.

Oddsmakers saw him as a 20-1 bet. He was an 8-1 bet today to win the Masters for his first major victory.

Fazio is a pro at Woodmont Country Club at Rockville, Md. On his tour yesterday he scored four birdies and 14 pars. Only once did he get himself in deep trouble and then he got out of it with a brilliant seven-iron shot.

Two long putts dropped for him on holes No. 14 and 15—first a 10-footer, then an 8-footer. On the home hole his approach from about 150 yards out stopped four feet from the pin. He sank the green shot for a birdie three.

Only 30 putts were necessary to get George home in front.

Louis Suggests Savold Bout

And that what the heavyweight division needs to lift it out of the doldrums is "another Jack Dempsey."

The former world's heavyweight champion, now seeking to make a comeback, said so in an interview here with Maurice Moore, sports editor of the Hot Springs Sentinel Record and New Era.

Louis, who came here for a rest and some preliminary conditioning before starting serious training for his next match, said he'd like to fight Lee Savold before taking another crack at champion Ezzard Charles, who decisioned him after Louis came out of voluntary retirement.

He said a meeting between himself and Savold, who holds the English heavyweight title, had been suggested for June 13 in Detroit.

ALL-TIME ALL-AMERICA Football Selections

Walter Eckersall

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

Chicago, April 6 (AP)—Walter H. Eckersall, chosen yesterday as the All-Time, All-America quarterback, was a fearless mite of 145 pounds who accomplished dazzling feats when football was so rough President Teddy Roosevelt said it must be made safer.

Eckersall was accorded the honor on the All-Time college football team being chosen by the Associated Press in a national poll of newspaper and radio sports editors to screen charter candidates for the National Football Hall of Fame at New Brunswick, N. J.

Eckersall was a three-time All-America choice while starring from 1903 through 1906 at the University of Chicago. He was a daring, elusive runner, a spectacular drop-kicker, punter, tackler and field leader.

Those were the days when deaths and crippling injuries resulting from massed play by big, ponderous brutes had football on the ropes and its leaders had to rule out mass formations and hurdling.

Eckersall died at 46 on March 24, 1930, the victim of a heart attack.

Held Many Records

During his collegiate career, Eckersall held nearly every punting and drop-kicking record. He performed the astounding feat of kicking five field goals in two separate games. His punts always sailed 60 yards or better.

The tiny, flitting old Maroon holds the distinction of being a pioneer in the forward passing game. In 1905 when forward passing was coming into football, Eckersall, although never throwing a pass before, connected on a heave to the late Wally Steffen for a 75-yard gain and Chicago's first touchdown against Illinois.

Eckersall, coached by Amos Alonzo Stagg, never was injured playing. He had the knack of curling himself like a ball when he hit the ground and avoiding brute force tackling with flashing feints.

Y Volleyball Victors

Members of the Kingston Y Businessmen's volleyball team scored a 3-2 victory over Poughkeepsie Wednesday night at the Bridge City court. Kingston won by 18-16, 15-6 and 15-9 while dropping decisions of 15-5 and 15-7. Appearing in the Kingston lineup were Chet Dolson, Ed Minasian, Jim Volker, Al Townsend, Lou Schafer and Ed Coughlin.

Plan Gorman Memorial Award For Ulster-Orange CYO Tourney

Will Be Presented To Senior Champions

The Vincent A. Gorman Memorial Award for basketball has been established and will be presented to the winners of the senior division of the Ulster-Orange county C.Y.O. tournament, Leo A. Schupp, county C.Y.O. director announced today.

The tournament is scheduled tonight at the municipal auditorium with competition in three classes.

Presented by Mrs. V. A. Gorman in memory of her husband, a man who contributed a great deal of time and effort to the assistance of youth, the trophy will not be a permanent award, but will be presented annually. Three consecutives victories will be needed to retain permanent possession.

Board Named

A three-man board has been named to direct the presentation of the trophy and to settle any disputes that might arise in connection with it.

Mrs. V. A. Gorman has been named honorary chairman of the new board. The active chairman is William T. Mahoney, with Andrew J. Murphy and Leo Schupp, directors. The senior referee at the playoff games will act as technical adviser.

In a joint statement issued today, the members of the board expressed the sincere hope that the Gorman Memorial would become a symbol of clean, hard play and would serve to foster friendly relations between the two counties in C.Y.O. basketball.

DUSO Stars Listed

The Junior pairing at 7 p. m. brings together St. Mary's against St. Francis of Newburgh.

At 8 p. m., St. Joseph's of Kingston and St. Patrick's of Newburgh clash in the Metropolitan division. The feature Senior attraction at 9 o'clock will be between St. Peter's of Kingston and St. Joseph's of Middletown.

Several Newburgh Academy DUSO League stars, including Richie and Bob Spreer, will appear in the Newburgh Metropolitan lineup. Others include Ralph Antonucci, Sam Leghorn and Bob Maher.

Warren Schlickenrider, Joe Holland and Frank Bellotto of the Middletown High School varsity will be in the lineup against St. Joseph's.

Bob Hanley Sets Ferraro Major League Record With 205-278-239-722

Elstons Crack Team Standard With 3156 Blast

278 Ties Record Held by MacLellan

Robert "The Kid" Hanley, a young man who blazed bowling headlines more than a decade ago, regained a large measure of his pristine touch last night with a rousing 722 triple in the Ferraro Major League.

While leading Elston's Sport to a new high team triple record of 3156, Hanley pounded out singles of 205, 278 and 239.

The 722 eclipsed the former record of 704 held by Bill Kuehn, while Hanley's 278 enabled him to tie John MacLellan for the Kingston Bowling Association's award.

En route to a three-game sweep over Tropical Inn, while Amoco Gas was suffering a two-game loss to Ten Grand, the Elston keglers reeled off 994, 1075 and 1087.

In Top Form

Hanley's 722 vaulted his individual average well into the 190-average bracket and made his "comeback" a fait accompli. Always regarded as one of the top-notch competitors in local bowling his pocket busting this season keeps him on par with any of the city's recognized sharpies. recognized sharpies.

While Hanley and the Elstons were tearing up the pea patch with their myriad of strikes, five other trundlers were pounding "600" triples.

Phil Masters had another big week, soaring to 676 with 258-227-191. Another "700" seemed imminent here, but Masters ran into a couple of splits in the third set.

John MacLellan had another big 249 and 225; Bill Kuehn had 250-202-634; Harold Broskie 234-620; Joe Schrowang 243-216-617. Mayor, Camelli On TV Saturday

Manager Hank Camelli of the Kingston Colonials and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will be seen on the television on Saturday at 7 p. m. on the "Bob Bender Show." The show can be seen on WRGB, Channel 4, in Schenectady.

Invitations were also extended to Frederick J. K. Ertel, president of Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., and Lawrence MacAvery, president of the Chamber of Commerce, but neither will be able to take part in the interview because of previous business commitments.

The show was arranged by President Albert Houghton of the Canadian-American League and Kingston's Can-Am prospects for 1951 will be discussed by the panel.

Dunham Noses Out Goercke to Grab Foul Shot Contest

Ward Dunham of Harry's Angels nosed out Eric Goercke, also of the Angels, for first place in the "A" Division foul shooting contest this week at the Y.

Dunham swished the cords with 39 successful shots in 50 tries while Goercke was one off the pace with 38 out of 50.

Don Haggerty and Art Carpouzis, members of Wiltwycks, champs of the Y this season, tied for third place with 33 successful aims.

In the "B" Division, Johnny Burris of the Violets captured first place with 40 tries out of 50 while John Sass took second with 34. Harold Maybanks held down the third slot with 31 good shots.

George Carpouzis was top foul shooter in the "open" division after beating out Pete Camp. Both Carpouzis and Camp finished in a regulation tie of 40 shots. In a playoff of 25 baskets, Carpouzis completed 20 while Camp dipped to 11. Third place winner in the "open" division was LeRoy Hooker.

Forty-seven cagers took part in this event. All winners received special awards of Gold Y triangle pins with red and blue letters.

According to Lou Schafer, Y physical director, he hopes plans will be made next year to run the foul shooting contest on a larger scale with trophies available to the top winners.

Plan Gorman Memorial Award For Ulster-Orange CYO Tourney

Will Be Presented To Senior Champions

The Vincent A. Gorman Memorial Award for basketball has been established and will be presented to the winners of the senior division of the Ulster-Orange county C.Y.O. tournament, Leo A. Schupp, county C.Y.O. director announced today.

The tournament is scheduled tonight at the municipal auditorium with competition in three classes.

Presented by Mrs. V. A. Gorman in memory of her husband, a man who contributed a great deal of time and effort to the assistance of youth, the trophy will not be a permanent award, but will be presented annually. Three consecutives victories will be needed to retain permanent possession.

Board Named

A three-man board has been named to direct the presentation of the trophy and to settle any disputes that might arise in connection with it.

Mrs. V. A. Gorman has been named honorary chairman of the new board. The active chairman is William T. Mahoney, with Andrew J. Murphy and Leo Schupp, directors. The senior referee at the playoff games will act as technical adviser.

In a joint statement issued today, the members of the board expressed the sincere hope that the Gorman Memorial would become a symbol of clean, hard play and would serve to foster friendly relations between the two counties in C.Y.O. basketball.

DUSO Stars Listed

Two Newburgh squads and one from Middletown will furnish the opposition for Kingston teams in the tripleheader tonight at the municipal auditorium.

The Junior pairing at 7 p. m. brings together St. Mary's against St. Francis of Newburgh.

At 8 p. m., St. Joseph's of Kingston and St. Patrick's of Newburgh clash in the Metropolitan division. The feature Senior attraction at 9 o'clock will be between St. Peter's of Kingston and St. Joseph's of Middletown.

Several Newburgh Academy DUSO League stars, including Richie and Bob Spreer, will appear in the Newburgh Metropolitan lineup. Others include Ralph Antonucci, Sam Leghorn and Bob Maher.

Warren Schlickenrider, Joe Holland and Frank Bellotto of the Middletown High School varsity will be in the lineup against St. Joseph's.

Bob Hanley Sets Ferraro Major League Record With 205-278-239-722

Elstons Crack Team Standard With 3156 Blast

278 Ties Record Held by MacLellan

Robert "The Kid" Hanley, a young man who blazed bowling headlines more than a decade ago, regained a large measure of his pristine touch last night with a rousing 722 triple in the Ferraro Major League.

While leading Elston's Sport to a new high team triple record of 3156, Hanley pounded out singles of 205, 278 and 239.

The 722 eclipsed the former record of 704 held by Bill Kuehn, while Hanley's 278 enabled him to tie John MacLellan for the Kingston Bowling Association's award.

En route to a three-game sweep over Tropical Inn, while Amoco Gas was suffering a two-game loss to Ten Grand, the Elston keglers reeled off 994, 1075 and 1087.

In Top Form

Hanley's 722 vaulted his individual average well into the 190-average bracket and made his "comeback" a fait accompli. Always regarded as one of the top-notch competitors in local bowling his pocket busting this season keeps him on par with any of the city's recognized sharpies.
recognized sharpies.

While Hanley and the Elstons were tearing up the pea patch with their myriad of strikes, five other trundlers were pounding "600" triples.

Phil Masters had another big week, soaring to 676 with 258-227-191. Another "700" seemed imminent here, but Masters ran into a couple of splits in the third set.

John MacLellan had another big 249 and 225; Bill Kuehn had 250-202-634; Harold Broskie 234-620; Joe Schrowang 243-216-617. Frank Spada near missed with 220-232-598; Ken Joseph shot 212-217-597; Lou Straley 223-594; Lou Guadagnola 216-204-593; "Hod" Spaulding 205-208-592; John Ferraro 211-580; Harry Smith 214-576; Jack Houghtaling 233-573.

Mayor, Camelli On TV Saturday

Manager Hank Camelli of the Kingston Colonials and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will be seen on the television on Saturday at 7 p. m. on the "Bob Bender Show." The show can be seen on WRGB, Channel 4, in Schenectady.

Invitations were also extended to Frederick J. K. Ertel, president of Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., and Lawrence MacAvery, president of the Chamber of Commerce, but neither will be able to take part in the interview because of previous business commitments.

The show was arranged by President Albert Houghton of the Canadian-American League and Kingston's Can-Am prospects for 1951 will be discussed by the panel.

Dunham Noses Out Goercke to Grab Foul Shot Contest

Ward Dunham of Harry's Angels nosed out Eric Goercke, also of the Angels, for first place in the "A" Division foul shooting contest this week at the Y.

Dunham swished the cords with 39 successful shots in 50 tries while Goercke was one off the pace with 38 out of 50.

Don Haggerty and Art Carpouzis, members of Wiltwycks, champs of the Y this season, tied for third place with 33 successful aims.

In the "B" Division, Johnny Burris of the Violets captured first place with 40 tries out of 50 while John Sass took second with 34. Harold Maybanks held down the third slot with 31 good shots.

George Carpouzis was top foul shooter in the "open" division after beating out Pete Camp. Both Carpouzis and Camp finished in a regulation tie of 40 shots. In a playoff of 25 baskets, Carpouzis completed 20 while Camp dipped to 11. Third place winner in the "open" division was LeRoy Hooker.

Forty-seven cagers took part in this event. All winners received special awards of Gold Y triangle pins with red and blue letters.

According to Lou Schafer, Y physical director, he hopes plans will be made next year to run the foul shooting contest on a larger scale with trophies available to the top winners.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

San Antonio, Tex., April 6 (AP)—The New York Yankees are whaling the ball in their exhibition games. Three players are hitting over .400 with two more over .300.

Hank Bauer leads the club with .439; rookie Mickey Mantle follows with .437 and Gene Woodling, who hit two homers against San Antonio last night, has .421. Cliff Mapes has .345 and Joe DiMaggio .327. The Yanks beat San Antonio 13-10.

New Brook Find

Jacksonville, Fla., April 6 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers may have a new pitching prospect in Earl Mossor, who twirled last year for the Class B Portsmouth, Va. club.

Mossor hurled the first five innings yesterday for the Brooks against the Phillies. He yielded two runs in the first, but then pitched four hitless innings.

Thomson Sharp

Houston, Tex., April 6 (AP)—Although his hitting still is a question mark, Bobby Thomson's rifle throwing arm seems as good as ever.

The New York Giants fleet-footed centerfielder demonstrated it again here yesterday with a neat toss that cut down Cleveland's Jim Hegan in the eighth inning. Cleveland won, 6-5.

Feller in Debut

Fort Worth, Tex., April 6 (AP)—Bob Feller gets a chance today to show he is in shape to go the distance against a major league foe and win. Two other Cleveland Indian righthanders have done it in the Tribe's last two games.

Larry Jansen will be pitching today for the New York Giants whom the Tribe beat 6-5 yesterday in the first of an 11-game, eastward bound barnstorming series. Early Wynn gave up all five Giant runs in the first frame, but blanked the New Yorkers after that. Mike Garcia was the first Tribe hurler to go full nine innings when he beat the New York Yankees in Tucson Tuesday 6-3.

Second baseman George Stirnweiss and shortstop Merrill Combs, acquired last Sunday from the St. Louis Browns, joined the Indians at Houston yesterday.

Phil-Brook Race

Jacksonville, Fla., April 6 (AP)—Will it be the Philadelphia Phillies and the Brooklyn Dodgers fighting it out again for the National League pennant?

Many of the early prophets think so. Although admitting that exhibition games don't prove too much, they think the Phils-Dodgers series which ended yesterday provided a pretty good tipoff on what's to come.

Brooklyn took yesterday's game, 5 to 4, in 10 innings, evening up the tightly fought series at three apiece.

Propose Hogan For PGA Post

Ridgewood, N. J., April 6 (AP)—Battling Ben Hogan was proposed today as a commissioner of professional golf.

He got the nod from former National PGA President George Jacobus of the Ridgewood Country Club. The idea of a golf commissioner was suggested earlier in the week by masters champion Jimmy Demaret at Augusta, Ga.

Jacobus, in telegrams to Demaret, Hogan and other leading pros, said he was suggesting Hogan "as the logical man for the job."

The New Jersey golf pro told Hogan "your qualifications and understanding of the problems confronting the touring pro make it definitely clear that the game needs a man of your caliber.

Hogan himself said he thought "a good business man could do the job." He added that "something's got to be done and mighty quick" to settle some of the bitter controversies which have cropped up in the sport recently.

LOOK ALIKES—Gil McDougald, right, the Yankees' new utility infielder, looks enough like the Braves' shortstop, Buddy Kerr, to be his kid brother, even to the wide batting stance. McDougald, not yet 23, is expected to hit considerably better. The San Francisco lad batted .336 as the Texas League's most-valuable player. (NEA)

Fazio Leads Masters With First Round 68

Snead and Mangrum Trail by One Stroke

Augusta, Ga., April 6 (AP)—Four times George Fazio has poked his head above the crowd of golfers who follow the tournament circuit. This time the Conshohocken Kid intends to keep it there.

Swarthy George, a scrap iron dealer in Conshohocken, Pa., led the Masters tournament today as the second round opened at the rough, tough Augusta National course. But his lead wasn't secure even if he did shoot a 68 in yesterday's first round.

That four-under par golf barely was good enough to put him ahead of two veteran professionals, pressing him on the 6,900-yard National course. Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum were right behind with a pair of 69's.

In 1946 Fazio won the Canadian Open. That was the first time he whipped his weight in good golfers. In 1947 he managed a tie for first in the Bing Crosby tournament but not until last summer at Merion in the National Open did Fazio get his head above the crowd again.

Three golfers finished in a tie after the final regular round at Merion. Fazio was one of them tied for the greatest championship in golf. Ben Hogan and Mangrum were the others.

Ben won the Open in an historic playoff and Fazio went down again into the mass of golfers.

Leads Tormentors

Today, George is up again, up higher than Hogan, his tormentor in the Open, and higher than Mangrum, who also scored better than Fazio in that playoff.

Hogan was in fourth place going into the Masters' second round with a 70. Four others—Lew Worsham, Byron Nelson, Dick Mayer and Johnny Bulla—were tied for fifth with 71's.

Fazio's grip on the first round lead was unexpected by almost everyone except himself.

Oddsmakers saw him as a 20-1 bet. He was an 8-1 bet today to win the Masters for his first major victory.

Fazio is a pro at Woodmont Country Club at Rockville, Md. On his tour yesterday he scored four birdies and 14 pars. Only once did he get himself in deep trouble and then he got out of it with a brilliant seven-iron shot.

Two long putts dropped for him on holes No. 14 and 15—first a 10-footer, then an 8-footer. On the home hole his approach from about 150 yards out stopped four feet from the pin. He sank the green shot for a birdie three.

Only 30 putts were necessary to get George home in front.

Louis Suggests Savold Bout

Hot Springs, Ark., April 6 (AP)—Joe Louis thinks that right now new middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson is the man "who's carrying the boxing game on his shoulders."

And that what the heavyweight division needs to lift it out of the doldrums is "another Jack Dempsey."

The former world's heavyweight champion, now seeking to make a comeback, said so in an interview here with Maurice Moore, sports editor of the Hot Springs Sentinel Record and New Era.

Louis, who came here for a rest and some preliminary conditioning before starting serious training for his next match, said he'd like to fight Lee Savold before taking another crack at champion Ezzard Charles, who decisioned him after Louis came out of voluntary retirement.

He said a meeting between himself and Savold, who holds the English heavyweight title, had been suggested for June 13 in Detroit.

ALL-TIME ALL-AMERICA Football Selections

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

Chicago, April 6 (AP)—Walter H. Eckersall, chosen yesterday as the All-Time, All-America quarterback, was a fearless mite of 145 pounds who accomplished dazzling feats when football was so rough President Teddy Roosevelt said it must be made safer.

Eckersall was accorded the honor on the All-Time college football team being chosen by the Associated Press in a national poll of newspaper and radio sports editors to screen charter candidates for the National Football Hall of Fame at New Brunswick, N. J.

Eckersall was a three-time All-America choice while starring from 1903 through 1906 at the University of Chicago. He was a daring, elusive runner, a spectacular drop-kicker, punter, tackler and field leader.

Those were the days when deaths and crippling injuries resulting from massed play by big, ponderous brutes had football on the ropes and its leaders had to rule out mass formations and hurdling.

Eckersall died at 46 on March 24, 1930, the victim of a heart attack.

Held Many Records

During his collegiate career, Eckersall held nearly every punting and drop-kicking record. He performed the astounding feat of kicking five field goals in two separate games. His punts always sailed 60 yards or better.

The tiny, flitting old Maroon holds the distinction of being a pioneer in the forward passing game. In 1905 when forward passing was coming into football, Eckersall, although never throwing a pass before, connected on a heave to the late Wally Steffen for a 75-yard gain and Chicago's first touchdown against Illinois.

Eckersall, coached by Amos Alonzo Stagg, never was injured playing. He had the knack of curling himself like a ball when he hit the ground and avoiding brute force tackling with flashing feints.

Bangor, Me.—Hermie Freeman, 134, Bangor and Jimmy Parlin, 138, Philadelphia, drew, 10.

Y Volleyball Victors

Members of the Kingston Y Businessmen's volleyball team scored a 3-2 victory over Poughkeepsie Wednesday night at the Bridge City court. Kingston won by 18-16, 15-6 and 15-9 while dropping decisions of 15-5 and 15-7. Appearing in the Kingston lineup were Chet Dolson, Ed Minasian, Jim Volker, Al Townsend, Lou Schafer and Ed Coughlin.

Bowling

The Freeman Headpin tournament and the "Name Your Score" contest sponsored by the K.W.B.A. resumes at the Ferraro Bowlodrome tonight and will continue over the week-end. High score leaders going into the second week of play are Chris Robinson with 109 and Dot Rawding with 108. Jackpot leader is Jackie Ferraro with 96.

Freeman League officials are pondering the possibility of an unprecedented four-way tie in the company league when the schedule winds up next Thursday night at the Bowlatorium.

As the result of last night's action, only two games separate the first four teams. Teams 2 and 6 are tied for the lead; Team 8 is one game off the pace and Team No. 4 is in fourth place, two lengths behind the leaders.

Frank Bruno was the individual scoring leader last night with steady pocket blasting for a 196-188-190-574 count. Craig Plough hit for 206-549; Art Shelightner 547; Art Parks 538; Jack Hartman 524; Irwin Thomas 516; Frank Martin 223-512; John Haas 206-511; Bill Atkins 200-503; Bob Felton 497; Bob Shelightner 486; George Kuriger 481; John Howard 477; J. Noble 471; Charlie Diers 456; E. Finn 450.

Sue Heins bagged the lone "500" series in the Central Rec Women's circuit with 157-177-167-501. Others in the upper bracket were Dolores Doyle with 207-468; Jennie Spada 465; Lois DeCicco 451; Janet Hines 414; Ellen Hutton 409; Marge DeWitt 408; E. McCardle 412 and Jessie Burnett 406.

S. Bahl rolled the best of five "500" triples in the Sisterhood League last night, with an aggregate 490 on solos of 188, 164 and 138. Bea Arlensky was runnerup with 444; Rosalie Eckdish had 434; M. Propp 405 and S. Jacobs 404.

Don Koeppen captured individual honors in the No-Can-Do League with a 553 blast on solos of 213, 164 and 176. Johnny Lowe was in the runnerup spot with 547; Stan Colvin shot 541; Paul Khederian 536; J. Senor 529; Joe Magnino 523; H. Kelder 228-519; J. Fatum 224-516; Ray Otto 509; Frank Norman 508; R. Smith 502. W. Pieper posted 499; Carl Beatty 497; W. Mohr 496 and Herbie Kessman 490.

J. Roberts and Charlie Gildersleeve waged a keen duel for high triple honors in the Colonial Men's League, with Roberts winning by a single stick. He shot 215-180-197-592, while Gildersleeve accounted for 222-187-182-591.

Other top shooters in the league were Ed Koskie with 214-557; Bill Lawrence 214-550; Chris Gallo 210-534; Eddie Propp 527; Bill Murray 519; Rube Leventhal 514; George Uhl 202-513; Floyd Embree 204-512.

Dorothea Flemings, who is substituting for Evelyn Gross in the Matinee Club League, proved that she is quite equal to the task by leading the Thursday afternoon wheel with a 156-158-203-517 effort yesterday at the Bowlatorium.

The perennial runnerup, Evelyn Francis had 514 and Eleanor Singer posted 501. Three keglerettes — Jessie Burnett, Gertrude Hoyt and Rose Rhymer — tied at 466; Marge Logan shot 430; Rose Chamberland 428; Gertrude Reis 417; Mary Fitzpatrick 414 and Mildred Dunn 406.

Elmira Keglers Take State Lead

Elmira, N. Y., April 6 (AP) — Crum Electric of Elmira, rolling with a 315 handicap, holds the early team lead with a 2969 total in the 26th annual New York State men's bowling tournament.

The first of 1,521 team entries took to the alleys last night. The event closes May 28.

Cecil Allen paced Crum Electric with a 611 total without handicap. He also had the high single game of 234. Only local teams bowled last night.

Trailing Crum in the handicap division were Don Davis, 2966; Howell's No. 1, 2929; Ray Foulkrod, 2888, and Pem Express, 2887.

The standings without handicaps: Crum Electric, 2654; Howell's No. 1, 2455; Don Davis, 2420; Superior Buick, 2414; and Pem Express, 2374.

Europe Clips Capital; This Time in Boxing

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Europe's Golden Glovers defeated Washington last night, for the second year running, with five victories to three.

There was a forfeit on each side. Some 6,000 fans watched the bouts in Uline Arena.

Washington's Willie Davis, welterweight, won on a second round technical KO. over Ireland's Peter Crotty. Sweden's Stig Sjolin got a unanimous middleweight verdict over Eldridge Thompson, of the Quantico Marines.

Heavyweight Norvel Lee, National A.A.U. and Golden Gloves champ, won by default when an eye injury kept Sweden's Ingemar Johansson from fighting. The other default went to the European team captain, Palve Solvjanski of Yugoslavia because a knee injury kept Clarence Walker, of the air force, out of the lightweight match.

A Slight Change In Usual Script

Miami, Fla., April 6 (AP)—The winner was sad and the loser was happy after middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson's 10-round decision over Holly Mims of Washington, D. C., in Miami Stadium last night.

In his dressing room after the fight, Robinson was apologetic for "my bad showing." The bout was postponed from March 8 because of Robinson's illness and he said "I guess that virus had me worse than I thought. A couple of times I had him lined up but I couldn't get him."

The aggressive Mims was a contrast in cheerfulness. He came out of the bout in excellent condition and declared Robinson "never hurt me bad any time."

The crowd of 5,500, which paid a gross gate of $17,000, liked Mims because he never took a backward step from Robinson. There were scattered boos when the decision was announced, although it was unanimous.

Rod and Gun Club Plans Fishing Contest

The regular monthly meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will be held at the clubhouse on Tuesday, April 10, at 8 p. m.

Color films on fly fishing for trout in Maine will be shown and refreshments will be served. Final plans for the fishing contest for trout, bass, pickerel and pike will be discussed.

All club members are invited to the dance sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary on Saturday, April 14.

Manually-Worked Gates Approved

New York, April 6 (AP)—Official local endorsement was given yesterday to a Long Island Railroad petition to the Public Service Commission to substitute automatic crossing protection for manually-operated gates at Jackson avenue, in the town of Oyster Bay.

The railroad presented its case at a commission hearing seeking to discontinue manual operation and a watchman at the crossing. It proposed to install automatic gates equipped with warning bells and flashing signal lights.

Frank Aikman, Jr., railroad engineer of maintenance of way, said the project is one of 12 crossings on a program to provide better grade crossing protection on Long Island.

Theodore V. Summers, attorney representing the town of Oyster Bay, endorsed the project and commended its presentation to the commission.

He was joined by Louis Winer, deputy county attorney for Nassau, who also asked the commission to approve the work which he said would provide the maximum protection for the community.

Bowling

The Freeman Headpin tournament and the "Name Your Score" contest sponsored by the K.W.B.A. resumes at the Ferraro Bowlodrome tonight and will continue over the week-end. High score leaders going into the second week of play are Chris Robinson with 109 and Dot Rawding with 108. Jackpot leader is Jackie Ferraro with 96.

Freeman League officials are pondering the possibility of an unprecedented four-way tie in the company league when the schedule winds up next Thursday night at the Bowlatorium.

As the result of last night's action, only two games separate the first four teams. Teams 2 and 6 are tied for the lead; Team 8 is one game off the pace and Team No. 4 is in fourth place, two lengths behind the leaders.

Frank Bruno was the individual scoring leader last night with steady pocket blasting for a 196-188-190-574 count. Craig Plough hit for 206-549; Art Shelightner 547; Art Parks 538; Jack Hartman 524; Irwin Thomas 516; Frank Martin 223-512; John Haas 206-511; Bill Atkins 200-503; Bob Felton 497; Bob Shelightner 486; George Kuriger 481; John Howard 477; J. Noble 471; Charlie Diers 456; E. Finn 450.

Sue Heins bagged the lone "500" series in the Central Rec Women's circuit with 157-177-167-501. Others in the upper bracket were Dolores Doyle with 207-468; Jennie Spada 465; Lois DeCicco 451; Janet Hines 414; Ellen Hutton 409; Marge DeWitt 408; E. McCardle 412 and Jessie Burnett 406.

S. Bahl rolled the best of five "500" triples in the Sisterhood League last night, with an aggregate 490 on solos of 188, 164 and 138. Bea Arlensky was runnerup with 444; Rosalie Eckdish had 431; M. Propp 405 and S. Jacobs 404.

Don Koeppen captured individual honors in the No-Can-Do League with a 553 blast on solos of 213, 164 and 176. Johnny Lowe was in the runnerup spot with 547; Stan Colvin shot 541; Paul Khederian 536; J. Senor 529; Joe Magnino 523; H. Kelder 228-519; J. Fatum 224-516; Ray Otto 509; Frank Norman 508; R. Smith 502. W. Pieper posted 499; Carl Beatty 497; W. Mohr 496 and Herbie Kessman 490.

J. Roberts and Charlie Gildersleeve waged a keen duel for high triple honors in the Colonial Men's League, with Roberts winning by a single stick. He shot 215-180-197-592, while Gildersleeve accounted for 222-187-182-591.

Other top shooters in the league were Ed Koskie with 214-557; Bill Lawrence 214-550; Chris Gallo 210-534; Eddie Propp 527; Bill Murray 519; Rube Leventhal 514; George Uhl 202-513; Floyd Embree 204-512.

Dorothea Flemings, who is substituting for Evelyn Gross in the Matinee Club League, proved that she is quite equal to the task by leading the Thursday afternoon wheel with a 156-158-203-517 effort yesterday at the Bowlatorium.

The perennial runnerup, Evelyn Francis had 514 and Eleanor Singer posted 501. Three keglerettes — Jessie Burnett, Gertrude Hoyt and Rose Rhymer — tied at 466; Marge Logan shot 430; Rose Chamberland 428; Gertrude Reis 417; Mary Fitzpatrick 414 and Mildred Dunn 406.

Elmira Keglers Take State Lead

Elmira, N. Y., April 6 (AP) — Crum Electric of Elmira, rolling with a 315 handicap, holds the early team lead with a 2969 total in the 26th annual New York State men's bowling tournament.

The first of 1,521 team entries took to the alleys last night. The event closes May 28.

Cecil Allen paced Crum Electric with a 611 total without handicap. He also had the high single game of 234. Only local teams bowled last night.

Trailing Crum in the handicap division were Don Davis, 2966; Howell's No. 1, 2929; Ray Foulkrod, 2888, and Pem Express, 2887.

The standings without handicaps: Crum Electric, 2654; Howell's No. 1, 2455; Don Davis, 2420; Superior Buick, 2414; and Pem Express, 2374.

A Slight Change In Usual Script

Miami, Fla., April 6 (AP)—The winner was sad and the loser was happy after middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson's 10-round decision over Holly Mims of Washington, D. C., in Miami Stadium last night.

In his dressing room after the fight, Robinson was apologetic for "my bad showing." The bout was postponed from March 8 because of Robinson's illness and he said "I guess that virus had me worse than I thought. A couple of times I had him lined up but I couldn't get him."

The aggressive Mims was a contrast in cheerfulness. He came out of the bout in excellent condition and declared Robinson "never hurt me bad any time."

The crowd of 5,500, which paid a gross gate of $17,000, liked Mims because he never took a backward step from Robinson. There were scattered boos when the decision was announced, although it was unanimous.

Rod and Gun Club Plans Fishing Contest

The regular monthly meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will be held at the clubhouse on Tuesday, April 10, at 8 p. m.

Color films on fly fishing for trout in Maine will be shown and refreshments will be served. Final plans for the fishing contest for trout, bass, pickerel and pike will be discussed.

All club members are invited to the dance sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary on Saturday, April 14.

Europe Clips Capital; This Time in Boxing

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Europe's Golden Glovers defeated Washington last night, for the second year running, with five victories to three.

There was a forfeit on each side. Some 6,000 fans watched the bouts in Uline Arena.

Washington's Willie Davis, welterweight, won on a second round technical KO, over Ireland's Peter Crotty. Sweden's Stig Sjolin got a unanimous middleweight verdict over Eldridge Thompson, of the Quantico Marines.

Heavyweight Norvel Lee, National A.A.U. and Golden Gloves champ, won by default when an eye injury kept Sweden's Ingemar Johansson from fighting. The other default went to the European team captain, Palve Solvjanski of Yugoslavia because a knee injury kept Clarence Walker, of the air force, out of the lightweight match.

Manually-Worked Gates Approved

New York, April 6 (AP)—Official local endorsement was given yesterday to a Long Island Railroad petition to the Public Service Commission to substitute automatic crossing protection for manually-operated gates at Jackson avenue, in the town of Oyster Bay.

The railroad presented its case at a commission hearing seeking to discontinue manual operation and a watchman at the crossing. It proposed to install automatic gates equipped with warning bells and flashing signal lights.

Frank Aikman, Jr., railroad engineer of maintenance of way, said the project is one of 12 crossings on a program to provide better grade crossing protection on Long Island.

Theodore V. Summers, attorney representing the town of Oyster Bay, endorsed the project and commended its presentation to the commission.

He was joined by Louis Winer, deputy county attorney for Nassau, who also asked the commission to approve the work which he said would provide the maximum protection for the community.

Bowling

The Freeman Headpin tournament and the "Name Your Score" contest sponsored by the K.W.B.A. resumes at the Ferraro Bowlodrome tonight and will continue over the week-end. High score leaders going into the second week of play are Chris Robinson with 109 and Dot Rawding with 108. Jackpot leader is Jackie Ferraro with 96.

Freeman League officials are pondering the possibility of an unprecedented four-way tie in the company league when the schedule winds up next Thursday night at the Bowlatorium.

As the result of last night's action, only two games separate the first four teams. Teams 2 and 6 are tied for the lead; Team 8 is one game off the pace and Team No. 4 is in fourth place, two lengths behind the leaders.

Frank Bruno was the individual scoring leader last night with steady pocket blasting for a 196-188-190-574 count. Craig Plough hit for 206-549; Art Shelightner 547; Art Parks 538; Jack Hartman 524; Irwin Thomas 516; Frank Martin 223-512; John Haas 206-511; Bill Atkins 200-503; Bob Felton 497; Bob Shelightner 486; George Kuriger 481; John Howard 477; J. Noble 471; Charlie Diers 456; E. Finn 450.

Sue Heins bagged the lone "500" series in the Central Rec Women's circuit with 157-177-167-501. Others in the upper bracket were Dolores Doyle with 207-468; Jennie Spada 465; Lois DeCicco 451; Janet Hines 414; Ellen Hutton 409; Marge DeWitt 408; E. McCardle 412 and Jessie Burnett 406.

S. Bahl rolled the best of five "500" triples in the Sisterhood League last night, with an aggregate 490 on solos of 188, 164 and 138. Bea Arlensky was runnerup with 444; Rosalie Eckdish had 434; M. Propp 405 and S. Jacobs 404.

Don Koeppen captured individual honors in the No-Can-Do League with a 553 blast on solos of 213, 164 and 176. Johnny Lowe was in the runnerup spot with 547; Stan Colvin shot 541; Paul Khederian 536; J. Senor 529; Joe Magnino 523; H. Kelder 228-519; J. Fatum 224-516; Ray Otto 509; Frank Norman 508; R. Smith 502. W. Pieper posted 499; Carl Beatty 497; W. Mohr 496 and Herbie Kessman 490.

J. Roberts and Charlie Gildersleeve waged a keen duel for high triple honors in the Colonial Men's League, with Roberts winning by a single stick. He shot 215-180-197-592, while Gildersleeve accounted for 222-187-182-591.

Other top shooters in the league were Ed Koskie with 214-557; Bill Lawrence 214-550; Chris Gallo 210-534; Eddie Propp 527; Bill Murray 519; Rube Leventhal 514; George Uhl 202-513; Floyd Embree 204-512.

Dorothea Flemings, who is substituting for Evelyn Gross in the Matinee Club League, proved that she is quite equal to the task by leading the Thursday afternoon wheel with a 156-158-203-517 effort yesterday at the Bowlatorium.

The perennial runnerup, Evelyn Francis had 514 and Eleanor Singer posted 501. Three keglerettes — Jessie Burnett, Gertrude Hoyt and Rose Rhymer — tied at 466; Marge Logan shot 430; Rose Chamberland 428; Gertrude Reis 417; Mary Fitzpatrick 414 and Mildred Dunn 406.

Europe Clips Capital; This Time in Boxing

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Europe's Golden Glovers defeated Washington last night, for the second year running, with five victories to three.

There was a forfeit on each side. Some 6,000 fans watched the bouts in Uline Arena.

Washington's Willie Davis, welterweight, won on a second round technical KO, over Ireland's Peter Crotty. Sweden's Stig Sjolin got a unanimous middleweight verdict over Eldridge Thompson, of the Quantico Marines.

Heavyweight Norvel Lee, National A.A.U. and Golden Gloves champ, won by default when an eye injury kept Sweden's Ingemar Johansson from fighting. The other default went to the European team captain, Palve Solvjanski of Yugoslavia because a knee injury kept Clarence Walker, of the air force, out of the lightweight match.

A Slight Change In Usual Script

Miami, Fla., April 6 (AP)—The winner was sad and the loser was happy after middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson's 10-round decision over Holly Mims of Washington, D. C., in Miami Stadium last night.

In his dressing room after the fight, Robinson was apologetic for "my bad showing." The bout was postponed from March 8 because of Robinson's illness and he said "I guess that virus had me worse than I thought. A couple of times I had him lined up but I couldn't get him."

The aggressive Mims was a contrast in cheerfulness. He came out of the bout in excellent condition and declared Robinson "never hurt me bad any time."

The crowd of 5,500, which paid a gross gate of $17,000, liked Mims because he never took a backward step from Robinson. There were scattered boos when the decision was announced, although it was unanimous.

Rod and Gun Club Plans Fishing Contest

The regular monthly meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will be held at the clubhouse on Tuesday, April 10, at 8 p. m.

Color films on fly fishing for trout in Maine will be shown and refreshments will be served. Final plans for the fishing contest for trout, bass, pickerel and pike will be discussed.

All club members are invited to the dance sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary on Saturday, April 14.

Manually-Worked Gates Approved

New York, April 6 (AP)—Official local endorsement was given yesterday to a Long Island Railroad petition to the Public Service Commission to substitute automatic crossing protection for manually-operated gates at Jackson avenue, in the town of Oyster Bay.

The railroad presented its case at a commission hearing seeking to discontinue manual operation and a watchman at the crossing. It proposed to install automatic gates equipped with warning bells and flashing signal lights.

Frank Aikman, Jr., railroad engineer of maintenance of way, said the project is one of 12 crossings on a program to provide better grade crossing protection on Long Island.

Theodore V. Summers, attorney representing the town of Oyster Bay, endorsed the project and commended its presentation to the commission.

He was joined by Louis Winer, deputy county attorney for Nassau, who also asked the commission to approve the work which he said would provide the maximum protection for the community.

Cage Racketeers Get Nine Months, Are Fined $3,000

Baltimore, April 6 (AP)—"The slimy hands of racketeers have given a black eye" to professional basketball, declared Judge Joseph Sherbow. Then he sentenced two confessed sports gamblers to nine months in prison and fined them $3,000.

"A good clean sport is going to get a rotten black eye," the judge said. "It is just as obvious as the fact that day will follow night."

Sherbow made the statements in sentencing Harold Stallings, 46, and Edward Charles Bunn, 46, in Criminal Court yesterday.

Capt. Alexander Emerson, head of Baltimore's muscle-conscious vice squad, said he broke into an apartment last Feb. 28 and found the two sitting at telephones. Emerson ripped out the telephones and seized eleven bets totaling $1,238 on professional basketball games.

Involved were these National Basketball Association games: Baltimore-Fort Wayne, Tri-City-Baltimore, Philadelphia-Syracuse, Minneapolis-Tri-City, Rochester-New York and Fort Wayne-Minneapolis.

Horse Bets Confiscated

Also confiscated were slips showing $4,917 in horse race bets.

Stallings told the court, "I started taking basketball bets this year. I would take them on the street from friends interested in the same sports I was interested in."

He said he usually bet on a "point-spread" basis which he worked out on his familiarity with the teams.

Stallings testified he knew only the first name of the man with whom he placed his bets and couldn't remember his telephone number.

Sherbow said he regarded the two as "substantial bookmakers who are unwilling to tell the truth." He advised them "to do some thinking about taking the rap for other people, then let the grand jury know when they want to talk really honestly."

Won't Withdraw Troops

London, April 6 (AP)—Informed sources said today Britain had agreed to withdraw its troops from the strategic Suez Canal Zone—but only during times of peace. The proposal, reportedly agreed upon the cabinet yesterday, was described as a compromise offer to Egyptian government demands for outright removal of British troops. The cabinet meeting was attended by the chiefs of staffs of the British armed forces. Also discussed was the Egyptian ban on the use of the Suez Canal by oil tankers bound for the British refinery at Haifa, Israel.

Still Loves Taylor

Hollywood, April 6 (AP)—Actress Barbara Stanwyck, who divorced Robert Taylor last Feb. 21, interrupted a nightclub date with him early today long enough to tell a reporter: "There's no use trying to keep it a secret. I'm carrying a torch for Bob. But it's too early to say whether we will be reconciled." Miss Stanwyck added that there had been a certain amount of bitterness and that this would have to be ironed out. She said this was her second date with Taylor since the divorce decree, which does not become final until a year from the date it was granted. The couple drove away together upon leaving the night club after midnight.

Cage Racketeers Get Nine Months, Are Fined $3,000

Baltimore, April 6 (AP)—"The slimy hands of racketeers have given a black eye" to professional basketball, declared Judge Joseph Sherbow. Then he sentenced two confessed sports gamblers to nine months in prison and fined them $3,000.

"A good clean sport is going to get a rotten black eye," the judge said. "It is just as obvious as the fact that day will follow night."

Sherbow made the statements in sentencing Harold Stallings, 46, and Edward Charles Bunn, 46, in Criminal Court yesterday.

Capt. Alexander Emerson, head of Baltimore's muscle-conscious vice squad, said he broke into an apartment last Feb. 28 and found the two sitting at telephones. Emerson ripped out the telephones and seized eleven bets totaling $1,238 on professional basketball games.

Involved were these National Basketball Association games: Baltimore-Fort Wayne, Tri-City-Baltimore, Philadelphia-Syracuse, Minneapolis-Tri-City, Rochester-New York and Fort Wayne-Minneapolis.

Horse Bets Confiscated

Also confiscated were slips showing $4,917 in horse race bets.

Stallings told the court, "I started taking basketball bets this year. I would take them on the street from friends interested in the same sports I was interested in."

He said he usually bet on a "point-spread" basis which he worked out on his familiarity with the teams.

Stallings testified he knew only the first name of the man with whom he placed his bets and couldn't remember his telephone number.

Sherbow said he regarded the two as "substantial bookmakers who are unwilling to tell the truth." He advised them "to do some thinking about taking the rap for other people, then let the grand jury know when they want to talk really honestly."

Won't Withdraw Troops

London, April 6 (AP)—Informed sources said today Britain had agreed to withdraw its troops from the strategic Suez Canal Zone—but only during times of peace. The proposal, reportedly agreed upon the cabinet yesterday, was described as a compromise offer to Egyptian government demands for outright removal of British troops. The cabinet meeting was attended by the chiefs of staffs of the British armed forces. Also discussed was the Egyptian ban on the use of the Suez Canal by oil tankers bound for the British refinery at Haifa, Israel.

Still Loves Taylor

Hollywood, April 6 (AP)—Actress Barbara Stanwyck, who divorced Robert Taylor last Feb. 21, interrupted a nightclub date with him early today long enough to tell a reporter: "There's no use trying to keep it a secret. I'm carrying a torch for Bob. But it's too early to say whether we will be reconciled." Miss Stanwyck added that there had been a certain amount of bitterness and that this would have to be ironed out. She said this was her second date with Taylor since the divorce decree, which does not become final until a year from the date it was granted. The couple drove away together upon leaving the night club after midnight.

Rutledge Is . . .

through a window and taped it in place. With three heavy medical books holding down the accelerator, he waited for death at a field eight miles from town where he and his wife often went to fly model airplanes.

"I love you," he ended the letter to his 25-year-old wife, who had to be given sedatives for serious shock.

But the love he further expressed was not made public.

His wife received the letter Wednesday, at the home of friends. Rutledge had taken her there because he didn't want her bothered by "reporters" on his sentence being confirmed.

Three hours after the letter was postmarked at 1:30 p. m., Rutledge called his wife. He told her he planned to stay at a hotel in order to avoid reporters and would see her later.

When she got the letter, she enlisted the aid of police in trying to find him.

He was not found until 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

It was the second suicide attempt for the young doctor. When police appeared at his apartment in St. Louis Dec. 17, 1948, to question him in Hattman's death, Rutledge locked himself in a bathroom and swallowed poison. Police rushed him to a hospital where a stomach pump saved him.

The Rutledges moved here, to his former home, after he served 279 days at Iowa State Penitentiary. He was released under appeal bond posted by Mrs. Laura Rogers of Sioux City, Ia. There had been an attempt to raise bond for him in St. Louis, where he practiced before the slaying.

On a tiny farm in east Texas, near Jacksonville, the parents of Hattman heard the news of Rutledge's death.

"I am never happy to hear of a man's misfortune," said his father, John Hattman.

"It is the Lord's way of taking a hand," said Mrs. Hattman. She murmered "surely, vengeance is the Lord."

knowledge of transactions of this nature."

Vets Check Cattle

They confirmed that army veterinarians check foreign cattle on the hoof.

The west German government now has a temporary embargo on all imports in order to conserve foreign exchange and help stabilize west German's economy. German contractors claim American influence may be used to get it lifted for more meat imports.

One contractor said he might not get another shipment of Hungarian beef before June "because all the trains there are busy running east."

He said he had no information why Hungarian rail traffic was concentrated in the direction of Russia. Most Soviet satellites recently announced plans to increase their trade with the Soviet Union.

Program Listed For Scout Party

The Kingston District Leaders' Club will hold its annual Girl Scout birthday party in the Myron J. Michael auditorium Saturday, it was announced today.

The program will include the flag ceremony; a welcome by Mrs. Jeremy Bouchard, vice president of the Leaders' Club; a greeting by Mrs. Everett Coty, Girl Scout commissioner for Ulster county; the Juliette Low Fund presentations, to be made by Mrs. Robert Torrens, Jr.; and entertainment by Fred Van Deusen, well known local magician. Slides of Camp Wendy will also be shown, and there will be group singing and refreshments.

Crime Fighter's Son Held

Boston, April 6 (AP)—Donald S. Strong, 17, son of the executive secretary of the crime-combatting New England Watch and Ward Society, has pleaded innocent to charges of breaking and entering and larceny and using automobiles without authority. Strong, son of Dwight S. Strong who has been leading the Watch and Ward Society's campaign against crime in New England, was indicted yesterday by a Suffolk county grand jury. Superior Court Judge James C. Donnelly set trial for April 12. The elder Strong said he had no comment to make at this time. The indictments charged the youth broke into a West Roxbury gasoline station and stole two bottles of tonic and that he used three automobiles without the owners' authority.

Drinking Sow Unsanitary

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., April 6 (AP)—The "pig in the parlor" act put on by a whiskey-drinking sow in a restaurant near Dania may be hilarious but it certainly isn't healthy, sanitary inspectors ruled yesterday. The pig, Suzette, performs in a restaurant operated by Gina Riva. When urged, Suzette sits on her hind legs on the restaurant floor and drinks scotch and soda or beer from a bottle. Sanitary Inspector Ray Almeida said Miss Riva will be arraigned in criminal court Saturday for a violation of sanitation laws.

He Got Action

Knoxville, Tenn., April 6 (AP)—A spectator took a seat just as Judge H. O. Pollard convened court yesterday and demanded: 'Come on, come on, let's have some action." The action came slowly but surely. After the spectator repeated his demands in subsequent lulls, a deputy sheriff escorted him to jail. He was charged with drunkenness.

Prediction Made Gas Lines to Cause Realty Dumping

New York, April 6 (AP)—Roderick Stephens, a public relations consultant, predicts that owners of properties which lie across or adjacent to high-pressure natural gas pipelines in Westchester county will dump their holdings.

This, he says, would sharply reduce real estate values.

Stephens made the prediction yesterday in a speech before the New York State Retail Solid Fuel Merchants Association at the Hotel Astor.

Stephens urged that natural gas pipeline companies face the problems he said are created when their lines pass through congested residential areas, as now planned in New York state and parts of New England.

Challenges Eminent Domain

Stephens challenged the propriety of granting the companies the right of eminent domain, empowering them legally to acquire the property of others without consent.

He declared:

"Until the recent past, the grant of delegated rights of eminent domain have involved benefits to the community at large. The exercise of these rights usually enhanced property values and benefited the areas served.

Difference Is Cited

"There is a difference between a high pressure natural gas pipeline going through cheap acreage in cattle states and through a highly developed suburban community such as Westchester county and many other parts of New York state. * * *

"You won't see any one rushing to buy real estate in an area through which a high pressure natural gas pipeline is going to pass. Instead, owners will be trying to dump their properties even at a loss, if anywhere within several hundred yards of the pipeline. * * *

"When delegated rights of eminent domain are granted to a natuarl gas pipeline, a brand new problem faces the property owner and the community. Instead of the grant resulting in incontrovertible benefits, we find the interest of a substantial group within the community, if not the interests of the entire community, are impaired by the grant."

Emergency Is Invoked

Hong Kong, April 6 (AP)—The British government of this crown colony on Communist China's southern doorstep tonight invoked an emergency regulation empowering it to requisition vehicles, animals, planes and ships. The government refused to explain why it was giving force to the regulation, drawn up in December, 1949, but not put into effect until now.

More Fresh Meat

London, April 6 (AP)—Food Minister Maurice Webb announced today an increase in the fresh meat ration, which he said was made possible by increasing quantities of domestic supplies. As of April 15, Britons will be able to get their entire tenpence (11 2/3 cents) meat ration in fresh meat. At present, each person is entitled to eight pence worth of fresh meat and two pence worth of corned beef.

through a window and taped it in place. With three heavy medical books holding down the accelerator, he waited for death at a field eight miles from town where he and his wife often went to fly model airplanes.

"I love you," he ended the letter to his 25-year-old wife, who had to be given sedatives for serious shock.

But the love he further expressed was not made public.

His wife received the letter Wednesday, at the home of friends. Rutledge had taken her there because he didn't want her bothered by "reporters" on his sentence being confirmed.

Three hours after the letter was postmarked at 1:30 p. m., Rutledge called his wife. He told her he planned to stay at a hotel in order to avoid reporters and would see her later.

When she got the letter, she enlisted the aid of police in trying to find him.

He was not found until 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

It was the second suicide attempt for the young doctor. When police appeared at his apartment in St. Louis Dec. 17, 1948, to question him in Hattman's death, Rutledge locked himself in a bathroom and swallowed poison. Police rushed him to a hospital where a stomach pump saved him.

The Rutledges moved here, to his former home, after he served 279 days at Iowa State Penitentiary. He was released under appeal bond posted by Mrs. Laura Rogers of Sioux City, Ia. There had been an attempt to raise bond for him in St. Louis, where he practiced before the slaying.

On a tiny farm in east Texas, near Jacksonville, the parents of Hattman heard the news of Rutledge's death.

"I am never happy to hear of a man's misfortune," said his father, John Hattman.

"It is the Lord's way of taking a hand," said Mrs. Hattman. She murmered "surely, vengeance is the Lord."

Vets Check Cattle

They confirmed that army veterinarians check foreign cattle on the hoof.

The west German government now has a temporary embargo on all imports in order to conserve foreign exchange and help stabilize west German's economy. German contractors claim American influence may be used to get it lifted for more meat imports.

One contractor said he might not get another shipment of Hungarian beef before June "because all the trains there are busy running east."

He said he had no information why Hungarian rail traffic was concentrated in the direction of Russia. Most Soviet satellites recently announced plans to increase their trade with the Soviet Union.

New-Found Comfort All Year Round
Weather is fickle and uncertain. But, good insulation can help keep your home at a more even, comfortable temperature..... come cold wind, or sudden heat. You'll save up to 30% on winter fuel bills....stay at least 15° cooler in summer.
Our insulation experts can recommend the RIGHT INSULATION that will suit your house to a "T". We'll advise on installation, and estimate costs right down to the last penny. CALL 2000 TODAY.
